Marriage Counselor to Open Conference Tuesday Evening

The first all-school marriage conference, co-sponsored by the Student Senate and A.W.S., will be Jan. 27-28 at 7 p.m. in Stratton Hall.

Mrs. Georgia Marks, social case worker for the Family Service Agency in St. Paul, will highlight the Tuesday evening session.

Mrs. Marks, an experienced marriage counselor and speaker, is a graduate of Superior State College. Her topic "Looking Toward Marriage," is based on typical pre-marital problems such as dating, the engagement, and choosing the "right" partner.

Wednesday night's problem will feature a panel discussion on problems often encountered during the first year of marriage. Panel members, all of River Falls, include Jack Davison, attorney; F. O. Grassl, M.D.; Ramon Runkel, associate pastor of the Lutheran House of Worship; and Rev. Joseph Higgins, pastor of St. Bridget's Catholic Church.

The programs are open to all students, and there will be an opportunity for student discussion at each session.

College Receives Grants For Union, Scholarships

Grants totaling $5,000 were given the college by the Board of Directors of the River Falls State College Foundation at its semi-annual meeting Tuesday, Jan. 20.

A $3,000 grant was approved to be used in the Student Union Building now under construction. The building is to be completed by May 1 and will be ready for use this summer.

Federal Loan Fund

A grant of $2,000 was set aside as a matching-fund for a Federal loan program for college students. The Federal program requires that the college supply $100 of each $1,000 in the loan fund. The action of the Foundation board would permit the college to have up to $20,000 available in this program.

In other action, the board approved a proposal to change the alumni publication, Falcon Features, to magazine form. The publication was established in 1951 as a quarterly newspaper. Beginning with the March issue, it will appear as an eight-page magazine carrying feature stories on the college and its alumni, as well as the usual alumni news.

Committeemen Named

Dr. Melvin Wall, chairman of the Faculty Development Committee presented an organizational plan to establish closer ties between the Foundation Board and the various committees working on development.

As a result, Pres. E. P. Rock appointed the following board members to committees: Elmer Benson, River Falls, Institutional Planning; Mrs. Ruby McLaughlin, River Falls, Alumni Relations; Oliver Youngren, River Falls, Student Relations; Carroll Brown, Stillwater, Public Relations; Louis Daniel, Luck, Foundation-Business and Industrial Relations, and Robert Knowles, New Richmond, and John Davison, River Falls, Sustaining Associates. Mr. Rick will serve on the Development Committee.

Auction Top Money-Maker for Foundation

Approximately $250 was raised in the annual Foundation Week activities reported the Foundation week committee headed by Dean Loree. The largest single amount came from the auction Tuesday evening with a total of $200.

The use of Mr. Thoreson's two canoes sold for $11.25 and a fishing trip contributed by Mr. Kettelkamp sold for $11, the highest single bids.

Auctioneers Ed Schlumpf and Dave Olson said that food was the popular item, with a wide assortment of cakes, cookies, candy, and pie available. Individual cake pieces from a cake given by the Wilber and Theone Larson were purchased for 55c each, bringing in a total of $5.50. As a bonus, fifty-cent pieces were placed under two of the pieces. Pizza, spaghetti, and steak suppers also went on sale.

A room in Hathorn Hall for one night, two blind dates, psychology tests from Dr. Harris, two batons from Dr. Abbott, and a golf game and lesson from Mr. Setterquist were sold by the auctioneers.

GOVERNMENT CLASS PLANNING TRIP TO OBSERVE LAWMAKERS

Members of the State and Local Government class taught by Dr. Robert L. Berg will travel to St. Paul Wednesday to watch the Minnesota legislature in action. They plan to visit sessions of both the House and Senate and hope to attend a committee hearing.

The group will make a tour of the administrative offices, court chambers and as a follow-up will attend a state or federal court session.

They will leave at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday by chartered bus and plan to return at 5 p.m. There are 25 members in the class.

The Editor Speaks . . .

