Geologist to Speak at Convo Tuesday

DR. BROWN

Dr. L. F. Brown, Jr., associate professor of geology at Baylor University, will speak Tuesday at 9:45 a.m. in the North Hall Auditorium at an all-school convocation.

He will speak again Tuesday evening at 7:30 in Room 208 of the Student Center before interested persons.

He will discuss "The Growing Importance of Earth Science in Urban Development," in the convocation.

Dr. Brown, whose principal interests are paleontology, stratigraphy and urban geology, has been on the geology staff of Baylor since 1960. Before that he did research work in North-central Texas for the Bureau of Economic Geology, University of Texas. He also worked in Texas as a stratigrapher for an oil company there.

The geology professor graduated from Baylor University in 1951 and did his graduate work at the University of Wisconsin. At Wisconsin he worked for three years under a Wisconsin Alumni Research Foundation research fellowship on X-ray diffraction studies.

He has been editor of the Baylor Geological Studies Bulletin since it was initiated in 1961.

He is a member of the Geological Society of America, Association of Petroleum Geologists, and National Association of Geology Teachers. He is also a fellow in the Texas Academy of Science and a life-time honorary member of the Permian Basin Society of Economic Paleontologists and Mineralogists.

He has published a number of papers, several of them dealing with Texas Pennsylvanian rocks. Pennsylvanian is a type of rock or soil material. Other research material is nearing publication.

Currently under preparation, to be published by Dr. Brown and others, is a six volume study of urban geology of Waco (Texas).

Driver Road-e-o To Be May 29

Students at WSU-RF who are not yet 20 year's old may participate in the River Falls Jaycees' safe driving Road-e-o, to be held at the River Falls high school next Saturday at 1:30 p.m.

The contest will consist of driving through a course set up to simulate everyday driving problems. A written exam will be given at 1 p.m. at the High School.

Awards will be given to winners and the first place winner will go to a state contest. Winners from the states will go to a national meet at Washington, D.C., to compete for scholarships totaling $4,900 and a new Comet automobile.

Amphitheatre To Be Finished By Next Fall

Harvey Stower, chairman of the Foundation Committee, said last week that the Foundation goal of $2,000 for this year has been reached and that the project, an amphitheater on the South Fork, should be ready for use by next fall.

Stower said that the stage area has been laid out and the banks cleared off and dirt fill put in. As soon as the area is terraced should be ready for use for pep rallies and plays by next fall, he added.

A separate planning committee is working on plans for the stage, which will be begun this summer. Dr. Melvin Wall, professor of agronomy, is directing the over-all project, as he has directed the whole South Fork project before, Stower said.

The Foundation Committee chairman said the whole committee is pleased with the past project on the South Fork. He also said that there will be openings on the Foundation Committee next fall.

Senate Announces $2,557 Rodeo Loss

The Student Senate announced at last week's meeting that it had incurred a $2,557 deficit by underwriting the Rodeo Club's spring rodeo.

David Stafford, Rodeo Club president, said that eventually the rodeo would pay for itself, but that this year bad weather had kept attendance and profits down. "I think we have something started that we don't want to drop," Stafford said. He added that the Rodeo Club might forego next spring's rodeo until fall of 1966 in order to boost attendance. Stafford said that many rodeos are held in this vicinity in the spring and summer, but that few are held in the fall.

Stafford said the Rodeo Club would present a budget estimation at this week's meeting for the cost of trips and the rodeo itself for the next school year.

The Senate approved the appointment of Lynn Spalding sophomore from Hudson, as MELE-TEAN editor for next year.

Outgoing SAC president Harvey Stower reported that at the last SAC meeting suggestions were made to improve SAC's functioning. Suggestions included the idea that SAC meetings should be more like coffee hours and the idea of joint sponsoring of events by organizations. It was also suggested that campus entertainment be shifted from weeknights to week ends in order to keep suitcase students on campus. Stower also said that a poll of SAC representatives showed they were against a program of faculty evaluation by the Senate.

Senator Keith Rodli said that 5 per cent of the student body gave blood in the recent Bloodmobile drive. Kappa Theta has 29 pints of blood donated to it and won the Bloodmobile contest. In all, 132 pints of blood were donated.

