WISCONSIN STATE COLLEGE, RIVER FALLS

VOLUME XLIII NUMBER 16

Harold Greenhill Receives Special Mid-Year Grant

The social science department has awarded Harold Greenhill a special mid-year scholarship of $45. The fund is co-sponsored by Mrs. W. H. Marzolf of Hudson and Jerry Murphy of River Falls, a law student at the University of Wisconsin.

Mrs. Marzolf contributed $25, with the remainder coming from Mr. Murphy.

A junior from Sand Creek, Mr. Greenhill is working toward a degree in secondary education with majors in social science and biology and a minor in political science. He has been active in the campus Young Democrats and served as president of the organization last year.

Mr. Murphy spent three years at RFSC before transferring to the University this fall. His donation to the scholarship is part of a prize received as the result of the college placing its order for this year's Time magazine through him.

Last year Mr. Murphy won a $500 scholarship and a like amount for the college in a nation-wide subscription contest sponsored by Time. The school's share was used for purchasing microfilm copies of the New York Times over a three-year period.

The microfilm, now in the library, serves as reference material in research projects.

Yale Accepts Don Laue For Graduate Study

Don Laue, senior of River Falls, has been accepted for graduate study at the Divinity School of Yale University in New Haven, Conn.

Mr. Laue will enroll next fall in a three-year course leading to the Bachelor of Divinity degree. His eventual goal is to work in the field of religious education on the college level.

To be graduated from River Falls this spring, Mr. Laue has a major in history and minors in psychology and English.

TRADITIONS TO FALL AT VALENTINE BALL FOR WOMEN PAY ALL

It's certainly not "June in January," but otherwise things will be turned around for the Valentine Formal next Friday. It'll be "the woman who pays." The only exceptions are flowers and transportation.

Dancing will be from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. in Hathorn Hall. The event is sponsored by AWS. Tickets, to be on sale in the cafeteria, are priced at $1.25 a couple.

The lounge and recreation room of the dorm will be decorated with birch branches, angel hair, cupids, and hearts for the evening. Reigning over the evening will be a Valentine King and Queen picked at random from ticket stub holders.

Co-chairmen for the affair are Janet Wihela and Mary Pautz. Joan Gladwell, Patty Ross, Carol Korsmo, and Ginny Novak head the program, publicity, decorations, and cleanup committees, respectively.

Janet Wihela said, "Plans for the dance are well underway and coming along smoothly. We hope everyone on campus is planning to attend."

"I MUST BE CRUEL, only to be kind; thus bad begins and worse remains behind," says Hamlet to Ophelia in a scene from the movie version of Shakespeare's Hamlet to be shown in the Little Theatre next Monday. The film stars Lawrence Olivier as Hamlet and Jean Simmons as Ophelia.

Theory Strong, Practice Weak, Says Ag Man

State Agricultural Supervisor L. M. Sasman, principal speaker at last Thursday's FFA banquet, said, "Agricultural instructors in Egypt are well versed in the theories of agriculture, but very few of them have the practical experience that is required of an ag instructor in Wisconsin."

Speaking to the largest crowd at an FFA banquet on record, Mr. Sasman said that unfortunately, most of the agriculture teachers in Egypt have never lived on a farm.

He described Egypt as a country that is roughly the combined size of Pennsylvania, Texas, and New York. There are only 6,000,000 acres which are arable. On this limited acreage, he continued, about 12,000,000 farmers live and raise food for themselves and the remainder of the population, another 12,000,000 persons.

"Obviously," he said, "Their standard of living is not very high." The speaker quipped, "Egypt is a good place to be from."

Mr. Sasman believes the countries that wanted Palestine set aside for the Jews showed little understanding of the problem involved. Over 1,000,000 persons were forced to leave their homes because of this, he said.

BRINGING OUT INTO THE OPEN what men have suspected all along, women are chasing men on campus this week. Rae Buchholz and Griff Howell demonstrate here what's happening as RFSC gets ready for the "gals ask guys" Valentine Formal.