H. A. Overstreet has said in his book, The Great Enterprise, "If love casts out fear, hate engenders fear. So the hate-psychology of Communism has turned the normal friendliness of many men of decent good will into the suspicion and of men who begin to look for a Communist under every bed."

This quotation is very appropriate when applied to the National Defense Education act of 1958, which provides 826 million dollars for federal support for education in the next four years. Included in the act is a "loyalty oath" which was added to the bill by voice vote during the closing hours of debate last year.

The loyalty oath, originally proposed by Senator Karl Mundt (R., S.D.), states: "No . . . funds . . . shall be used to make payments or loans to any individual unless such individual has executed and filed with the commissioner (of education) an affidavit that he does not believe in, and is not a member of and does not support any organization that believes in or teaches the overthrow of the United States government by violence or by any illegal or unconstitutional methods . . ."

Is this oath effective, and is it constitutional? This we question. The oath, we feel, would be pointless — defeating its purpose. The most willing and eager to sign the oath would be those affiliated with subversive organizations. Not everyone who proclaims himself to be anti-Communist proves himself to be pro-democratic.

The American Association of University Professors, in a letter to members of the congressional committees that handled the bill, said: "The act seems to say to members of the educational community: 'You are an important part of American life and you have an admitted real need, but let there be no mistake about the fact that you are a particularly suspect part of the population and will have to pass special test . . .'"

One of the principles which is basic to our democracy, and which currently stands as a prime mark that distinguishes our way of life from the Communist way is this: that a man's political and religious views are his private rights. As long as he performs no acts counter to our laws, he should expect to be protected in these rights. It appears to us that this-loyalty oath is directly opposed to this principle.

Dr. J. H. Hildebrand of the University of California said about the effects of a special loyalty oath imposed on the University's faculty, "No conceivable damage to the University at the hands of hypothetical Communists among us could have equalled the damage resulting from the unrest, ill-will, and suspicion engendered by this series of events." The men of the governing board of the University so feared Communism that they adopted its chief tenet as their own: a compelled declaration of conformity. The loyalty oath in the education bill would result in this same compelled conformity of students.

A large number of students could be served by this bill in the next four years. Most colleges have policies to admit law-abiding students who have the qualifications to do college work. Doesn't this seem to be enough to qualify students for these loans? Is it in the public interest to prevent needy students with leftist leanings from being able to attend college? As the chancellor of the University of Chicago said, "If we did, how would they ever learn better?"

Unconsciously, by being afraid of Communism, we are fostering it in our own country. Let's forget about the Communists and concern ourselves with democracy. Not how we can get rid of Communism, but how we can build a democracy should be the question at hand.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"BETTER LEAVE HIM ALONE — HE'S LOOKING FOR THREE MORE WORDS TO FINISH A 10,000 WORD THEME."

GAD BOOKS!

by William Hagestad

All of us are more or less interested in eccentric people — "characters." Eccentric behavior is distinctive and different, it commands attention and we notice it. Anyone who cuts a caper has an audience.

If you are truly a connoisseur of eccentric behavior, a recent book of fiction should interest you greatly. This book, The Clap of Silent Thunder (Random House, $3.50) by Peter DePolnay, is a veritable catalog of eccentricities.

The setting of The Clap of Silent Thunder is a small Spanish town, "The Port." Benthurst, a wealthy Englishman, is the book's protagonist; he and his pretty daughter, Antonia, are touring Europe in their Rolls-Royce, which is driven by Morris, Benthurst's chauffeur. They come to "The Port" in their travels, Benthurst likes the place and rents a villa there.

Entirely out of the blue, Benthurst decides to engage in smuggling. He says,

"Financially, I am not interested in smuggling, but I believe smugglers are the last free people left in our shackled world, for they fight against authority."

Here we have the first glimmer of Benthurst's eccentricity. Later, we see just how great an eccentric this man is; he seems to have it bad,

"You see . . . I am an anarchist of sorts, not against crowned heads, nor against governments but against the dull formula according to which we must live nowadays."

