

Band, Choir to Combine In Three-Day Spring Tour

The phrase "something new has been added" could apply to this year's choir and band tour, April 19, 20, and 21.

For the first time in the college's history there will be a number of selections done by the combined choir and band.

The three-day, 500-mile trip will include three afternoon concerts and three evening performances. Tuesday afternoon the groups will perform at Cumberland and Tuesday evening they will be in Rice Lake for a concert and overnight lodging.

On Wednesday, March 20, the band and choir will travel to Spooner for a morning concert. That evening they will be in Melten for a performance at the Melten high school.

Thursday afternoon the groups will present a concert at Cadott, with the last performance of the tour set for 8 p.m. in Owen that evening.

Three buses have been chartered to accommodate the musicians and their equipment.

Under the direction of C. B. King, the choir will present a variety of sacred and secular music. The band will feature musical comedy selections, spirited marches and novelty numbers in its half of the program, under the direction of B. J. Rozehnal.

STUDENTS TO ELECT NEW SENATE MEMBER

A new member will be elected to the Student Senate Friday, March 22, to replace Pres. Dick Schultz, who has left school. Dick Kinney, junior from Huron, the previous vice-president, has taken over as president of the senate.

Candidates for the election will be nominated at an all-school assembly in North Hall auditorium at 10 a.m. Thursday, March 21. In order to be eligible for the office, a candidate must have at least a 1.0 grade point average.

Wednesday Convocation to Feature Combination Piano Concert - Lecture

DONALD LEVINE

In a combination concert-lecture performance, Donald Levine, pianist, will present the first all-school convocation program of the spring quarter Wednesday, March 20, at 10 a.m.

Mr. Levine will discuss and demonstrate two specific approaches to the piano at his performance in North Hall auditorium.

When he was only 15 years old, Mr. Levine was receiving daily lessons from the late Henriot Levy at the American Conservatory in Chicago. He holds both the bachelor and master's degree from the conservatory.

He has received praise from many of the world's greatest pianists.

William Kapell told him, "I would not be surprised if you became one of those pianists of which there are only three or four in a hundred years."

Tentatively scheduled for Mr. Levine's program here are works by Schiabine, Chopin, and Beethoven. The pianist will discuss the place and meaning of each selection.

Students Plan Activities For Annual Foundation Week

"Let's pull for the Foundation" is this year's annual Foundation Week slogan. Foundation Week which is planned for April 1-6, is for the purpose of raising funds for a permanent campus improvement.

The kick-off program will begin with a convocation at 10 a.m. on April 1.

Monday night there will be an Old Time, Hard Time Dance, scheduled at sponsored by the FFA. The College Male Chorus is tentatively scheduled to give a concert before the dance Monday night. A free will offering will be taken.

A smorgasboard will be held in the cafeteria Tuesday night. Tuesday is also Alumni Guest Day.

Wednesday night is being set aside for church.

Scheduled for Thursday night is nasium with the theme, "Auction organizations.

Friday night a style show will be given by one of the department stores from The Cities. Tentative plans have also been made for the appearance of a barbershop quartet.

Climaxing Foundation Week will be a semi-formal dance in North Hall gymnasium, Saturday night.

Foundation Week buttons will be sold. The purpose of selling these is to raise money for this year's project.

HIGH SCHOOL SPEECH GROUP TO MEET HERE NEXT SATURDAY

Pupils from approximately 26 schools, members of the Wisconsin High School Forensic Association, will be on campus Saturday, March 23, for the annual District Meet.

Scheduled for the meet are eight events. They include humorous, serious, interpretive, and extemporaneous readings, original and non-original oratory, extemporaneous speeches, and four-minute speeches.

In charge of the meet is Dr. Blanche Davis of the speech department. She will be assisted by Miss Marion Hawkins, Blake Anderson, and Walter Simonson.

Participating in the meet are "A" winners selected at an earlier league meet.

District manager is Superintendent Louis F. Berg of Baldwin. Judges will be Miss Grace Walsh and Earl Kjer of Eau Claire State College, Miss Anne Simley of Hamline, Theodore Nelson of St. Olaf, and Mrs. Chauncey B. King of River Falls.

Seniors to Visit College Campus

High school seniors who are considering college have been invited to attend an annual "Go to College Day" on the campus March 27 and 28. Pupils from approximately 108 schools in 16 counties have been invited.