Seventeen students were interviewed for placement on six faculty-student committees including the athletic, library, concerts and lectures, personnel, discipline and general education committees. Interviews for all faculty-student committees will be continued at this week's meeting.

Award Named for Dr. Chisholm

At its annual convention in Green Bay April 29 and May 1, the Wisconsin Council of Teachers of English executive committee resolved to name its meritorious service award for the late Dr. Francis P. Chisholm, formerly chairman of the English department at Wisconsin

State University-River Falls.

To be known as the Chisholm Meritorious Service award, the honor will be awarded to the one person in the state who has given significant service to the English profession. Dr. Chisholm was the third recipient of the award, in 1961.

Headliners for the clinic include Chalmers "Bump" Elliott,

Fred Taylor and Dave McCuskey. Elliott, whose Michigan Wolverines took the Big Ten championship and defeated Oregon at the Rose Bowl this year, will give tips on winning football. An All-American when he played for Michigan, Elliott has been head coach of the Wolverines since 1959.

Taylor, basketball coach at Ohio State University, has the enviable record of leading his Buckeye cagers to Big Ten championships in 1960, '61 and '62 and co-championships in '63 and '64 to become the first school in Big Ten history to win five consecutive basketball championships.

Wrestling coaches will hear tips from Dave McCuskey, of the State College of Iowa, who developed 30 individual national champions and four Olympic team members.

Les Bolstad, coach of the University of Minnesota golf team, once a Big Ten individual champion, will speak at the clinic and give a golf demonstration. Bolstad coached the 1963 Gophers to the Big Ten championship.

Also appearing at the clinic will be Dominic Gentile, who coached high school basketball in Wisconsin for 13 years and has served as assistant trainer since 1961 with the Green Bay Packers. At present he is tutoring under "Bud" Jorgenson.

Scheduled for the three-day clinic are conferences, lectures, exhibitions, movies and demonstrations by the visiting coaches.

A golf tournament, for all participants, will follow a demonstration by Les Bolstad at the Kinnickinnic Country Club Thursday, June 10. Other entertainment will include a picnic, smorgasbord and dinner dance. Activities will wind up with a noon luncheon Saturday, June 12, at which the headliners will summarize the high points of the clinic.

Housing will be provided in men's dormitories, with special wings set aside for families in Karges Physical Education and Recreation Center.

Sociology Professor Invited to Washington

Dr. Robert B. Bailey, associate professor of sociology, was one of 33 persons from across the country invited to Washington, D.C., April 28-30 by the Community Relations Service of the ULSL, Department of Commerce. The invitation was extended to educators, business men, and civic leaders who attended orientation meetings and were briefed on the objectives and operation procedure of the Community Relations Service.

These persons were welcomed to Washington by Leroy Collins, the former governor of Florida and the director of the Community Relations Service. The primary responsibilities of the Community Relations Service are set forth in Title X of the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

Its functions are "to provide assistance to communities and persons therein resolving disputes, disagreements or difficulties relating to discriminatory practices based on race, color or national origin which impair the rights of persons in such communities under the Constitution or laws of the United States or which affect or may affect interstate commerce."

Other such briefing sessions are being planned by CRS who will draw part-time conciliators from the pool of persons being invited—the pool of persons being invited to Washington.

4 MONDAY, MAY 24, 1965 WISCONSIN STATE UNIVERSITY-RIVER FALLS

A Glance Backward

As the 1964-65 school year draws to a close, as another senior class graduates, it is well for us to take a close look at our University, pointing out a few areas where we feel some improvement can be made and a few where the University has already made significant advances.

One area of concern is what nearly every Student Senate candidate in the recent Senate election termed "student apathy." Unfortunately, these candidates seemed to think that the way to find out if a student is "apathetic" is to ask him if he is interested in student government. If he is not interested, obviously he is apathetic, they alleged.

Perhaps these well-meaning but naive candidates just did not realize that not everyone is attracted to a Senate that can, at least at River Falls, recess during the middle of a meeting so a private "club" (bless their dear animalistic souls) can decide the matter for the Senate.

Or perhaps the skins of some students are just not thick enough to condone a student Senate president who swears at a woman student during a Senate meeting.

