FALLS GRIDDERS WIN 12-6 OVER MINNESOTANS

The Falcons came through with their first Ramer Field victory of the current season by turning back St. Cloud Teachers 12 to 6 Friday, Sept. 27.

Although outweighed by St. Cloud, the Falcons played a better game of ball. The River Falls line was exceptionally good, and to them goes much of the credit for the win. St. Cloud made seven first downs to nine for the Red and White.

Both River Falls scores came in the second quarter, Gordie Shock pushing the pigskin over from the 4 yard line and Gene Cardinal going over the marker standing up from the 15. Meehan tried and failed both extra points.

St. Cloud scored its only touchdown in the third period when Schmid snagged a 20 yard pass and out-distanced the River Falls sec-ondary. Repulski tried and missed the extra point.

The game ended shortly after left halfback Tobias intercepted a St. Cloud pass and ran it deep into their territory.

River Falls' first conference test will be the Stout game to be play-ed under the Ramer Field lights Saturday night.

FIRST FFA MEET HELD; FROSH WELCOMED

The River Falls Collegiate Chaptor of the Future Farmers of America held its first meeting of the new school year September 23rd, and was presided over by President Bernard Donkersgold. Other officers are: Howard Kuhn, vicepresident; Edward Greschner, secretary; Lawrence Niedzwieke, treasurer; Bud Erdmann, reporter; and Ronald Stuber, sentinel.

Following the opening ceremony President Donkersgold welcomed all new members and read the constitution in order to acquaint new members with their rights. Secretary Greschner summarized the program of work for the school year 1940 - 1941 to acquaint new members with chapter activities. Mr. May, chapter advisor, spoke on the importance of F.F.A. work in the high school and the variable training the collegiate chapter offers in preparing teachers for supervising high school chapters.

The program committee selected by the president consists of Louis Daniel, Harry Larsen, and Emmet Kaul. Emmet Kaul provided entertainment for the evening by giving a piane and vocal select-

Frosh, Vets Top List

College enrollment has now reached a total of 683 students. The freshman class boasts the largest number in any group with 456, while the veterans make up 391 of the total.

A tabulation has been made of the number of students in each course. The breakdown reads as follows: agriculture, 144; English, 30; history 35; intermediate, 11; junior high school, 7; mathematics, 63; primary, 36; rural, 22; science, 41; unclassified 292.

ATTENTION!

The R club has contacted some busses to transport students to the Eau Claire football game on Oct. 19. It is Eau Claire's Homecoming, and how we would love to spoil it! Certainly two or three bus loads of students could contribute greatly to the morale of the team.

Watch the bulletin boards for further announcements. If there is enough interest in this undertaking the busses will go. Let's see if we can't have three bus loads of students cheering the Falcons to victory over Eau Claire.

PALETTE CLUB PLANS YEAR'S PROJECTS

The Palette Club held an organization meeting in the art room Wednesday night. Plans were discussed for project's during the coming year. Miss Howard offered some excellent suggestions in the way of things to make and material to use. Some sheets of lucite, that pretty, clear plastic, seemed attractive.

At the next meeting members will start work on individual projects of their own choice. If you enjoy handiwork, the Palette Club invites you to join whether you are an art student or not.

Death Comes To

Augusta Thomas

Miss Augusta Thomas, critic teacher at the college training school for the past nineteen years, passed away at her River Falls home September 21, 1946, following a brief illness. Funeral services were held at the St. Brighid's Catholic Church, and burial was at the Catholic Cemetery at Hudson the following Monday, Father Fagan reading the Mass.

OBITUARY Born and raised in Kinnickinnic, St. Croix county, Augusta Thomas was graduated from the River Falls State Teachers College and the University of Minnesota. After teaching in four other states, she came to the training school at River Falls in 1927, to teach the sixth grade. She remained a member of the college staff until the end of the 1946 summer session, when she resigned.

Miss Thomas will not only be remembered as an excellent teacher, but also as an active participant in civic organizations including the Girl Scout council, Hospital Guild, American Association of University Women, Faculty Women's Club, Altar Society of the Catholic Church, and in the St. Brighid's Catholic Church of this

Among the many friends who regret the loss of this estimable lady, are hundreds of pupils who gained much from her as a teacher and a friend.