Three Seniors Seek Title of Carnival King

Three seniors, Dick Fischer, Kenneth McDonald, and Anthony "Bucky" DiSalvo, have been named Winter Carnival King candidates. Nominated by petition, candidates for King have traditionally been the first three students to have their candidacy approved by the Deans' office.

McDonald

DiSalvo

Election of the King and Chairwoman is scheduled for Friday, Feb. 8, from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. in the cafeteria. Students running for the two positions will be presented to the student body at an all-school assembly on the Wednesday preceding election.

Dick Fischer, a three-year letterman in basketball, is from Stetsonville. His extra-curricular activities include "R" Club and the Newman Club. Enrolled in secondary education, he has a major in social science and is minoring in physical education.

Mr. McDonald, from Barron, is a social science major. His minor is in psychology. An active member of the Vets Club, he also takes part in three intramural sports, basketball, football, and bowling.

After transferring to River Falls from the University of Wisconsin, Mr. DiSalvo, from Cumberland, earned four letters in football. Working toward a degree in secondary education, he lists the "R" Club as his only extra-curricular.

Olivier's 'Hamlet' To Be Presented Monday, Feb. 4

Lawrence Olivier's movie version of "Hamlet" will be presented in the Little Theatre next Monday from 3 to 5:30 and 7 to 9:30 p.m. This famous "blonde" version of the Shakespearean drama is being shown as part of the Concert and Lecture Committee's film series.

The movie, in black and white, stars Lawrence Olivier as Hamlet and Jean Simmons as Ophelia.

Life magazine calls the two-and-a-half-hour-long production "a work of genius both overpowering and comprehensible . . . pictorial magnificence."

Time's review said, "The screen is indeed adequate to Shakespeare at his greatest . . . and Director-actor Olivier's 'Hamlet' is the proof."

Included in the cast are: Basil Sidney as Claudius, the King; Eileen Herlie as Gertrude, the Queen; Lawrence Olivier as Hamlet, Prince of Denmark; Norman Wooland as Horatio, his friend; Felix Aylmer as Polonius, Lord Chamberlain; Terrance Morgan as Laertes, his son; and Jean Simmons as Ophelia.

Organizations Urged To Start Plans Now For Carnival Events

Winter Carnival Chairwoman candidates, Marilyn Carlson, Sally Hallenberger, and Diane Shay, have already started preliminary activities for the affair. The candidates urge that campus organizations start planning immediately for the events they plan to enter.

CARNIVAL ROYALTY will be crowned at the FFA talent show on the celebration's first day, February 14. Winners of the beard-growing contest will also be named during the program.

The talent show, open to all students, offers three prizes. Anyone interested may sign up in The Student Voice office.

The annual Carnival snow sculpture contest on North and South Hall lawns is open only to campus groups. Individuals are not permitted to take part. Areas for the snow statues will be plotted on a map to be posted on the official Carnival notice board in South Hall. Organization heads may register for the contest on a first come, first served basis.

A MIDWAY to be open on Saturday during Winter Carnival is being planned for the women's gym. Persons or groups interested in having booths may attend next Wednesday's Student Advisory Council meeting for further information.

Men planning to participate in the traditional Carnival hockey game must register on the official notice board. The game will be called off if there is too little interest shown.

SIGMA GIRLS TO SPONSOR ANNUAL SPAGHETTI SUPPER

Sigma Chi Sigma is sponsoring a spaghetti supper in Hathorn Hall before the La Crosse game next Saturday. Serving for the annual affair will be from 4:30 to 7 p.m.

Tickets will be available in the cafeteria throughout the week at 50c each.

The Editor Speaks . . .

We have a theory that the educational system with its stress on grades develops the "chameleon student."

The chameleon is a type of lizard remarkable for its ability to change the color of its skin according to its mood or environment. It can assume "protective coloration" with remarkable agility.