Benthurst's life in "The Port" and his smuggling activities throw him into contact with other eccentrics: Trevor, a broken-down Englishman who thinks he is Don Quixote and who wears a spit of armor; Don Alonso, a mad municipal officer; and, Pepito, who is interested in "Business" (which to him is any sort of deal that will get him "porcelain," i.e., money.)

Hard blows begin to fall on Benthurst almost from the beginning. The smugglers in his employ are caught and in a humiliating scene he is made to forsake his plans (which include running contraband cigarettes into Spain from Morocco.) His daughter, Antonia, whom he loves and upon whom he depends, falls in love with Pepito, and they run off and get married. Morris threatens to leave him (for he was staying only because he loved Antonia, too), and he has a duel with Don Alonso (grotesquely monitored by the armor-suited Trevor.)

Benthurst is broken and begins to think about his life; in numerous flashbacks, he dwells on former, happier days. In these soliloquies, we see that Benthurst was once a painter, poor and starving in Paris — but painting nonetheless, and happily married, to Stella (who, in the story, is dead.)

Here, it is seen that one of Benthurst's uncles, a fabulously wealthy man, has left Benthurst one hundred and fifty thousand pounds — on the condition that he will forsake Paris and painting. The rent is due, he and Stella are hungry, the gas bill is unpaid — so he takes the money. Benthurst's eccentricity dates from this point; it is here that he begins his pointless travels, his smuggling, and his great affection for his and Stella's child, Antonia.

These reflections of Benthurst's preface the book's hasty and altogether bad ending. Antonia and Pepito return from their honeymoon, Benthurst is persuaded (by an old friend, whom he meets coincidentally in "The Port") to renounce the inheritance and go back to painting, all suspicion is raised from Trevor (who may thenceforth wear his suit of armor during the day as well as at night), and Don Alonso is pacified. All wind up happily in "The Port" under the hot Spanish sun.

This story about the eccentric Benthurst is one that isn't as far fetched as first appearances would indicate. If we put The Clap of Silent Thunder on the stove and boil it awhile, we will, I think, produce something more solid than what the rather pale surface of the book promises. A key to the heart of the book, which we are after here, is found, it seems, in a statement which Benthurst makes well toward the end of the story. Here, he is depressed and hung-over; he has lost his daughter to Pepito and he is very sad. He says,

"So here it is . . . I have sacrificed my art to the gas bill, and thus my life."

To the editor:

I wish to take this opportunity to thank publicly those students who helped with the River Falls State College "B" Debate Tournament Saturday, January 17.

Many were shanghaied into service against their better judgment, but all were prompt, courteous and most efficient. Through their efforts, the conference closed on time. I have received several letters from visiting faculty members complimenting me on their work.

Bishop Will Dedicate Newman Center Chapel

Bishop Joseph Annabring of Superior will dedicate the newly-constructed Newman Club Chapel on Sunday, Feb. 4, at 4 p.m.

Work on the chapel was begun this fall and was completed last week. The architectural drawings were made by Consolidated Lumber Co. and a local contractor did the exterior construction on the chapel. Members of the Newman Club completed the inside work.

Funds for the chapel were raised through student pledges and donations. Bishop Annabring donated $500 to make early construction possible. The name of the chapel, chosen by Bishop Annabring, will be announced at the dedication ceremonies.

The chapel, which was built onto the Newman Center, will enable students to attend daily rosary and devotions, frequent Mass and other services. The club choir will also use the chapel for practice. The original building was obtained by the club a year ago, through funds raised by student and alumni pledges.

Following the dedication ceremony, at which the choir will sing, the annual Cardinal Newman Banquet will be held at St. Bridget's Parish Hall. Bishop Annabring will be the main speaker at the banquet, which will be followed by dancing.

New Econ Club Elects Durning as President

feelings as to its worth. Final decision will be left up to the Senate.

The possibility of having a dress-up night each week in the cafeteria was discussed. Vice-President Larson reported that Mr. Fleischauer is in favor of the idea and will cooperate in every respect. A Senate committee is looking into the matter.

The skating rink will be constructed on the tennis courts as soon as there is sufficient snow to pack a bank around the area.