We do not think that students at WSU-RF are any more apathetic than persons throughout most university campuses in the United States. Each student has his own special interests, and it is no accident that there are probably about as many biology majors active in student government as there are political science majors active in the Symphonic Band.

In the field of education, many advances are being made by the University. The new Science Building, due to be ready for use by the fall of 1966, will greatly increase the amount of room available for laboratories and modern equipment.

The Chalmer Davee Library is constantly expanding and may receive a new wing in two years. Looking at the library purely from a student's point of view, we can see some need for opening the library more on weekends. A number of students with whom we have talked have told us they would use the library's facilities if it were open on weekends. A great number of education majors have indicated an interest in using the curriculum library during hours other than those presently offered students. It is open between 9:30 and 11:30 in the morning and 1:30 and 4:30 in the afternoon, that is, when the librarian gets there on time. Wouldn't it be feasible to have the curriculum library open when the regular section of the library is open? There are quite a number of students who would like to see it open more.

We are not displeased with the work the administration has done this year. Though there have been some mistakes made that even we untrained observers could see, they have to be accepted as occupational hazards and let go at that. We have been happy to see attempts by some administrative personnel to lessen the gap between them and students. It is persons such as these, who view the educational process as the intercourse of ideas and not merely the absorption of fact, who have brought the stature of education at River Falls to the point of excellence it has reached.

The only complaint we have about the administration is that we do not see more of you. The President's Coffee Hour has helped introduce the President to many students. We would like to see more members of the administration, and faculty members as well, sit around a table and talk. Perhaps the Falcon's Cage might be a more relaxed place for student-faculty-administration discussions than the faculty cage in the southwest corner of the Student Center's dining room, at least for students.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"I HEAR TELL GILMORE GIVES A 'PRETTY EASY FINAL.'"

Thank You

The editor would like to take this opportunity to thank members of The STUDENT VOICE staff who have helped in making it possible for the VOICE to come out each week this year.

A special thanks goes to David Peck, managing editor, Mark Nelson, sports editor, Mr. Donald Brod, adviser, photographers John Bergene and Dick Lampman, and a very close friend of mine, Nancy Wolfe, business manager.

We on the VOICE staff wish to thank students and faculty members who have supported us this year. Though we do not expect everyone to agree with our policy, we are pleased that students and faculty do read and consider our views.

WE GET LETTERS

Victorianism Lampooned In 'Fond' Reminiscence

To the editor ---

As summer break approaches our students of W.S.U., we look fondly back on another year of memories.

Who can forget the week end trudges through beautiful, fluffy snow and sleet to our beloved library. Then to wallow in joy to find it barred for the rest of the day. It is pleasant to know our Administrators have taken away the vile temptation to (perish the thought) STUDY ON WEEK ENDS!

And, of course, the great day I pulled into my favorite parking lot to find the "hole of progress" being dug for our new science building. The relatively unpleasant search for another place was far overshadowed by the pleasant surprise in the form of a red invitation by the police chief himself to join him down at the court house when I found the wrong one.

Then there is the thrilling sport of watching the workers wax the floor of the cage, where I came to get lunch on a Sunday afternoon.

The knowledge that our new amphitheatre will have a dual purpose: Amphitheatre by summer and aquatheatre by spring.

Ah, yes. And who can forget those breath taking moments as I speed my 24 year old date back to the girls' dorm in order to beat the twelve o'clock curfew.

The quiet winter parties and the pleasant phone call from our beloved Dean of Women to make sure we have a good time. She's

Thoreson Is Engineer President

Thorvald E. Thoreson, professor of agricultural engineering and industrial arts at Wisconsin State University-River Falls, has been elected president of the Engineering Educational Subcommittee of the Coordinating Board of Higher Education in Wisconsin. The election took place May 1 in LaCrosse.

Attending the meeting of the subcommittee were deans and department heads of the Colleges of Engineering at the University of Wisconsin in Madison and Milwaukee and representatives from each of the nine state universities.

Voice Reporter Corrects Error In News Story

To the editor ---

At this time I would like to correct an error in a story I submitted to The Student Voice. I am referring to the Senate story in which I stated that Dick Carlson argued that the Socialists were not an official political party in the United States. I misinterpreted the context of Carlson's statements, and as a result of my mistake he has been subjected to unfavorable comment.