It has been our observation that the same ability is acquired by students once they have learned the value of this trick. Some practice the art consciously, others practice it almost without being aware they are doing so. Nearly all practice it one way or the other.

By this we mean that most present-day students are virtually "yes men." They have only to learn what type of reply is expected by each teacher. This takes the first few weeks of the term and from then on they merely apply this principle to all papers, tests, and class recitations. Certainly the student has learned, but he has seen the subject only from one point of view. Contradictory theories on the matter (contradictory, that is, to what the teacher wants) are relegated to obscurity or completely forgotten. In many instances, students have a choice of accepting a prof's dogmas or getting low grades.

This leads to the "protective coloration" phenomenon. In one class the student thinks one way, in the next class he thinks otherwise. He has changed the color of his thinking to suit the "environment."

Not to be misunderstood, we want to make it plain that the fault lies with the system and not with the teachers. In our conversations with both teachers and students there is a common feeling that the grading system is a "necessary evil." Many teachers would abandon it immediately if a substitute could be found to "motivate" students and, more important, if the entire educational system weren't based on grades.

However, as matters now stand, regardless of how liberal teachers are in their handling of class subject matter, everything must eventually be set down as right or wrong. They must arrive at a grade. In the more basic type studies, this is entirely satisfactory. Two plus two always equals four. A singular subject always takes a singular verb. America will always have been discovered (by Columbus, at least) in 1492.

But when the fundamentals are left behind, value differences should develop between student and instructor. Unfortunately, this is seldom the case. Students are led from color to color as their classroom environment changes. There is no room for the one who wants to be yellow when the rest are green. If the student chameleon wants to catch his fly he must blend with the background and not be conspicuous.

Student Senate Minutes

The Student Senate's last meeting was called to order Monday, Jan. 21 by President Dick Schultz.

WINTER CARNIVAL

Dates for presentation and election of Winter Carnival Chairwoman and King candidates have been advanced. The presentation is now scheduled for Wednesday, Feb. 6 at 10 a.m. instead of the preceding Monday. Moved up from Wednesday, the election will now be on Friday, Feb. 8, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the cafeteria.

Marilyn Carlson made a brief report on Carnival activities. The Senate agreed to investigate a proposal to construct a skating rink on campus to be used during Winter Carnival and the remainder of the skating season.

The Senate also discussed having a sleigh ride following the basketball game on Friday, Feb. 15. A card tournament was another Carnival activity talked over by Senate members.

SPOT LIGHTS

The Valentine Formal Committee requested that permanent spotlights be purchased for use at all-school activities. The Senate allotted $15, on a motion by Dick Kinney, for purchasing the lights.

SCHOOL FLAG REPLICAS

LSA was granted permission to sell pennant replicas of the school flag at 50c each.

PING PONG TABLES

The Senate agreed to allow Hathorn Hall to use Student Activity Center ping pong tables for its party last Friday night.

FIRE HAZARD

A Senate committee will investigate the report of a possible fire hazard in the entrance to Hathorn Hall.

CAMPAIGN COSTS

Candidates for Winter Carnival Chairwoman will receive $10 from the Senate to help cover campaign expenses. On a proposal by Louie Johnson, the Senate moved to allot a like sum to next year's Homecoming Chairman candidates.

Secretary, Mary Lou Jensen

GAD BOOKS!

HAGESTAD

This year there will be an election in Indo-China; the people there will have a choice between Communism and Democracy. Ho Chi-minh, who will doubtless be the Communist aspirant, is predicted to win—he will do this without "rigging" or "fixing" the election: the Viet-namense give every indication of freely choosing him over his non-Communist rival, Diem.

The strange thing about this election is that Great Britain at the Geneva Conference last year pledged to provide the free choice that the Viet-namense are being given, which will certainly result in a Communist victory; and, to oppose any action by the anti-Communist minority to reverse by violence the verdict of the majority.

