Germany 'Vital' To Western World Says Metcalfe

Calling Germany "absolutely vital" to the Western World, John C. Metcalfe, noted journalist, said in an all-school convocation, Thursday, Sept. 27 that a military treaty between Russia and Germany would produce an unbeatable combination in time of war. He cautioned that we must remain alert to prevent any possibility of a deal between the two countries.

CONCENTRATING primarily on post-war Germany and her significance in current world affairs, Mr. Metcalfe said that "Our best friend in Germany, Chancellor Conrad Adenauer, has been steadily losing the support of the people."

In the address entitled "Where Are We Going," the journalist insisted that for the Western World's safety, we must "Tie Germany to the West socially and economically." He felt that there is room for modest optimism that Germany is realizing we have no aggressive intentions and that we are sincere in our efforts to help her.

He cited the State Department's stand that we have no intention of defending Western Europe without a German army as the type of action that must be taken in order to keep a strong Western alliance.

Mr. Metcalfe said the Soviet Union might negotiate a treaty that would give back to Germany her pre-war territories. In return for which, the Germans would have to abandon alliances with France, the United States and the remainder of the free world.

WARNING AGAINST complacency in the thought that pro-West Chancellor Adenauer has become a "little dictator," and that we need not worry about Germany breaking with the West because of this, Mr. Metcalfe posed the possibility that Conrad Adenauer may be defeated in the next election.

With the U. S. having approximately four and one-half billion dollars invested in Germany at present, he believes that the amount is justified even considering that we'll probably get only about one-half of it back, as long as they remain our allies. The new German army is to be five times as large as the one Hitler started with. According to Mr. Metcalfe, this would be a major factor in deterring Russian Aggression.

Debate Program to Open At 'Get Acquainted' Rally

Students interested in the River Falls debate program will have an opportunity to get acquainted at a debate rally Wednesday from 6 to 8 p.m. At the meeting, in the Social Room, they will hear a discussion by several faculty members of the place this activity has in the college. Coffee and doughnuts will be served during the evening.

In announcing the rally, Walter Simonson, faculty advisor to the debate group, stressed that the meeting is open to anyone with an interest in the activity whether or not he is on the squad or intends to join.

In addition to debate, the forensics program this year will include oratory, extemporaneous speaking, after-dinner speaking,

'HELP YOURSELF' IS NEW STUDENT GUIDE

Another step in a long-range program to aid students in using the library was concluded this week with publication of a guidebook.

ENTITLED "Help Yourself," the handbook prepared by Richard Cooklock, head librarian, and the Library Committee is now ready for distribution to the student body.

The 20-page booklet is designed to serve as a guide to the Chalmer Davee Library. It includes floor plans of the building, information on using the card catalog, details on locating books on the library shelves, and instruction in the use of periodical indexes, basic reference books and library services.

A sufficient number of the pamphlets was produced to enable every student to have a copy.

THE BOOK has been under consideration ever since the library opened two years ago, Mr. Cooklock said.

"Since many of our students have had little experience in using a library, it was felt the booklet would serve a real need," the head librarian said.

Comedy, 'Male Animal,' First Play of the Season

Football, academic freedom and literature, mixed with satire are involved in "The Male Animal," to be the first dramatic production for the season according to Dr. Blanche Davis, director. The cast of 13 for the comedy by James Thurber and Elliott Nugent was selected at tryouts held Tuesday, Sept. 25.

Playing the lead, Tommy Turner, an English professor, is Robert Hawley, sophomore from Neenah. Opposite Mr. Hawley in the woman's lead will be Carol Naiberg, sophomore from Cadott, who is cast as Ellen Turner, his wife.

Produced by Alpha Psi Omega, the comedy embodies the usual football romances and a conflict that develops between the Eng-

Football, Banquet On Program for Annual Dad's Day

The annual all-school Dad's Day giving parents a chance to get acquainted with campus life and attend special functions in their honor is set for Saturday, Oct. 6. Preceded by a banquet and coffee hour, the usual highpoint of the day for dads is a football game, this year with the Superior Yellowjackets.

In conjunction with the regularly scheduled program for Dad's Day, the Social Committee is trying to make this an "all-school weekend," according to Glen Sandve, chairman. Hoping to encourage students from going home and instead, invite their parents here, the Social Committee has proposed an informal program of activities including bowling, softball, tennis, ping pong, and card games to be organized from the Student Activity Center on Saturday and Sunday.