It is my hope that this letter will bring this criticism of Carlson to an abrupt halt.

And On Other Campuses...

By MICHAEL BRECKE

The Daily Cardinal of the University of Wisconsin reports that eight student leaders have signed a petition asking that faculty salary increases be restored to the recommended level and that tuition be kept at its present level. The Cardinal went on to say that the quality of the student depends greatly on the quality of the faculty. "To keep our faculty on this campus and satisfied with being here, the University must offer higher salaries, better equipment and more fringe benefits." Students, the Cardinal concluded, should worry enough about the quality of their education and indirectly their school, to pressure the State Legislature.

An editorial from the Oshkosh Advance questioned recently whether or not there should be a front page for everyone. The editorial reads in part as follows:

"It has come to the attention of the Editor that various faculty instructors and departmental heads have recently expressed dissatisfaction with the news selection of the Advance. It seems that many departments on campus expect their news releases to be consistently on the front page. Now this is obviously impossible."

The editorial went on to say that all students and faculty instructors and departmental heads, as well as the administration should be given some sort of orientation by the journalism department each semester to remind them of the problems involved in publishing a newspaper. In conclusion, the editorial stated that the paper has tried to be fair to everyone this semester and realizes that it is not perfect; "however, the only perfect man I've ever heard of was crucified in Jerusalem."

From the Pointer of WSU-Stevens Point comes a reaction to the recently formed Student Organization Recognition Committee (SORC). The Pointer gave the following reasons for rejecting SORC:

1. The Pointer is not a student organization but a university organization representing students, faculty, and administration.
2. If SORC has the power to stop allocations to the Pointer, the SORC can regulate the content of the Pointer by proclaiming that certain articles are violations of SORC regulations. The Pointer will not tolerate any 'move' by any group of persons that can be constructed as a danger to freedom of the press.

The Pointer stated in conclusion that it will not be coerced by administration, faculty or students. It must be free to serve all three.

Senate Insurance Coordinator Tells Benefits of Continental

Editor's note: The following article was submitted to The STUDENT VOICE by Miss Marilyn Nielsen, newly-elected Senate insurance coordinator.

The Student Senate of WSU-RF voted to carry the Continental Casualty Insurance program for 1965-66. This plan covers all intercollegiate sports, will pay the full cost of either a private or semi-private room plus all other expenses on a non-allocated basis in case of accident up to $1,000 for each accident.

There is also $1,000 awarded for loss of life, loss of both hands, arms, legs or feet, with $750 for loss of an eye and $500 for loss of an arm, leg, hand or foot.

In case of illness it will pay up to $18 a day for room and board up to 70 days in a hospital, as well as paying up to $100 for miscellaneous expenses incurred for any one illness.

An outstanding feature is, if injured, one may collect regardless of other policies held. Interested students may purchase this plan at the time of registration, $33/12 months for a

Mitchell Joins Economics Frat

The WSU-RF chapter of Omicron Delta Epsilon, national honorary economics fraternity, has accepted Thomas J. Mitchell as a member. Mitchell is a senior at WSU-RF and is majoring in economics. Manfred O. Peterson, president of the WSU-RF chapter, termed Mitchell "a valuable addition to this chapter."

Dr. Richard K. Darr, Omicron Delta Epsilon adviser at WSU-RF, said in an interview that he felt other qualified students at WSU-RF were unaware of Omicron Delta Epsilon on this campus. Darr suggested that students meeting fraternity requirements contact Dr. Edward Peterson.

Darr listed requirements for joining the fraternity as being a grandpoint average of 3.00 and a minimum of 18 hours in economics or business administration.

Senate to Fill 27 Positions On Committees

Dean Stone Named Veep of State PTA

Dr. Gordon Stone, dean of the College of Education at WSU-River Falls, was elected a vice president of the Wisconsin Congress of Parents and Teachers at its annual convention in Madison May 4 and 5.