"In other words, the defenders of democracy, by proclaiming their faith in the will of the people, find themselves compelled by their doctrine to act as a mid-wife of tyranny."

Peregrine Worsthorne, writing in the British magazine, Encounter, describes the typically "embarrassing" situation in an article, "Democracy v. Liberty." The Indo-Chinese election is not the only one, either. It is perfectly possible, says writer Worsthorne, that a general election in Italy, where there is now a coalition of leftist groups, could result in a Communist-dominated government.

If either Britain or the United States were to step in and reverse any of these elections, would we not be repudiating our belief in the rightness and efficacy of the majority's choice? If either the U. S. or Britain were to do such a thing, there would doubtless be heard the cry that democracy had suffered a severe blow.

The point that writer Worsthorne brings up, and the one I wish to develop, is this, "... these elections are no challenge to our political beliefs, but they are a challenge to our muddled political thinking,

"... that Western public opinion imagines itself to be dedicated to a political principle, popular sovereignty, which it had never really believed in at all."

It has always been politically expedient for the West to pretend that people have the absolute right to choose a democratic form of government—in elections where a liberal victory was assured. But in instances like the Indo-Chinese and Italian elections, this "heresy" is turned against us. This "heresy" is one which the West has had difficulty escaping throughout its history, so any "clearing-up" of our political beliefs must send us back to where democracy got mixed up with liberty.

This is not to say that liberalism and democracy are different, it says only that they are not the same. As Worsthorne points out,

"Democracy is about WHO should rule and implies rule

FALCON FANFARE

by Lewie

"Real cool" would be a proper way of describing the playing of Michael James Lauber, freshman from Glenwood City. One gets the impression that this 6-1, 185-pounder has been playing college ball two or three years after watching his display of confidence and finesse.

Indicating his versatility, Mick plays either guard or forward. He possesses a soft jump-shot that connects consistently from near and far.

THE MOST OUTSTANDING THING about Mick however, is his powerful set of legs. This will probably prove his worth more than any other single factor throughout his cage career, as his spring supplies him with outstanding rebounding ability. It is not uncommon to see Mick dunk the ball through the hoop, a feat that normally is not done by anyone under 6-5.

Mick is enrolled in elementary education with a physical education minor. He graduated from Glenwood City high school in 1955 where he lettered all four years in basketball, football, and baseball. Mick plans to give track a whirl this spring and is also going out for football next fall.

WHEN ASKED WHAT his greatest thrill in sports has been, Mick came up with a couple of answers. One of them was beating River Falls high school in tournament play at Hudson after River Falls had won 17 straight in season play. His other big thrill came when he scored a phenomenal 43 points against New Richmond.

Revamped Falcon Quint Meets La Crosse Next

A revamped Falcon lineup will face the La Crosse Indians on the Falcon court next Saturday in a regularly-scheduled conference game.

River Falls Coach Fran Poltfoot has had forward Tom Shield starting in the place of Tom Marshall who dropped from the team. It is expected that Griff Howell will also see more action at the position.

SHIELD, a 6-3 sophomore, previously used sparingly in relief roles for Dave Herum and Marshall, has started in the last three Falcon games and looked good.

The Indians, coached by Cliff DeVoll, are a relatively short, young, fast team that plays a "running" game—that is, a lot of fast breaks and quick maneuvering. However, it is expected that the small North Hall gym will

Frosh Win Fourth; Beat Roberts 78-61

The freshman basketball team rolled up its fourth win in six games this season with a convincing 78-61 rout of the Roberts city team in the North Hall gym last Thursday night.

Emery Crowley paced the Bel-fiori-men with 18 points. Don Weiss hit 22 for Roberts to grab scoring honors for the game. Darrell Hart with 15 and Jack Omer with 10 aided the River Falls attack.

Next game for the freshmen will be with Amery's city team before the RF-St. Cloud tilt at Amery next Wednesday.