Beginning at 4 p.m., registration for the Dads will be in South Hall's Student Center. A TV and coffee hour, followed by student-conducted tours of the campus, is scheduled for 4:30 p.m. in the Activity Center.

Before moving out to Ramer Field for the next part of Dad's Day, a banquet for students and their parents will be held in the cafeteria. With roast beef on the menu, the price for the meal is $1.50.

Preceding the kickoff at 8 p.m., fathers of the team members will be introduced. A post-game snack and quarterbacking session is set for 10 p.m. in the Social Room.

With the Falconaires providing the music, a free all-school dance sponsored by the Social Committee is to be Saturday in the North Hall gym. Scheduled to start shortly after the football game is over, the dance will be strictly informal.

Dick Schultz, president of the Student Senate, urges all students to invite their Dads as soon as possible. He stressed the fact that both the Moms and Dads of students are welcome.

A sheet will be placed in the cafeteria for students to sign if they expect either or both of their parents to attend the event. Mr. Schultz said that it is necessary to know how many to expect in order that reservations can be made for the banquet.

The production dates have been set for Friday and Saturday, Nov. 1-2 in the Little Theatre.

The Editor Speaks . . .

Does "freshman initiation" teach first year students to act like upper classmen or does it allow upper classmen to act like freshmen? Is the energy spent in "kangaroo court" and the like wasted? Couldn't it be directed more fruitfully into other channels?

These are questions that occurred to us as a result of the annual "beanie donning, face painting, and sign wearing."

We've concluded that the reasonably mild form of foolishness indulged in here probably isn't harmful—nothing that compares with the "hell week" activities on the campuses of some schools. On the other hand, it doesn't seem to do anyone much good.

Apparently the idea was instituted here and elsewhere as a means of unifying a freshman class, establishing discipline, and training leaders. The idea proved most popular at military academies (which River Falls fortunately is not) and at colleges where students who had come to vacation at father's expense (which ditto) sought ways of amusement.

Perhaps a college like this one could begin a tradition of doing something useful as an initiation to college life. We already have a precedent in "Rec Day." Maybe that's not the answer and perhaps both freshmen and upper classmen like the present system. We'd like to hear what others think.

AROUND THE CAMPUS

"A group of 16 responsive and enthusiastic men turned out for the rehearsal," Mr. Jadinak said, "so we will continue to meet each Tuesday at 1 p.m."

According to the director, there is a shortage of tenors, but openings remain in all sections. Any men interested in singing with the group can contact Mr. Jadinak in 213N. This includes all persons who cannot meet at the scheduled time.

SKI CLUB

The Sitzmarkers Ski Club will hold its first meeting of the year in room 235 of the library Tuesday, Oct. 2 at 8 p.m. Regular meetings of the group will be on the first and third Tuesday of each month.

A "sleepless" slumber party for all off-campus women is being sponsored by Hathorn Hall Saturday, Oct. 6. Scheduled to be held following the all-school dance on the night of River Falls' Dad's Day game with Superior, the party is designed to acquaint women living off-campus with the recreational facilities at the dorm.

According to Verlyns Hicok, chairman, "No one ever sleeps at slumber parties." With the emphasis on casualness, Miss Hicok said the party will start with refreshments served after the dance. A breakfast is planned for the next morning.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

by Dick Bibler

"SAY DIDJA NOTICE THAT NEW CHICK SERVING TH' DESERTS?"

GAD BOOKS!

by Wm. Hagestad

There is a whole raft of adjectives with which I might convey my impressions of Samuel Beckett's latest novel, Malone Dies (Grove Press, $1.25). But this wouldn't be accomplishing very much in any direction. This is one of those rare, intriguing books, like James Joyce's Finnegan's Wake, in which the author ignores the idea of a plot, character definition and movement—one of those books in which the author "... pushes ... art to the edge of nothingness," in the words of William Barrett. Samuel Beckett is not extreme in those respects, though to a degree he does debunk plot, ignore movement and "push his art to the edge of nothingness."

THERE HAS NOT been much of this sort of literature written—this more or less hybrid "stream of consciousness"-type literature—and so comparison here, of "degree" in the manner I speak of it, is somewhat pointless and premature.