At the May 4 Awards Dinner, Dr. Stone announced that John F. Mortenson, a special student at WSU-RF, is the winner of this year's Emma Brookmire Memorial Grant. The grant is awarded to a person holding a valid bachelor's degree but lacking certification in teaching. Dr. Stone is chairman of the board of trustees for the grant, established in 1948 as a memorial to Emma Brookmire, a Marinette, Wis., teacher who also served as field secretary of the Wisconsin Congress under the sponsorship of the Wisconsin Education Association.

As co-chairman, Dr. Stone took part in a workshop on "To Prepare for Vocational Competence" and was a participant in an "Educational Services" workshop.

Theme of the convention was "The Future of Wisconsin Goes to School Today." Mrs. Edward F. Ryan, Manchester, Mass., vice president, Region 1, of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, gave the keynote address.

Hoard, Kingsbury Lauded For Senior Art Show

One of the most difficult tasks for a reviewer is to direct his remarks to the majority of his readers. In reviewing Curt Hoard's and Ann Kingsbury's senior show, this reviewer finds that he must write primarily to people who did not see this show or who were essentially unaffected by it.

His remarks will seem banal to the art experts on campus, but since the very concept of "senior show" is new on campus, he will risk the editor's displeasure by explaining what is meant by that term.

Curt and Ann have spent four years at our institution as art majors. They have explored the methods of doing and teaching art and have developed self-confident impressions of themselves as fine artists. Their senior show is a statement of their progress during these four years, directed to the entire campus and community an truly valuable results they have to show for their effort.

The prices they have put on their work, which, incidentally, is located on the ground floor of the Student Center, reflects the values they have placed on what they have done. These values are not merely economic: they are a combination of long hours of trial and error, of earnest conversation with professional artists.

This reviewer believes valid art to be art which is honestly done, aesthetically valid both subjectively and objectively, and significant enough in some unique way to deserve public recognition. The work of Curt Hoard and Ann Kingsbury certainly fulfill this definition, and even those who normally ignore the fine arts should spend a moment in the senior show if for no other reason than school loyalty. For those who appreciate craftsmanship and other signs of technical virtuosity, of special note are Kingsbury's drawings and prints and Hoard's pottery and metalwork. Neither artist is a painter, and the show does have its low spots. But the very presence of the show, with its formal opening and catalogue, is a cultural landmark in the history of our institution, and the art department and Curt Hoard and Ann Kingsbury deserve recognition and respect from the community for their efforts.

Fine (less) System Working Well

Richard A. Cooklock, head librarian at the WSU-RF Chalmers library, said Thursday that the library would continue its present system of not allowing fines for stack books that are overdue. He also discussed possible changes in check-out procedure for the school year 1965-66.

Cooklock said that the present fine system "has worked very successfully." He explained that fines did not reduce the amount of overdue books.

The new system, which eliminated fines on overdue stack books, was first instituted this fall quarter. Cooklock said that at the present time overdue book lists varied little from lists recorded at the same time last year in spite of an increase in enrollment at WSU-RF.

Cooklock also discussed a possible change in the methods students may use to check out books. He said that although the matter is not yet settled the library is seriously considering using a plastic ID card much like gasoline credit cards. Each student would receive a credit card when he registered at WSU-RF.

Baseball Title Still Undecided, Pagemen Win Past Doubleheaders

Dennis Stern
VOICE Staff Writer

When is this season going to end? Falcon Coach Don Page wishes someone would tell him. Last week the River Falls baseball squad (7-1) won two doubleheaders from LaCrosse and Eau Claire to take over the conference lead from Whitewater.

Whitewater had a 4-1 record going into Saturday's action, but they arranged to play three make-up games in an effort to tie defending champ River Falls. And come through they did as they whipped LaCrosse twice on Saturday for a 6-1 record. If they beat Oshkosh this afternoon, they tie for the conference championship. That might force a play-off on Tuesday to determine who represents Wisconsin in the four-state tournament at Stonelake, Iowa, on Thursday.

Other alternatives might be a coin-flip or the direct sending of Whitewater because of our championship last year. Last year River Falls defeated St. Norbert's College for the state title and had a 1-2 record in the Iowa tournament.

Earlier in the week on Tuesday, the Falcons won that home doubleheader from La Crosse, 3-2 and 6-3. Ron Peterson and Art Johnson pitched complete games as the Falcons boosted their record to 5-1.