Roaring back from a 38-35 halftime deficit, Superior State rallied for a 75-66 victory over

IMPROVING steadily is Falcon forward Tom Shield, who has taken over the position vacated by Tom Marshall. Shield, in his third starting role against Superior, rebounded well and scored 11 points.

River Falls Saturday evening on the Superior State court. The comeback triumph gave Superior a 3-2 league record, while the Falcons are 1-4 in WSCC play.

The game featured a scoring dual between Superior's Jack Evans and the Falls' Dave Herum. Evans, a deadly shot from out court, netted 30 and Herum meshed 28.

The host's ability to hit from the free throw line made the difference as Superior capitalized on 18 Falcon fouls by hitting 27 gift tosses. River Falls outgunned the 'Jackets 25-24 from the field, but could manage only 16 free throws.

During the first half the game was tied five times and neither team could gain more than a five point lead. With 1:30 left Mick Lauber put the Falcons ahead 34-33, and with a pair of fielders by Herum and Tom Shield mixed between an Evans' one-hander, River Falls led 38-35 at half-time.

The last half was all Superior. At the beginning of the second stanza the Yellowjackets jumped to a quick 49-40 lead. The Falcons pulled to within five at 57-52 before Superior ran away to the nine point final margin.

I-M Ten Pin Standings

by Ed Schlumpf

With the first half of the bowling season fast drawing to a close, only team 5 seems sure of a playoff berth in the A league. Runner-up team 7 trails the league-leaders by four points while team 2 and team 6 are knotted for third with 10 points each. Team 4 and 9 are close behind with nine points each.

Jim Hallen and Bob Ames both rolled games of 191 to tie for top individual scoring honors for the week. Ken Dusso's 184 was second high and Don Wallen had a 177.

Team 2 of the B League has pulled into a first-place tie with team 7. Both have a total of 16 points. Teams 5, 6, and 3 are bunched close behind in a battle for the other two playoff spots.

Rolland Grothe turned in the highest single game score of the week with a 192. Ron Wunrow rolled a 181 and John Mikla registered a 176.

Luckies Taste Better

"IT'S TOASTED" TO TASTE BETTER . . . CLEANER, FRESHER, SMOOTHER!

Film Series Presentations 'Interesting' But Lack Technical, Art Qualities

by Richard Doetkott

Two movies of interest, if not of technical and artistic skill, were presented last Thursday as part of The Concert and Lecture Committee's film series. Opening the program was the color film, Picasso, a documentary on the artistic life of a great modern painter.

The movie rambles through Picasso's early life touching on the "Blue" period, the "Pink" period and at last the cubic period and its modifications. The range of Picasso's talent is shown to be almost unbelievable in scope; to the extent that the viewer is often skeptical that all the paintings shown are really his.

THE MOST IMPORTANT point to be taken from the film is the danger of letting art become an end in itself, a point Picasso almost reached a number of times in his career but fortunately managed to revert back to a more humanistic approach.

The movie wasn't startling in technique. The background music, so important to a documentary film, was very good. Alternating music from a guitar with the slap of a hand against its sounding box and the Spanish folk music with gay French music, the music director of "Picasso" managed to inject a bit of genius into an otherwise ordinary picture.

The second film, The Stratford Adventure, proved to be an excellent piece of publicity put out by the Canadian government. As a work of art in itself, though, it fell short. Dealing with one man's idea and how that idea mushroomed into a reality, the film seems to be all buildup and little climax.

THE BUILDUP takes place in Stratford, a small Canadian town. The climax is the creation of a theatre especially suited for staging Shakespearean drama. Of course the whole town pitches in to help this worthy project and of course it looks like they won't make it and of course they do.