A TRIBUTE

Augusta is not with us in person. We do not hear her footsteps, but the rooms are filled with her presence. We think of her pleasant smile and her friendly attitude, with her ever present appreciation of humor. Her keen sense of justice made her loved by her children. Her interest in civic affairs led her to make a fine contribution to the Scout movement Her integrity of purpose, loyalty to friends, pride in family, devotion to church, and interest in co-workers made her a wide circle of friends and contacts which she enjoyed. "She is not dead - this friend

not dead, But in the path we mortals

Got some few trifling steps ahead,

And nearer to the end; So that you, too, once past the bend

Shall meet again, as face to face, this friend you fancy dead."

At a meeting of the 'R' Club, Thursday, September 2, the members elected a committee of four to make plans for a float in the The club Homecoming parade. plans to aid the Homecoming Chairman and his committee in making this year's Homecoming a regular pre-war gala event. Secretary John Storzer and President Rudy Meehan appointed a committee to get the slogan ribbon on the campus in time so that every student can get one.

SENATE PLANS FOR DAD'S NIGHT

The Student Senate has proclaimed Saturday night, Oct. 5, as Dad's Night.

Headliner of the event will be the football game with the Blue Devils of Stout Institute at 8:30 o'clock. With the return of many veterans River Falls has one of the strongest teams in years. Stout will be out to spoil Dad's Night, so the game should be a thriller.

After the game, everyone, and especially the Dads, is invited to meet the faculty in the South Hall cafeteria and get acquainted over coffee and doughnuts.

We hope to see every father present. Bring Mom along, too.

Chisholm Gives

Lecture Series

The students of two Los Angeles colleges heard Dr. Chisholm, of the college English department, lecture on general semantics last August.

He gave two courses in the subject to a group of sixty graduate students at Occidental College in Los Angeles, and he also gave public lectures at the University of Southern California. .

Dr. Chisholm will address the English section of the Central Wisconsin Teacher's Association meeting at Wausau on October 4th.

On November 7th and 8th, the English and speech sections of the Iowa State Teacher's Convention will also hear Dr. Chisholm.

Falls Loses 13 - 6

Coach Schlaugenhauf's River Falls eleven opened the lid on the 1946 grid season by holding the favored St. Olaf Lions to a 13 to 6 victory at Northfield.

St. Olaf was expected to take the Falcons in stride, but the Red and White outplayed them during the first half, racking up a 6 to 0 lead. Fullback George Schmitt pounded over from the 3 yard line for the score, after all 88 yard sustained drive.

Lion reserve strength took it's toll in the second half when the Northfield boys uncorked a powerful offensive to make the final score 13 to 6.

Hear Ye!

Here is some friendly advice to all freshmen. Please do not wear your high school athletic letters DOWNTOWN QUARTERwhile on the campus.

Appropriate measures will be taken if this practice continues. Thank you.

Masquers Choose Play Masquers have chosen William Shakespeare's comedy, "The Taming of the Shrew" as their full-length production of the year. The cast, which includes seventeen men and three women, is scheduled to begin rehearsals this week under the direction of Carleton Ames. Two nights, Nov. 20 -21, have been set for the produc-

The period in which this play falls calls for very elaborate Elizabethan costumes costing the organization around a hundred dollars. Our expectations are up for excellent, picturesque entertainment.

Vacation for a number of students will come next Thursday when many of our faculty members will absent themselves from the campus to attend the convention of the Northwest Wisconsin Teacher's Association at Eau Caire, October 10 and 11.

This convention is an annual two day meeting which is attended by many former graduates of R.F.S. T.C., their friends, and other Northwestern teachers. There are often twenty-five hundred teachers in

One of the special attractions for River Falls teachers and graduates is the annual banquet which is held Thursday evening. Approximately two hundred people attend this banquet. It is a real "get together" for teachers and grads of River Falls. President Kleinpell will speak at the banqu t.

Simon M. Davidian will be the opening speaker of the Northwestern convention. The second speaker, H. H. Hill, president of the George Peabody College for Teachers, will speak on "Perennial Questions for the Best Teachers." On Friday afternoon the president of the Milwaukee State Teachers College will speak on "Education for One World." The last speaker will be Ethel Alpenfels of the department of anthropology of the University of Chicago. Miss Alpenfels spoke on this campus last spring and was well liked by everyone.

There will be sectional group meetings on Thursday, and various round table discussions will meet on Friday morning.

One of the main purposes of this convention is to acquaint the teachers with new ideas, and to give them an opportunity to see new school equipment.