River Falls broke a 1-1 tie with two runs in the fifth inning of the first game, then choked a LaCrosse rally one run short in the seventh.

Third Sacker, Al Space and catcher, Steve Carpenter had two hits apiece. Peterson gave up but four hits and struck out six.

The Falcons won the second game with a three-run burst in the last of the sixth inning after a homer by Ed Durer of LaCrosse tied the score 3-3 in the top of the frame.

LaCrosse took a 2-0 lead in the top of the first inning, but River Falls got the runs back on a two-run homer by right fielder DeWayne Johnson in the bottom of the frame.

At Eau Claire on Saturday, again Ron Peterson and Art Johnson notched wins. Peterson's was a two-hit shutout and Johnson's was a 5-1 victory in which he struck out 10.

Peterson was very effective in the opener, allowing just two singles: one by losing pitcher, Ron Zastrow and the other by catcher Reggie Pettitt. He whiffed six and walked four. In the second Peterson pitched his way out of a bases loaded situation.

River Falls scored its first and deciding run in the fourth inning when Craig Thoeny singled home Steve Carpenter, who had walked. Carpenter's bases loaded single in the fifth added the final Falcon tallies.

The Bluegolds took a 1-0 lead in the nightcap on three singles, but River Falls tied the game in the fourth on Denny Kaiser's opposite field homerun. The pitch was a high and inside fastball that Kaiser pelted over the left field fence with room to spare.

Al Space led off the sixth hitting an inside hanging curve that caromed off a light pole beyond the left field fence. The Falcons were on their way as DeWayne Johnson walked, Carpenter laid down a bunt single, Bob Sommerville sacrificed the runners to second and third. With two out, pinch hitter, Noel Schraafnagel, singled them in for a 6-3 winning margin.

Johnson allowed the Bluegolds four hits between the 10 strike-out and failed to walk a batter. Ron Haas, the loser, pitched well before giving way to relief in the sixth.

In the opener, Greg Zastrow struck out 10 and walked five. Veleke was the only Bluegold to get more than one hit for the day, rapping two singles in the nightcap.

Space, held hitless in the opener, had two hits in three trips in the nightcap. Thoeny had two hits in the opener.

Ed. Grads Need Forms

Graduating seniors in the teaching curricula who wish to be licensed in Wisconsin should obtain an application form at the Registrar's office, Dr. L. G. Stone, dean of the College of Education, announced last week.

Three-Way Tie Possible, One Week Softball Left

Only one week remains in the intramural softball season, one week to unravel one league with a possible three way tie for first place and another league where two teams could finish with identical records.

The "S" league poses the real problem with the Tap Hounds leading the league with a 6-1 record but followed close by the Celler Dwelling Ceiling Seekers and Kappa Theta with 5-1 records. Both Kappa Theta and the Celler Dwelling Ceiling Seekers have one game remaining on their schedule.

The "F" league could also be a cliff hanger as the Astronauts are leading the league with a 7-0 record followed by the Jack Pine Savages with a 4-0 record but with three games remaining.

In games last week the Tap Hounds climbed into first place with victories over the Muffers Conquistadors and the previously unbeaten Celler Dwelling Ceiling Seekers.

The Astronauts continued their winning ways in the "F" league closing out the season with two victories. They won by forfeit over Chief's Chargers and finished the season with a 7-2 victory over the Rat Finks.

Rain Halts Tourney Play Netmen Tied With Point

The Falcon tennis team had scored five points and were tied with Stevens Point for fourth place in the state tournament when a rain temporarily halted play at La Crosse last week end.

The four Falcon players entered in the tournament were Dan Carlstrom and Al Carrier in singles play and Doug Hanson and Jim Daniels in doubles competition.

The doubles team of Hanson and Daniels was the only River Falls entry still in the running when the rain came as they had beaten Stout 6-4, 6-1 in the first round and were tied 5-5 with Stevens Point in the second set after dropping the first by a 3-6 margin.

Coach Byron James said that Hanson and Daniels would return to LaCrosse tomorrow, and would continue playing the Pointer entries right where they had been interrupted. Thus, if they were to lose the first two games, they would be out of the running. Dan Carlstrom was successful in the first round for the Falcons, but was beaten in the second and Al Carrier lost in the first round to the number one man from Oshkosh.