Vice-President Larson announced the selection of Pat Lind, Chuck Norelius and Ed Pronschinske to the Board of Governors for the new Student Union.

It was suggested that the letters and key for the bulletin board between the Library and South Hall be left at the desk in the Library, so any organization sponsoring an all-school event could have access and put up an announcement. After considerable discussion, the Senate will consider having presidents file all-school events with the Senate by their Monday evening meeting time.

Larry Peterson, representing the Senior Class, asked about the possibility of having the Library open longer hours on weekends. He will take his request to Mr. Cooklock.

Next Convocation to Feature Composer Nicholas Slonimsky

SENATE DONATES $25 TO EDUCATION GROUP

Last Monday the Student Senate voted to send $25 to a newly-established organization called REACH — Re-establish Education At Clinton (Tenn.) High.

Founded by students at Temple University in Philadelphia, the drive hopes to show organized support of integration offered by United States college and university persons. Adult sponsors of the move include Harold E. Stassen and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt.

"We feel that this is our chance to actively support the ideals we are continually expressing," said Secretary Jim Laue, representing the Senate, last week. "The success of such a drive will also serve as a reminder to other nations that elements supporting human equality have not been over-run by segregationists in the United States," he concluded.

A Russian-born composer and conductor, Nicholas Slonimsky, will address the student body in an all-school convocation Tuesday, Feb. 3. The convocation will be at 10 a.m. in North Hall Auditorium.

Mr. Slonimsky is noted for his talents as a pianist, lecturer, and author. He has written Music Since 1900, The Road to Music, Music of Latin America, and several others.

As a pianist, Mr. Slonimsky studied with his aunt, the famous Isabelle Vengerova. As a composer, he studied at the St. Petersburg Conservatory, but soon developed his own system of composition.

Mr. Slonimsky has led major European and American orchestras in programs of modern American music. He has lectured in many Latin American countries, as well as in the United States.

At the present time, Mr. Slonimsky is editor-in-chief of the International Encyclopedia of Music and Musicians and of the Fifth Edition of Baker's Biographical Dictionary of Musicians. Last year he was appointed a member of the Advisory Editorial Board of the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Starting Salaries Zoom For WSC Teaching Grads

Average salaries zoomed upward again this year for beginning teachers who graduated from the Wisconsin state colleges. Men are being paid $4,312 on their first job and women are receiving $3,865.

The college Regents reported this week that the increase over last year's salaries was $283 for men and $202 for women. The salary study is based on 1,211 graduates available for teaching positions of whom 1,174 were placed.

Ninety-seven per cent of the graduates found jobs. Most of the unsuccessful job-seekers were men looking for a high school teaching position in a field of over-supply.

Highest salaries went to men taking elementary school teaching positions at an average of $4,452. Lowest salaries went to women taking rural elementary school positions at a $3,083 average.

In the past five years the starting salary for teacher-graduates of the state colleges has increased more than $1,000. In 1953 the colleges reported an average beginning salary of $3,150. Present over-all average is $4,183. Both averages exclude the non-degree rural teachers. Salaries for beginning rural teachers have increased $500 during the five-year period.

The Regents reported that elementary teachers were paid $4,452 for men and $4,003 for women. High school teachers received $4,190 for men and $4,023 for women. In the special fields of home economics, vocational agriculture, industrial arts, business education, conservation, and physical education men received average salaries of $4,375; women were paid $4,059.

In accepting the inheritance his uncle left him, and agreeing never to paint again, Benthurst chucked all chances of ever doing anything on his own energy and from his own will.

In the thing he says (noted above), he knows this is true, he has sacrificed his life. And knowing this is a greater blow to him than the loss of his daughter; her marriage to Pepito simply prepared him for his fall.

Benthurst did the expedient, easy thing. And this jinxed him until he discovered what he had done. He was, it seems, vaguely aware of this throughout the story, but he never defined it. Here seems to lie the reason for Benthurst's eccentricity. Being unable to act entirely on his own volition, he spent his energy in pointless and ridiculous behavior. Benthurst is a spirited and energetic character; until he got squared around, he wasted that part of himself.