The Public Relations Committee plans the day to give high school seniors an accurate picture of college life. The high school pupils will have an opportunity to observe extra-curricular activities in action. They also discuss their vocational interests with faculty members.

Closing the affair will be a social hour in Hathorn Hall. This will give the seniors further opportunity to meet the faculty and student leaders on campus.

The Student Senate is cooperating with the Public Relations Committee in furnishing guides for the day, members of a panel and handling the registration and coke hour.

Since so many schools are attending, it was found last year that it was easier to divide the group into two sections. Half of the schools will be attending March 27 and the other half March 28.

The Public Relations Committee is made up of seven faculty members and two students, Arlin Albrecht and Mike Flemming.

The Editor Speaks

"We want the facts, Ma'am, just the facts," as Joe Friday of the popular TV program Dragnet would say. This is also true in the field of journalism. In order to put out a good paper, which will present the truth to its readers, the facts and not fiction are necessary.

Of course everyone has different ideas of what he wants in a newspaper. It's just normal, with all the different tastes in the world. Therefore to please everyone would be impossible.

To plan a paper, decide on a policy and stick to it, is no easy thing. We of the Voice have tried to serve causes which we think will benefit all. We try to provide students and faculty with the latest campus information. A paper shouldn't stop with just presenting the facts, but should also act as a leader. We mean a leader in organizing worthwhile activities and taking important stands.

The paper is also a place where students can air their views and take stands. One means of doing this is by writing letters to the editor. It seems as though the students of RF don't have opinions, or they don't believe it will do any good to express them in the paper. At any rate, there are more than 1,000 students on campus and only eight letters to the editor have appeared so far this year. One of these was from a faculty member. Of the eight, only three were during the winter quarter. Does this mean that opinions are getting fewer around campus, or just that the students don't care?

At the end of fall term, letters were written about closing of the library at test time. This term the library was open. How much good the letters did we don't know for sure, but perhaps they deserve some of the credit.

Don't get us wrong. We don't like to receive just complaints. We are even happier to get praise and new ideas. It seems to us that with so many students on campus, there would be a few more worthwhile views and opinions to express, other than over the coffee cups in the caf.

Let's make The Student Voice the voice of students, not just the voice of the poor editor crying in the wilderness.

POINT OF VIEW

HAGESTAD

Readers will note that Gad Books!, this column's usual "head," has been replaced this week by Point of View. The significance of this change I shall explain.

Though this is primarily a column of book reviews and criticism, I occasionally wish to write about some non-literary situation. Under the Gad Books! head, this is sailing with false colors and I feel a tinge of something like dishonesty. To ease my guilt, future literary columns will be headed Gad Books! and future non-literary columns, Point of View.

I feel this will be an expeditious device for the readers. Those who don't care about the literary columns can skip the ones headed Gad Books!; and those who don't care about the non-literary columns can skip the ones headed Point of View.

Education, directly and indirectly, attempts to convince people that success and effectiveness in most undertakings can be reached with a certain state of mind. This state of mind, the educator suggests, is characterized by calmness, rationality and consideredness.

The individual in whom education has accomplished this has undergone a particular transformation. He has had his "unconsidered" impulses replaced by "considered" ones.

"Unconsidered" impulses make life difficult and tedious—"hard, nasty, and short," in the words of David Hume. "Considered" impulses, however, make life easier. One is successful and effective in what he wishes to do, if he and everyone else is calm, rational and considered.

This is the educator's recommendation for attaining success and effectiveness in most undertakings. I believe that it is a good one. There is another recommendation, however, that rather shakes my belief in the efficacy of the educator's. John Kasper is the exponent in the United States of that recommendation.*

John Kasper is a professional segregationist. He spews forth a bitter hatred for Negroes and Jews. What he wishes to accomplish is to get other people to spew forth the same hatred. How does John Kasper try to gain success and effectiveness in this thing he wishes to accomplish? He does it by notably breaking every educational "rule" of calmness, rationality, and consideredness. Yet he is very successful and effective—he has people spewing forth his same bitter hatred for Negroes and Jews.

Now which is the right way to be successful and effective in this case—John Kasper's or the educator's. It is obvious that it is the educator's. However, if I were to ask any number of persons why the educator's way is the right one, I think that none of them would be able to give me an answer. If someone asked me that question, I don't think that I could deliver an answer on it either.