James, who said that this is the first time that the Falcon squad has scored in the WSUC meet in the last six years, said that River Falls could still finish as high as second and would be at least fifth in the eight-team tournament.

James said that he was "very pleased" with the season, pointing out that in the last four years, the team had risen from a dual meet record with no wins to this year's 7-1 record.

The Falcons had closed out their dual season last week with a pair of home-court victories against Stout and Hamline on Tuesday and Thursday. Both of these teams had been beaten earlier in the season.

Tuesday found the day bright and the team hot as the local team took the first five singles matches to ice the team win. Randy Klink was the only singles loser as he lost his first match of the season, 6-4, 4-6, 4-6.

Hanson, Daniels, Carlstrom, and Carrier all won in singles and were on winning doubles squads. Ralph Rossing was the other singles winner and did not compete in doubles.

The final score was 7-2, considerably better than the narrow 5-4 win the Falcons had eeked out over the Bluedevils on the latter's courts.

In their return match against the Hamline Pipers on Thursday, the Falcons emerged on top in their second close decision. The score was 4-3, compared with 5-4 in the earlier contest.

Because of the damp weather, only five singles and two doubles matches were played and each match consisted of only one "pro set."

A pro set calls for one man (or doubles team) to win ten games and be two ahead of his opponent. None of the sets went into overtime as no loser won more than six games all day.

After Carlstrom and Hanson had lost the first two sets, Daniels, Carrier and Rossing came through to give the Falcons a 3-2 edge after singles play was completed and the doubles combination of Carlstrom and Carrier took a 10-4 decision in the doubles play for the final margin of victory.

Sports Commentary Mark L. Nelson

It seems the baseball team has a title in its hands or should I say might have a title for the second year in a row. It now remains up to Whitewater who will be playing a game this afternoon to try and tie the RF season record. Should they tie the Falcons, things could lean to the more discouraging side for the players and the fans, especially if we lose by the flip of a coin.

Baseball seems to be looking towards the upward trend for the next few years. Nearly all of this years team will be back next year including the two ace-Falcon pitchers Ron Peterson and Art Johnson. Should the other Falcon sports disappoint us we can always look forward to spring and the baseball team. When you watch these guys work out and play ball they seem to work together as a team ribbing one another quite often but always in fun. You might even think they are a group of clowns but who cares when they win their ball games.

So barring any drop-outs from the team the Nationals should be waiting again next year for the mighty Falcon Team.

Coach James along with many others on this campus hasn't seen a better tennis team here for a long time. Sparked by transfer students and previous squad members they finished the conference with a 7-1 record which just isn't too bad.

***

Since this is the last issue of the VOICE sports section this year I would like you to go home for the summer and try and figure out what kind of football we are going to have next fall. If I know Coach Christensen and the rest of the coaching staff the men will be in shape as usual again this season, probably even better than this year.

Leadership in the back field may even show a little this season if the right juniors can catch the hint.

They are big boys now and they can tell their counterparts what they think.

Next year the Falcons won't have Eau Claire's Van Gordon to contend with only an underclassman who is supposed to be better.

A lot of new faces will be seen on our squad next season after this years graduation but it seems the teams have always managed before.

A conference champion in football? --- Why Not!

"Wait Till Next Year!" Cry Thinclads

By Dave Henderson

"Wait till next year!" would appear to be a summary in a nutshell of this year's River Falls track team. This familiar slogan is heard every year from coaches, athletic directors and fans throughout the country. However, in the case of the Falcon thinclads the phrase does not carry with it the connotation of overly optimistic expectations of better things to come merely because they could be no worse. River Falls has just completed a rebuilding season, one which has seen one of the youngest track teams in the school's history. Of the 25 men on the squad only two are lost via graduation, and there are experienced performers returning at virtually every event in track and field. In addition to the returning thinclads, track coach Al Evans says that many of the top athletes from many of the surrounding schools and a few of those in the twin cities have indicated they would attend River Falls next year.