In these respects De Polnay has not done a great deal with Benthurst in The Clap of Silent Thunder: The book is light, frivolous and serious only when the story demands it.

But when Benthurst is looked at in the way we have above, his story becomes logical, somewhat more meaningful than it purports to be — and Benthurst's magnificent eccentricity comes to have good cause behind it.

Girls Scheme! AWS Chooses Dream Theme

"Marshmallow World" has been picked as the theme of the annual AWS Valentine Formal, Friday, Feb. 6.

This is the one event of the year when the fellows take the back seat and let the girls extend the invitations and pay the bills with the exception of flowers and transportation.

Dancing in a "Marshmallow World" will begin at 9 p.m. in Hathorn Hall Lounge to the music of the Falconaires. The dance will last until 1 a.m.

The reigning King and Queen of the evening will be crowned after the random drawing of ticket stubs.

Tickets will be sold in the cafeteria at $1.25 a couple the week preceding the formal. Co-chairwomen for the event are Marjorie Wallen and Marilyn Gullickson.

Crowned last year at the "Let Me Call You Sweetheart Dance" were King Rolfe Rodlund from Menomonie and Queen Corrine Hribar of Park Falls.

St. John's Chorus Sets R F Concert For February 4

St. John's Men's Chorus of St. John's University at Collegeville, Minn., will make its second concert appearance at River Falls on Wednesday, Feb. 4. The program will be at 8 p.m. in North Hall Auditorium.

Co-sponsors for the 36-voice chorus which performed at the college two years ago will be the Newman Club and St. Bridget's Guild.

Director of the chorus is Bernhard Track, who for the past five years directed the world-famous Vienna Boys' Choir. As a child, Mr. Track was a member of this group, and later attended the Vienna Music Academy and the Vienna Teachers' Training College. His ability as a conductor has been praised by many of the nation's leading critics.

The program to be presented by the chorus is divided into four parts. The first section will include early church music, the second will be secular song. Part three will feature famous opera choruses, and the fourth part will include music from various countries.

Tickets for the concert are available from members of the Newman Club and St. Bridget's Guild. They will be sold in the cafeteria and at the door.

WISCONSIN REGENTS RELEASE RESULTS OF SCHOLARSHIP POLL

Two-thirds of the freshman scholarship students at Wisconsin state colleges come from a farm or small town and plan to be teachers, the college Regents reported this month on a study of 809 of the legislative scholarship winners.

The 507 girls and 302 boys range in age from 17 to 22, were often class or club president in high school, and 200 of them were either valedictorians or salutatorians of their graduating classes. They were most active in high school in music, publications, drama, and athletics in that order. Their favorite subject was mathematics, followed closely by science. But they consider English more useful now in college.

The wardrobes of the high-ranking young college students are not over-stocked. Boys most often own only one suit; only four are lucky enough to own more than three. Girls own on the average 10 skirts, with one fortunate girl owning 35. Only two boys own tuxedos; most of the girls own one or two formal gowns.

The Regents' study found that almost half of the freshman students' fathers had no more than an eighth grade education. Their mothers were, generally, better educated with 61 per cent at least high school graduates. Both parents were more often responsible for guiding their children toward college than any other person.

Frosh Rack RF City Team

Charlie Johnson poured in 34 points Saturday night as the college freshman squad whipped the River Falls City team 82-69 to run their record to 4-1. The victory avenged an earlier last-second defeat.

Holding on a slim two-point margin at half time 44-42 the young Falcons came alive at the start of the second half. Holding the City team to a single bucket Charlie Johnson and Jack Jenson combined to up the lead to 60-44.

The Frosh continued to put the pressure on and took a 20-point advantage, 76-56, with seven minutes remaining. Slim Chelberg made it 78-56 before the City team started to rally.

Jerry Carter dropped in three free throws and Dan Corcoran added a bucket to cut the lead to 78-63. With time running out and the Falcons playing a control game the City team sliced the margin to 78-69. Johnson scored on a tip-in and Jenson hit from the outside to finish up the scoring.