Boogie Approved

Rooms and halls were unusually quiet at 10 A.M., Thursday, September 19, as all students filed into the assembly for their first program of this term. After announcements had been made and an introduction given by Mr. Rozehnal, the pianist, Mr. Kobberstein appeared on the stage to begin the first half of his program.

Applause followed each selection, but the assembly thundered with appreciation as he finished his "Boogie-Woogy Etude". It was generally agreed that our first assembly program was a great suc-

BACKS MEET MONDAYS

Off the campus fans of the fighting Falcons held the first meeting of the Downtown Quar-terbacks Club at the Hotel Gladstone on Monday, September 23rd. On The Lee Side ... With The Editor

The Falcons will be pointing for their second victory of the season when they play Stout here Saturday night.

Dad's Night will be the occasion Saturday. We hope to see lots of you Dads here - - - it will be a great game. After the game, you are invited to the college cafeteria for coffee and doughnuts. We want you to meet President Kleinpell and the faculty. Bring the head of the house, and make an evening of it!

Falcon football is new to me as it is to most of you, and I was not a bit disappointed with last Friday's game. The boys looked good against St. Cloud, and they certainly deserved that win. McCardle and Vanderhoof seemed to stand out as linemen, while Shock, Cardinal and Tobias proved that they are smart, fast ball carriers. Cardinal's punting was consistently

The Masquers are getting into high gear with production starting on Shakespeare's "The Taming of the Shrew". For admirers of Shakespeare it will be a treat, and those of you who were in agony over Wilham's works in high school will be pleasantly surprised to find that the old boy had a sense of humor.

Be not heedless, you wearers of high school letters! Kneel down beside your little bed tonight, and offer up a prayer that the R club will spare your life if you are caught wearing that letter. The R goblins, they'll gitcha if ya don't watch out!

Some young Joes and Janes are seen together pretty often of late. We wonder how much snooping Droop has been doing?

Many fellows have been heard to remark that there is not much of an intra-mural program here - - - at least so far. Interest in the softball league has waned. A touch football league would probably have been more enthusiastically received. The weather has definitely not been softball weather.

Mr. Rozehnal has the material on hand for a good band, but he is desperately in need of basses and clarinets. We hope he finds the necessary players. Perhaps he will be able to have a snappy pep band on Ramer Field for the games.

Rumor has it that Mr. King has a chorus that will bear watching. He has a well balanced group, and we think it will be one of which all may well be proud.

Last week's game drew a fair crowd, but the student support could have been much better. The Stout Blue Devils will be gunning for us Saturday, so let's all be there - - - with bells on!

The Editor

STRIKE UP THE BAND

The flat and sharp notes coming from the auditorium on Monday and Wednesday afternoons are produced by the college band under the direction of Mr. Rozehnal. The personnel now totals about thirty-five and but the band needs more clarinet and bass players. Where have all the bass and clarinet players gone? The band wants them desperately.

In rehearsals so far, the college band has been practicing marches for football games and has been playing concert pieces to bring back the lost fingering and lost lips of those who have not played for a long time.

Pre-war times enabled the music department to possess a marching band of forty men. Mr. Rozehnal hopes for one of the same size this year. Basses will be needed for the marching band too, and unless the players are found, this organization can not exist. Does somebody play the bass horn?

There are openings for all instruments in concert and marching band. If the necessary instrumental players come out for rehearsals, there will be a pep band and possibly a marching band at the Stout game.

IT'S YOUR RESPONSIBILITY

The Sept. 30 issue of Time, in commenting on the situation of the world today, made this statement: "Democracy must be made a positive force abroad; but firmness and patience was a way to behave, not a program of action. The U.S. still had to put its domestic economy in order, produce goods, live the way of peace, make its democracy a shining reality."

Appallingly clear is becoming the realization that the only way we can "make de-mocracy a shining reality" in America is by full participation of all qualified persons in the processes of government. In the past, too many of us have been satisfied to toss our "privilege" and obligation to the professional politicians, to those who ARE interested. We have rationalized our conduct by saying that: I don't know enough about politics; one man is as good as another; or what's the use - - we can't eliminate the "spoils system".

It is time we began to see that the business of running our government, be it local, state, or national, is not the business just the politician. Government is not merely a far off beneficent uncle, to whom we pay our taxes and then forget about. Government is the most important single fact in our existence today. Through it we receive protection, utilities, roads, schools, and various aids. The hand of government reaches into our meat markets, our businesses, into our remaining social unit, the home. Can we, being cognizant of this, say that this is not our affair?