Beckett's style or technique is, perhaps, the key for getting at the man's work. This is not one of those books that you "evaluate"—that you reach an understanding of through a consideration of the book's events and incidents—you do not read Samuel Beckett's books this way. His manner of writing prohibits this, whether intentionally or not. I don't know. The point is this: author Beckett's style compels you to read his book in the sympathy in which he wrote it; and this is the only way one can successfully read material like Malone Dies.

THE NOVEL concerns a man who is dying. You don't know who he is or what he has done in his life and you don't know of what he is dying. He is simply dying and occupies himself while doing so by telling himself some stories. There is little traditional coherence to these tales and part-tales; all of what we would call "extraneous material" is left out. Malone Dies contains only relevant material—that is the overwhelming impression the book gives.

Author Beckett has tried here to discover the relationship of Malone and the characters in his stories to reality. I think. He goes about these attempts at discovery using his style and technique. This book is unique because of the dual purpose served by its style: first, it binds the reader in sympathy to the book; and second, he uses his technique as a means of discovery.

IT IS INCONCLUSIVE how successful author Beckett is in his attempts at discovering his characters' relationship to reality, but it is a very interesting experience to follow the process. Samuel Beckett's craft is a studied one: he shears off all possible impediments to discovery and writes a very intriguing story.

The thing that Beckett has done on the pages of Malone Dies is a thing that everybody does to a degree every day: that is, to try to discover his place in events—in the rapidly-moving and sometimes morbid (as in Malone Dies) scheme of things.

Letters to the Editor...

To the Editor:

We have on this campus a hardy group of skiers. In 1951 this group formed a club known as the Sitzmarkers, who's purpose was to further the cause of skiing as a recreational sport in this area.

Being one of the most informal and flexible clubs, it is dedicated to having fun on the snow. However, the Sitzmarkers have one great need. We need members. Many of our members have transferred or graduated leaving the ranks quite depleted.

All that is needed to join is a desire to ski. Persons interested need not be experts. Most of the equipment needed can be rented at the ski areas; boots, poles, skis, etc. Each year the Sitzmarkers take a number of trips to various skiing resorts.

Last year, the tours included a week at Winter Park and Berthod Pass in Colorado; a weekend at Mount Telemark in Cabell, and numerous trips to Trollhagen, Deepwood and others. The ski club has its own skiing area with a tow. It is located approximately a mile west of River Falls.

The Sitzmarkers usually have charge of organizing outdoor activities during Winter Carnival. Most of the events are held at the club's ski area.

Club meetings are held the first and third Tuesday of each month at 8 p.m. in room 235 of the Library. The first meeting of the year is to be held Tuesday, Oct. 2. The Sitzmarkers will do their best to teach anyone interested in skiing who lacks experience. Here's a chance to join a wonderful club. The Sitzmarkers need you!

The news that's goin' round?

Falcons Win Third Straight, 41-12; Stout's Main Offense in Air

by K-Don Tibbetts

River Falls smothered Stout, 41-12, Saturday night at Menomonie for their third straight victory of the season. The Falcons at times ragged on pass defense, again proved that they have a strong line. Stout, held to only 93 yards on the ground, was constantly pressed by Falcon ends Kraft, Shield and Neurer.

River Falls' forward wall composed of Sletten and Shimi at guards and Guberman and Koplin at tackles, with Hanson ably substituting, rarely let a runner through all evening. Wunrow and DiSalvo made a fine showing as line-backers.

STOUT RECEIVED the opening kick-off and marched to the 50-yard line where they lost the ball on downs. Eight plays later Darrel Johnson crashed across from the one. Steffen's kick was good and RF had an early 7-0 lead.

Stout returned the ball to the 34. Romoser lost three yards and Cheke's pass was incomplete. On his next attempt, Cheke completed to Romoser for 64 yards and a touchdown. Christianson's try was wide and the score stood River Falls 7—Stout, 6.

AFTER AN EXCHANGE of punts, RF took over on Stout's 33-yard line. Steffen carried for a yard and Johnson picked up six. DiSalvo bullied his way for six more and a first down. Johnson's carry was good for eight yards, but a holding penalty set the Falcons back to the 19. Two Falcon passes fell incomplete before Johnson, on a fourth down reverse play, pulled the Stout defense over and fired a pass to Steffen who was open on the right side. Steffen loped across for the TD and added the extra point to make the score RF, 14—Stout, 6.