The City team was paced by Dan Corcoran's 17 points followed closely by Neil Christenson with 16 and Jerry Carter 14. Johnson racked up 22 of his 34 point total in the wild first half. Jack Jenson and Slim Chelberg also hit double figures with 14 and 12 respectively.

Falcons Stun Indians For First WSC Victory

Consistent shooting from the field and an outstanding individual performance by Manley Olson enabled the Falcons to upset the highly touted Indians from La Crosse 83-77 Saturday night.

River Falls hit on 14 of 32 field goal attempts the first half and followed it up with 13 of 31 in the final 20 minutes for an encouraging 42.8 per cent. Six foot, eight-inch Manley Olson enjoyed his finest night of his career, scoring 37 points and grabbing 11 offensive, 9 defensive rebounds.

Surprise starter Rock Hanson shot the Falcons into an early 10-4 lead hitting on two buckets and two free throws before drawing his third personal. La Crosse trailing 25-17 shook off their fridity and scored nine straight points to take the lead at 26-25 with 5:10 remaining in the first half. Coach Page's boys played the "five little Indians" on even-terms the final five minutes to gain a 38-38 half time tie.

La Crosse hitting on five gift-ers took the lead at 43-38 and held their slim margin for the next 12 minutes. Manley Olson then scored on a drive-in to put the Falcons within one point, 61-60. Gar Ammerman sank two free throws to push the lead to three points. Olson came storming back and scored on a beautiful hook shot, a drive-in and a free throw to give River Falls the hard-fought-for lead at 65-63 with 7:10 remaining in the game. Bob Halaska hitting from way out tied it up 65-65. Mick Collins matched buckets to again knot the score before Olson sank two from the foul line to give the 'Falls quintet a 69-67 lead.

Bob Brunette cashed in on a fast break and Olson added two more free throws and a bucket from under the nets to rocket the Falcons out in front by six precious points with 3:30 left.

The Falcons took a ten point lead, 81-71, with a minute and a half remaining as Olson, Brunette and Collins each hit twice from the foul line with the Indians managing only two gift-ers by Gene Breiling. Gar Ammerman closed the gap to 81-73 hitting on two free throws, his 14th and 15th in succession. Olson fittingly finished the Falcons' scoring adding two more free throws as the "big red" swept to their sweetest victory of the season.

Gar Ammerman, the Indians' fine versatile guard, scored 29 points to pace the losers. The loss drops La Crosse to 3-2 in the conference and 7-4 overall, they were tied for second place going into Saturday night's game. The Falcons scored their first Wisconsin State College victory for a 1-5 conference record and 4-8 over-all.

BASKETBALLERS PLAY AT BETHEL SATURDAY

by Ed E. Schlumpf

If the first meeting between Bethel and River Falls this year serves as any indicator, Saturday's non-conference clash at the Minnesota school should be another barn-burner. The 75-73 game won by the Falcons in December was just that, as Jack Omer put on a great defensive show in the final moments.

The Royals are currently leading the comparatively weak Badger-Gopher conference with a 5-0 record while the Falcons are mired in the cellar of the WSCC with 0-5 mark.

Heading the Bethel crew are four men who hit double-figures against the Falcons in that 75-73 loss. Wayne Kendall, Truman Turnquist, Keith King and Terry Bottenfield will team with Les Borne to spearhead the the attack for Coach Jerry Healey.

The surprise performances of Rock Hanson and Tom Everson in last week's St. Cloud game may warrant a few changes in Falcon strategy for the Bethel tilt. Manley Olson's continued improvement, especially in the scoring department, has been one of the bright spots in the recent campaign. Definite starters include Mick Lauber at one forward, Jake Lauber at a guard and Olson. Game time is set for 8 p.m.

St. Cloud Huskies Slash River Falls Cagers 79-74

Lead by small college all-American, Vern Bagenstos, St. Cloud State defeated River Falls in a non-conference tilt here Wednesday, January 21, by a score of 79-74.