In the coming general election we will choose not only our representatives but will vote on the question "Should parochial children be allowed to ride on pub-lic school buses?" None of my affair, you say? In the coming state legislative session your representatives will vote on a bonus bill; they will probably choose either a three hundred dollar bonus for each Wisconsin serviceman, or will pass a bill providing a lifetime of insurance for servicemen and their families. You, by electing the right men, influencing them by your united voice, can provide the answer to these prob-

These questions are up for your decision. You CAN fling them into another's lap, but in doing so remember this: that it is your money, your protection, your future that you are so carelessly tossing away.

OUR INTERNATIONAL WEAKNESS

Secretary of State Byrnes' recent Stuttgart speech raised again in American minds and in the thoughts of other peoples the question: What is U.S. foreign policy? The atom bomb and Wallace's speech in Manhattan have intensified the demand that this question be answered - - and immediately.

The average student of foreign relations would be in a quandry if he attempted to come to any conclusion on this problem. On one hand he would see the old tra-dition of the "Monroe Doctrine" in play, our "hands off" policy in the near east and in South America. Conversely he could witness our insistence on maintaining military and naval bases in the Pacific islands that border Japan and China, in North Africa and in Iceland.

The over-all picture, when carefully studied, can lead us to only one possible conclusion: that the U.S. has no foreign policy, that our moves conform to the needs of the moment, that it is flexible and can be altered when any momentarily desirable cause arises.

In contrast Russia shows no such uncertainity as to desired ends. She is striving h military and political means to make herself the richest, most powerful, policy, that our moves conform to the needs no declaration; it is obvious to all who have eyes to see. Our statesmen could well take lessons from her.

A formal declaration of U.S. foreign policy would cure many ills which have been festering since the end of the war. Other nations that have been looking for a leader would begin to see us not as an uncertain, vacillating group of individualists pulling in every direction, but would respect us as a united nation, certain of our strength and striking out boldly for the goals we have set.

Droop Snoops

Dear Students and any others interested in this here dirt -

School was never like this - at least not since Droop began snooping around this campus. These piles and piles of men around here this year are really making Droop's life complicated. Dashing around trying to find out who's involved in each gruesome twosome is enough to wear out an ambitious soul, not to mention yours truly. — But let's get on with what's been gathered.

Gals, take your choice! There're plenty of 'em and all kinds too - cars, I mean (yep, I know there is a great variety of them, too!). Have you noticed the line-up of four-wheeled vehicles that line the curbs of R.F.S.T.C. these days? We've noticed that several gals are keeping their eyes open for the owner of that beautiful blue convertible job, but Carl Jacobson doesn't seem to have much trouble finding passengers for his open - air, two - seated jalopy

It seems that Peggy Rock's and Jane Olson's male interests are enjoying their life in a trailer house. But who wouldn't when they've got fems to come over occasionally? to clean up the place?

We all agree that mathematics is a hard subject, but Gail Crist doesn't find it so bad since he found out that he can get help from Lola Estenson. I wonder if Dave Benson requires help in math, too, or has he other reasons?

Droop's labors were not restricted to the RF vicinity these past few days. I found plenty happening in Frontenac the weekend the Congo students spent there. It would take too long to tell everything, so I'll just refer you for details to Al Tschudy, Jack Wyman or Ken Addie --- or may-Chris Thompson, Marge Creighton or Lois Ward would give out with a bit of enlightenment on the subject.

And, oh, that St. Olaf game in Northfield! Droop was really happily surprised at the number of twosomes that appeared. And I heard that more couples would have been there if the supply of girls hadn't run out! Gals, there's a moral to this story: Better stick around weekends! And I didn't know road maps were so hard to reador didn't you have one Merlin? It seems that the Jennings - Gereats and Stuber -Hugesby foursome got lost on the way home Saturday night. Oh, well, at least they had a chance to see the scenery of Southern Minnesota!

Oh, yes, and speaking of traveling, Droop wonders how Beth Davis and Donna Wells got involved in the stag party at Terry Doonan's cottage!

Droop has heard that the House of Frye porch swing is being monopolized by Edna Jacobson and Mickey Nelson. But, then, they're engaged!

And speaking of engagements, have you heard about Sherm Krauth and Lois Swenson? It was a whirlwind courtship, and wedding bells will sound the day before Thanksgiving, thus giving them a luscious four day honeymoon before the second term starts.