The Bluedevils were forced to punt on the next series and the Falcons took over on their own 27. From there they marched to the three before they were finally stopped.

THREE PLAYS LATER Hanson recovered a fumble on the 11. On the first play Rutter passed to Kraft for another TD. The kick was again good and at half-time Falcons led, 21-6.

In the second half, River Falls punted twice and Stout once, before the Bluedevils got another drive going. Stout had second down on the River Falls 15 when Rutter intercepted a pass and returned it to the 44. A 22-yard run by Sprenger and a 25-yard pass from Rutter to Kraft highlighted the drive to the one where DiSalvo plowed across for the touchdown. Steffen's kick was good and the Falcons led, 28-6.

AGAIN STOUT was forced to punt after third down. River Falls returned to the 49. Four plays later Steffen scampered 21 yards for the fifth River Falls TD, but the kick was missed.

A few minutes later Jack Neurer pulled the most outstanding play of the entire game. The Stout quarterback pitched out to his halfback going around end but Neurer cut between them, intercepting and running the ball 70 yards for a touchdown. Simon's try was good and Stout trailed 41-6.

Stout returned to the 48. Cheke climaxed the drive by passing six yards to Wicklund for the final TD of the game. Cheke's try for extra point was wide and the final score read, River Falls, 41—Stout, 12.

STEFFEN was the leading ground gainer with 127 yards in 21 carries. He also completed one out of three passes for 30 yards for a net total of 157 yards. Johnson was next with 39, DiSalvo made 28 and Sprenger netted 26.

DiSalvo carried the ball only seven times, but his blocking in the backfield and down field was directly responsible for much of the Falcons' yardage. Rutter called another fine game and Johnson continued his steady play at right half. Steffen's statistics speak for themselves.

Superior to Visit For 'Dad's' Game

by Rog Gundlach

In a Dad's Day game Saturday, Oct. 6, the River Falls Falcons will host the Superior Yellowjackets, a team which showed a lot of power in trouncing Oshkosh a week ago, 31-0. A crowd of approximately 2,000 persons witnessed last year's game honoring the fathers of the members of the 1955 Falcon squad when RF edged out a 7-6 victory over the Oshkosh Titans.

LAST YEAR, the 'Jackets suffered a 47-0 drubbing here in River Falls' Homecoming game. The score represented the highest point total compiled by any team in 30 years of conference play.

SSC is counting heavily on returning experienced players who lost their eligibility last year due to transfer regulations, the armed forces or other conference regulations. Coach Americo Mortorelli hopes these veterans will bolster his team which finished last year's season tied with Stout for eighth place, each team having a record of no conference wins, four losses and one tie.

IN THE BACKFIELD, Jack Stark, a freshman standout, will be competing for the quarterback slot, and Bob Wiinamaki, a 1954 numeral winner, eligible once again this year, is trying for the fullback position.

However, the nucleus of the team consists of 21 returning lettermen and numeral winners. Among them are ends Charles Supercynski, Gene Burbey, Ted Erspamer, Roger Moe and Joe Tano; tackle Donald Barnabo; guards George Wastila, John Kairnsky, Jim Sheridan and Alroy Mersinick; centers Bob Frazer and John Koepf; quarterbacks Jim Cowman and Douglas Bibler; halfbacks George St. Catherine, Lyle Smith, Ken Jardino, Larry Lindholm, Bill Benedict and Dennis Smith; and fullback Don Anderson.