A breakdown of this year's Falcon track men and what to expect next year would be as follows:

DASHES: This could be one of the strongest parts of the '66 thinclads. Sophomores Sos Nanyakpe from Africa and Barron's Dave Pond are considered excellent prospects and team with freshman Larry Mueller, from Amery who is rated by coaches as one of the best young runners in the state, to give River Falls exceptional potential for the next two years in 100 and 220 yard dashes. In the 440 yard dash, school record holder Dan Mc-Farlane, junior from the Bronx, and sophomore Barry Halverson from Glenwood City who is an outstanding sprinter and with more experience could push towards the standing record of his counterpart.

HURDLES: A trio of juniors held down the hurdles along with an outstanding freshman this past year. Hank Sukow, Jim Wolgram, and Lyndon Nelson were the consistent upper classmen performers all of whom were pushed by freshman Bob Nerban who doubles in the mile relay and broad jump.

DISTANCE RUNNERS: This has been the strongest part of the track team this year with senior Glen McNaughton again leading the way, pressed hard by freshman Gary Berglin in the mile and 3-mile runs. McNaughton established and broke the existing school record in the 3-mile three times this year only to have it broken in the state meet Saturday by his running partner, Berglin. McNaughton plans to attend graduate school in Miami, Florida, next year and hopes to continue running for that school if Berglin continues to improve at the rate he has been he will develop into one of the finest distance runners in the school's history.

In the intermediate distances the Falcons have sophomore Tom Staiger returning next season. Staiger teamed with veteran Tom Bosman, senior from Baldwin known as "old reliable". McNaughton and Bosman will definitely be missed next year, but this writer would have to say that the prospects in the distance events are anything but bad.

FIELD EVENTS: For the past few years this part of the track team has led to it's downfall. However, fortunes have changed with the addition of a few key men at some key positions to a point where there are potential winners in every field event.

Freshman Dick Sivert and sophomore Dave Wirtala are the mainstays of the weights (shot put and discus). Sivert is an up-and-coming competitor with work he should couple with Wirtala to give the Falcons good strength here. Wirtala has been a consistent point-getter in the shot put and discus, but his greatest asset lies in his speciality, the javelin. Freshman Joe Wilkrent, sophomore Bob Olson and junior Jim Wolgram led the core of pole vaulters and have showed steady improvement this year and should supply the thinclads with their share of points next season.

In the broad jump freshman Tim O'Harrow along with 440 man Barry Halverson and sprinter Larry Mueller provide the Falcons with both strength and depth.

Finally in the high jump Bob Nerban and Hank Sukow team with the freshman dash from New Richmond, Terry Budworth. Budworth not only does all his jumping bare-footed but does it well enough to finish in third place in the conference meet at LaCrosse Saturday in this, his first season of college competition.

"Wait till next year!" a hollow statement you hear every year that carries little or no significance? With the nucleus of men returning coupled with whatever recruiting help we can get, next year may very well be a good one.

CRAIG THEONY PUTS A LITTLE FORCE into his swing. Theony singled home Steve Carpenter for the first and deciding run in the Eau Claire game on Saturday.

CATCHER STEVE CARPENTER CONPERS with a teammate Bob Eggleston between innings. Carpenter has hitted in quite handily for last year's catcher Roy Ankley.

AL SPACE TAKES A HARD CUT which seems to pay off for him. Space has been hitting quite strong the latter part of this season.

Parachutist Club Gets First Jump

COMING DOWN in his first jump, and it looks like a good one.

3 RF Men Form Club To Jump

Winds and rain twice caused the delay of practice parachute jumps for three WSU-RF men, but Saturday they finally did it.

After attending two jump school sessions of two and one-half hours each with jump instructor Jay Perry of Minneapolis, the River Falls men, Dennis Nelson, freshman from River Falls, Robert Peterson, sophomore from Balsam Lake, and James Peterson, freshman from Hudson, jumped Saturday afternoon in a field near the Lamplight Inn, just southeast of River Falls.

A spokesman for the group said they plan to start a parachute club in River Falls next fall, when they submit a constitution to the Student Senate.

BUT A FEW got strung up in the trees and wires.

ONCE ON THE GROUND there are sure a lot of strings.

NOW FOR THE MOST IMPORTANT part, repacking the chute. Each parachutist packs his own chute.

AND THEN, up in the plane and another jump.