Your obedient servant,

IN THE COURTROOM

Have you ever noticed that in Hollywood versions of a tense, dramatic courtroom scene, the person being cross-examined seems to know exactly what to say? The actors are too glib; they don't even TRY to be convincing.

The trials are chuck-full of nonsensical statements and the like. The cross examiner speaks. "Did you?" "What?"

"Did you?" Here the one being examined is sweating real glycerine. He fidgets nervously.

"Quit stalling!" shouts the examiner, This is followed by a snappy come-back the like of which would be uttered by a 2

"Oh is that so?" Hollywood realism. I suppose that every person, at one time or another, has imagined his own behavior in the courtroom. How he would make the District Attorney appear to be of sixth-grade mental calibre, prove the judge to be a sniveling idiot, and, in general, make fools of the entire court. Have you been aware of these thoughts? I have my own favorite little court-room scene. Naturally, my wits are about me at all times.

"Now, Mr. Freeman."

"Just how did you know that it was 11:15 at the time of the murder?"

"Because I looked at my watch." He re- questions.

COLLEGE BARRACKS IMPROVEMENTS NOTED

Final touches are being added to the barracks apartment's on the campus and should be completed in a very short time. The largest finishing touch is the installation of the radiation system which has been hampered by the shortage of materials. The radiators have at last arrived and Professor Spriggs informed me that they should be installed by the end of this week. Heat will be piped into the apartments from the main heating plant of the college.

In the barracks there are 18 single bed-room apartments and three double-bedroom units. Each family must have their own furniture with the exception of an electric plate and refrigerator which has already been included in each apartment. A laundry has been installed on the first While being shown through the building under the kind guidance of Eugene Brown, your reporter came to the conclusion that it is certainly an up-to-date and convenient setup. A great amount of praise should be given to Prof. Spriggs for the excellent job he has done in drawing up the plans for remodeling.

Prof. Spriggs said that out of the 21 apartments, number 13 was the last to be rented. That indicates that there still must be some superstitious people left in the world. However, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Nelson are not to be considered as such, as they are now occupants of that apartment.

When talking to some of the occupants of the apartments I heard only one complaint, and that was that there is neither heat or water over the week ends. This situation is being taken into hand, and it is hoped that in the near future it can be cor-

Grid Personalities

After lettering in football here in the fall of 1941, WAYNE SINNEN left school to serve a three year "stretch" in the Army. Wayne is a graduate of the River Falls high school, but his home is in St. Paul. He is one of the outstanding linemen on the team this year, and the coaching staff expects great things for him in the years to come. Sinnen is enrolled in the secondary education course, but is undecided what to do upon graduation. ALLAN WERNDLI — comes to River Falls from Madison East High School where he was a two year letterman in football. He also played baseball in the Madison Industrial league last summer, and he excels in hockey. Al is a freshman enrolled in a general course, and hasn't yet decided what he wants to do when he graduates.

DUANE SYDOW - Also hails from Madison East High School. While at East, Sydow received three letters in football and also lettered in basketball and track. He spent his summers playing baseball in the Madison Industrial league. He was named on the all - state high school football squad and played first string center for the North all-stars against the south in a game played at Madison last August. Duane is a freshman here, taking a general course, and he would like to teach and coach when he graduates.

"To find out what time it was."

He sees that his prestige is falling rapidly. The jury is giggling like gradeschoolers. He suddenly says, in a quiet manner that depicts craftiness, "And are you in the habit of looking at your watch and determining the time TO THE MINUTE?" These last 3 words are fairly shouted at me.

"That," I reply, "is one of the uses to which I often put my watch."

"MR. FREEMAN, you seem to be making a farce and a comedy out of this tes-

"I am merely taking my cue from your questions." At this point the judge quells the gales of laughter rippling through the courtroom by hammering on the bench. But he smiles at me at the same time.

Mustering his last strength, the D. A. answers with what, in my estimation, can be likened to Custer's last stand. He says, 'Perhaps you would rather I conducted this inquiry in baby-talk?"

"If it would make it easier for you, go ahead." By now the courtroom is in a tumultuous uproar. I am carried out of the room on the shoulders of the judge and the foreman of the jury. Everybody sings "For He's A Jolly Good Fellow.

And that's just what I'd do. Or would I? I probably wouldn't be asked the right