*His recommendation appears in the February 19 Look magazine. It is complete with burning crosses and frightened people.

His nearest rival was Milwaukee's Tom Kneusel, who scored 265 for a 22.1 mark. The winning total was scored on 93 field goals and 117 free throws.

Also finishing in the top 10 scorers was Mick Lauber, a freshman guard on this year's River Falls team. Lauber poured in 92 field goals and 27 free throws for a 17.6 average.

Conformity Conference Slated For April 2

William Evjue, editor of the Madison Capital Times, will highlight the Conference on Conformity in American Life, sponsored by the Social Science department at River Falls April 2. High school science teachers of the area and River Falls social science students will be invited to discuss questions of conformity.

Main purpose of the conference is to stimulate discussion of this controversial issue, according to Dr. Walker D. Wyman, chairman.

The conference will cover various phases of conformity including conformity in education and in mass communications. In Panel I, Conformity in Education, the question, "Do students and teachers conform to community views, economic and political" will be discussed. Also the question of whether conformists rather than non-conformists are hired as teachers, and whether students are provided with information on both sides of controversial issues will be discussed.

Conformity in Mass Communications, Panel II, concerns the question "Does conformity to public interest affect the quality of radio and T.V. programs, and do public views influence conformity in the press?"

NAVY TO EXPLAIN OFFICER TRAINING

A Naval Aviation Cadet Information team will be on campus Thursday and Friday, March 21 and 22. Employment and educational opportunities in the United States Navy will be explained.

The Naval officer training program will be described, and questions of interest may be asked.

The dance beginning at 8:00 and continuing until 10:30, will cost 15 cents for both Irishmen and "aliens."

This is precisely the point. If your education has run true to form, you will know which way is the right way, but you will not know WHY. This, then, makes education little better than a rarefied sort of indoctrination process. I do not think the persons being educated want this any more than the persons doing the educating.

This, I think, is a problem that faces educators, whether they realize it or not. If one is to be told that demagogues like Kasper are wrong, that it is best for the human being to be free, or that sin is bad, then with this "indoctrination" must also come the reason why he is wrong, this is best, or that is bad.

I PIOUSLY SUGGEST that these reasons why can be developed only by the individual who is accepting the "indoctrination." If this individual cannot find some reason why what he is being told is true, then he, in all honesty, has no choice but to reject it.

It should be, I think, one of the prime functions of education to provide the environment and impetus for a person looking for the why of his beliefs; and, if he cannot find those whys, then be the agency that sends him looking for other, more realistic beliefs.

One RF Debate Team Is Undefeated In Madison Tournament March 8, 9

Judy Simonson and Jerry Anderson, undefeated in the Delta Sigma Rho invitational debate tournament in Madison March 8-9, tied for first place on won-lost basis with Wheaton College, Wheaton, Ill and DePauw University, Greencastle, Ind.

River Falls has now had at least one undefeated team in half the tournaments that the school has participated in this year.

The only other RF team at Madison, Dick Waak and Arlen Christenson, finished with a record of 1 win and 3 losses. A total of 23 Midwestern schools participated in the meet.

Mrs. Simonson also took third place in the Wisconsin State Oratorical Contest held during the tourney. The remainder of the RFSC squad competing in discussion, placed in the top 20 percent.

A student from Ripon College, Ripon, won top honors in the oratory contest.

Next tournament for River Falls is at the University of Minnesota April 5-6.

Careers In Government To Be Explained Here

Mr. Buchholz will speak on Social Security to the AWSCF at 4 p.m. in the Faculty Lounge.

I-M Bowling Review

by Ed Schlumpf

Because of quarterly exams, bowling activity was confined to only one round of play during the last two weeks. A league action again found team 5 grabbing three points to maintain their comfortable seven point spread over runner up team 2. Quite a battle has developed for third place, however, as only four points separates the next five teams.

Rod Peterson turned in a 211 to grab high game honors. Severt Olson registered a 192 and Ken Dusso rolled a 181.

Team 7 moved further out in front in the B League as they picked up three points while team 5 moved into a second place deadlock with team 2. Team 8, considered by many to be the dark-horse of the league, is still fourth but trails the leaders by only five points.