Bagenstos collected his fourth foul early in the third period and as a result saw only limited action throughout the remainder of the contest. Nonetheless, the 6' 4" sharpshooter scorched the nets for 24 points.

St. Cloud jumped to an early lead and at the quarter was ahead

19-13. This later proved to be the decisive quarter of the game as the Falcons actually outscored their opponents by one point in the last three quarters of play.

Each team scored 17 points in the second quarter and at the halftime intermission the Falcons were down 36-30. The third quarter was more or less the same story with St. Cloud on top 55-48. Shortly after the beginning of the fourth period, Manley Olson made two free throws and Mick Collins a field goal to close the margin to three points, 55-52. St. Cloud again pushed away, lead by Bagenstos with six straight points, and stretched their lead to ten before the Falcons could score. In the late stages of the final period the Falcons again cut the margin only to have time run out with the final score 79-74 in favor of St. Cloud.

Bagenstos, with 24, was high man on the floor, followed by the Falcon's John Lauber with 21. Manley Olson added 19 and Griff Howell and Mick Collins contributed 14 each to the losing cause.

Jokers, Happy-Jacks Lead I-M Bowling Leagues

The Kingpins blasted their way back into the runner-up spot in the Intramural Bowling "A" League last week, rolling games of 899 and 875 for a rollicking 1774 series. The sweep, paced by Jim Landry's week high 224 and Ed Schlumpf's 213 and 202, ran the Pinsetters record to 11-4.

The Jokers retained their lead, winning two for a 12-3 record. After dropping the first game to the Fireball-5, the league leaders came storming back with a 854 game. The pins will be well used Tuesday night, as the two teams meet with the Jokers enjoying a slim three-pin handicap.

In the "B" League the Happy-Jacks keep rolling on with Jim Kahl doing the pacesetting. The 'Jacks took three from the second place Alley-Sweepers to give them a six-game cushion.

Falcon Fanfare

by Dick Enstad

"From log cabin to crackerbox" might well be the story of the cage career of Falcon pivotman Manley Olson. For Olson, who stands a towering 6 feet, 8 inches, is well acquainted with gymnasiums similar to North Hall's phenomenon, having played prep school basketball at tiny, and since defunct, Maiden Rock High School. Memories of Friday night tussels in the pot-bellied, stove-heated areas of such river towns as Pepin, Nelson, and Cochrane are vivid in Manley's mind.

As a freshman Manley was one of two outstanding prospects on the late Phil Belfiori's squad, the other being Dave Herum who later went on to be a two-year leader in conference scoring. After dropping out a year, Olson returned to school in 1957 but restricted his basketball playing to the intramural ranks, leading the infamous Stag Inn quintet to I-M championship of that year. Another member of this squad was Mike Rice who now is also a member of Don Page's Falcon five.

Manley returned to varsity competition last year and has been seeing heavy duty in the pivot ever since. Last week the husky senior came into his own against very formidable opposition, scoring 20 points against Platteville and 19 against St. Cloud State.

When not on the hardwood, Manley occupies his time in a variety of campus organizations. He is president of the Young Dems as well as a member of the Chess Club, Masquers, and R. Club.

FROSH TEAM WHIPS 3M IN PRELIM 97-53

River Falls' high-scoring freshman squad went on another rampage Wednesday night defeating Minnesota Mining 97-53 with Charley Johnson collecting 24 points. The Frosh put five men in double figures in their quest for the century mark.

The young Falcons led 40-22 at the halftime intermission and increased the lead to 78-45 with 5:20 left. Slim Chelberg scored on two gifters and Jack Jenson hit a bell ringer from his guard position to make it 88-51 with 2:20 left on the clock. Duane Jenson and Jerry Carter matched buckets for a 90-53 lead. Big Charley then scored twice from under the nets and Jack Jenson hit from the outside as the fledglings fell short of their goal 97-53.

Jerry Carter paced the 3M outfit with 15 points. Johnson's 24-point total was backed up by Gene Kikr's 51 and Slim Chelberg added 14, Tom Everson 13 and Jack Jenson 11.