Some very good color and impressionistic camera shots helped offset the movie's bad points. But even that and Alec Guinness couldn't save this film from being just a bit corny in plot. The sad thing about all this is the rather disquieting fact that such a thing as the building of a special Shakespearean theatre probably could never have happened in the United States.

slow down their game somewhat. La Crosse, sporting a 2-3 league record through last weekend's games, is led by 5-11 center Ed Winiarski who recently took over the conference total-points lead with 111 in five games for an average of 22.2. The Falcons' Herum leads in average points per game with a 24.8 mark (99 in four games).

Continuing their policy of bringing college basketball to nearby towns, the Falcons will face St. Cloud on the big new Amery floor Wednesday, Jan. 30.

DIRECTOR PRAISED FOR HANDLING OF 'LADY'S NOT FOR BURNING'

by Laura Gardner

A record crowd attended the year's first student production, Christopher Fry's wordy, poetic comedy, The Lady's not for Burning.

Director Noel Falkofski is to be congratulated on his excellent handling of a play which often has little or no audience appeal. Although whole speeches were lost in sloppy articulation, none of the audience appeared to be "lost" for very long.

THE COLORFUL costuming and space staging helped hold their attention. A fast pace in both lines and actions set the right mood for this story, that is full of unforgettable characters.

In his first romantic lead, Henri Elzinga, an experienced actor, was dashing and both impellingly evil and good as Thomas Mendip. Sometimes one felt that his exuberance led him to an over-We can see how the heartless, catlike, yet wistful and flirtatious Jennet, played expertly by Sara Garnett, might easily run off with him.

Alan Krause convincingly portrayed the "proper" old mayor who was torn between his duty and feelings.

THE OTHER MEMBERS of the cast, all freshmen, are to be commended on their first roles in college theatre.

Richard, played by Gregory Griffin, was properly serious and earnest. His love scene with Ramona Robelia, as Alizon, made up in feeling what was left to be desired in volume.

Occasionally, Alizon left the audience wondering what was taught young girls in convents. She appeared a little too worldly.

Jerry Smith, although far from use of bodily action. being type-cast, played the cad, Humphrey, with a manner that was entirely successful for interpreting this character.

Alex Romanowski gave impudence, fire, and dash to the character of Nicholas, as it demanded. At times when enthusiasm ran wild it was difficult to understand his words, but he was always fun to watch.

THE BOYS' MOTHER, Margaret, portrayed by Ora Fast, left no doubt in the minds of the audience about her certainty that little good would come of the younger generation.

The many sides of Tappercoo's personality were portrayed well by John Kestel.

Gerald Mielke, as Mathew Skippis, appeared to be hopelessly drunk as his mush-mouth speech and uninhibited actions told the crowd in an admirable fashion.

GAD BOOKS!—

of the people, based on the rule of the majority of equals. Liberalism is about HOW people should rule, and the liberal principles of respect for minorities, freedom of speech and religion, have nothing to do with the theory of democracy as such."

It is a simple fact of history that in the two most successful democracies, liberties were gotten before the idea of democratic government captured the popular imagination.

The point is, essentially, this, democratic peoples believe in the liberal idea that government should be by consent of the people—which is to say a tyranny of the majority is undemocratic and not a liberal idea.

This is why democracy is often not effective—why it often does not serve the best end of society: freedom—because the people who believe in it mix up the idea, "government by the majority" (which is often undemocratic) and "government by consent" (which is true democracy).

As I said, it is often expedient to combine the two, as was done when the British people were seeking parliamentary enfranchisement, and during early American history. It is also often expedient to separate the two, as during the early American states' rights question.

This can no longer be done—the democracies can no longer vacillate between "government by consent" and "government by the majority."

When fine shades of meaning like these make the difference between our repudiating or not repudiating what we think to be our beliefs, the time has come for us to clear up our thinking on the matter. When democracy comes to mean a tyranny of the majority, then it would seem to be the time for redefining what we believe freedom is.

Events no longer allow us to freely choose that which is expedient. The question we must ask ourselves is this: "What best serves the ends of the liberty that society must have?"