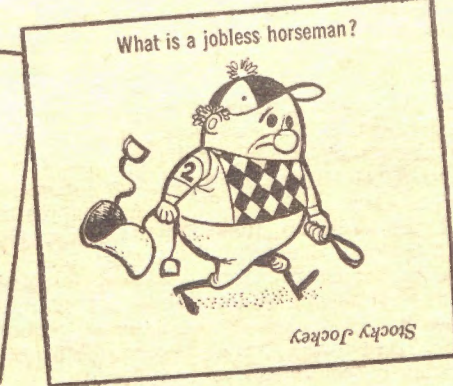

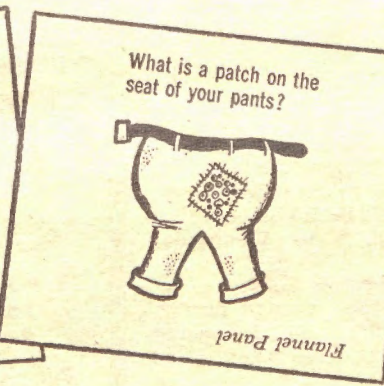

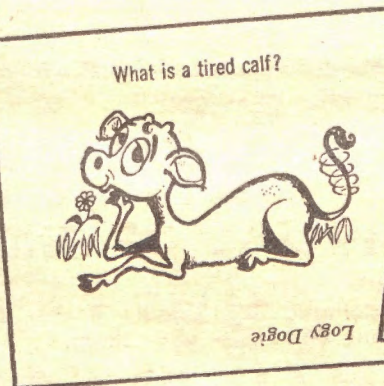

Game time is 8 p.m. at Ramer Field.

Concert and Lecture Group Announces Convocation Schedule for School Year

Designed to stimulate interest in entertainment forms not normally encountered "live," and to supplement the formal academic education offered at college, a variety of convocations will be offered the student body this year.

Sponsored by funds from student activity tickets, the series is planned by a faculty-student Concert and Lecture Committee appointed by the Student Senate. The Tamburitzans and John C. Metcalfe, journalist and lecturer, were the first two programs of this year's series.

NOTED FOR her authentic and individual style, Grace Creswell, contralto folk singer from Tennessee, will be featured in the next convocation Wednesday, Nov. 7.

A quintette of professional actors from TV and the Broadway stage will do four one-act plays for an evening program, December 11. The group is called Actor's Holiday. Their selections include The Boor by Chekhov and The Stranger by Strindberg.

George Fielding Elliot, a nationally known columnist and analyst of military affairs, will speak on defense Jan. 10. Mr. Fielding has written a number of books and magazine articles on international and military problems. He is currently using his historical background for a fiction series.

A COMBINATION of dances and a seeing-doing demonstration will be the convocation offered by the Munt-Brooks Dance Company. Their style of dance is a creative approach to modern dance.

In addition to these, the Concert and Lecture Committee plans to have another concert program and several lecturers. Walter J. Engler stated that a series of films will also be presented. Full-length feature films on the subjects of art, travel and music will be shown in the Little Theater.

STUDENTS UNDER 'WAR ORPHAN' SCHOOL ACT ARE URGED TO FILE APPLICATIONS NOW

Dr. Davis to Attend Meeting at Marquette

Dr. Blanche Davis of the speech department will attend a meeting at Marquette University Oct. 3 when teachers of fundamental speech courses from all colleges in the state will discuss problems related to their work.

The meeting at Milwaukee was planned last year to permit those in speech teaching both in private and state colleges to seek ways of improving the fundamental course in their subject.

Children of deceased veterans planning to attend college this year under the new "War Orphans" Education Law, P.L. 634, are urged by the Veterans administration to file their applications as soon as possible. By doing so, students can avoid unnecessary delays in receiving their first monthly allowance check.

Application forms are now available in all VA offices.

Those eligible for schooling are young men and women whose veteran-parent died of injuries or diseases resulting from military service during World War I, World War II, or the Korean Conflict. Students generally must be between 18 and 23 years old. In some cases however, exceptions are made to the rule permitting persons to start at a younger age or finish when they are older.

Music Notes

by Glen Sandve

The Falconaires, a modern dance band organized by students, has been rehearsing the past two weeks for on and off-campus engagements during the coming year.

The band, under the direction of Tom Forthun, a sophomore majoring in music, from Spring Valley, consists of eight pieces. Included are: Tom Forthun, Lorraine Jacobson and Judy Larreau, playing saxophone; John Kirk and Glen Sandve on trumpet; Harry Elzinga playing piano; Bud Berquist at the drums; and Jerry Olson playing string bass. He will also act as business manager of the group.

The first appearance of the Falconaires this year at the college will be Saturday, Oct. 3 in the North Hall gym. They will play for a dance scheduled to follow the Dad's Day game with Superior.

Planning to make their first showing of the season at the Superior game, the Falconettes marching band has been practicing since the second week of school.

The girls' band, believed to be the only one of its kind in the state, sounds much stronger and fuller than last year. Plans are already underway for a trip to the game with Eau Claire Saturday, October 13, by the group.

Student Senate Minutes

With President Dick Schultz presiding, the last meeting of the Student Senate was held in the Senate office Monday, Sept. 24.
