State Teachers Will Convene For Big Convention

Professor Hunt Is President of Normal Association In Charge of Convention

Many Noted Speakers Will be Present to Take Part In Diversified Program

A state convention of Teachers Colleges faculties will be held at Madison on April 9, 10 and 11 under the auspices of the association of Wisconsin Normal School Teachers of which Senator Hunt of River Falls is president.

An elaborate program has been arranged for the entertainment and instruction of those attending.

On the opening day, Monday, at 6:30 p. m. a banquet will be given in the Crystal Room of the Loraine Hotel. President Max Mason of the University of Chicago will give the principal address of the evening. On the following morning the teachers will meet in the Assembly Chamber of the capitol, where they will receive the welcome address given by State Superintendent, John Callahan and an address on treatment of subject matter by teachers colleges versus that of colleges by Dr. John Keith, State Superintendent in Pennsylvania, who was formerly president of Oshkosh Teachers College.

On Tuesday evening the teachers will be afforded the chance to hear some of the capitol music, after which Miss Zona Gale, noted author, will talk, and a business meeting will be held.

On Wednesday morning the visitors will be treated with some more music and will hear another address by Dr. Keith and also an address by President Glen Frank of Wisconsin.

At other periods of the three-day visit the teachers will have departmental meetings, in which the pedagogues will pursue their own line of work with others who are interested in the same subjects that they are. Miss Hathorn will speak on her Boston Trip; Mr. Hanna will discuss certain needs in the English department, and Mr. Stratton will speak on different phases of geography.

Every teacher of the Teachers College will find a meeting in which his subjects will be the topic of discussion.

Masquerade Dance Once More Billed

On the day following the return of the students from their Easter vacation, there will be held under the auspices of the social committee, a masquerade ball.

A dance of this type has been held many times and has always proved to be very popular with the students. Last year some very elaborate costumes were in evidence, and the competition for the many prizes was unusually keen. Prizes will be given for the best man's costume, for the best woman's, for the best group's and for the most comical costumes.

Elaborate costumes are not necessary, however, any student wearing a mask being eligible to attend. The social committee goes to a great deal of labor to make these dances successful and would like the students to help them.

Mabel Thorp went to Barron Monday to make a personal application for a position there.

Making personal applications is becoming quite a pastime among the Seniors—!

La FOLLETTE SCORES
"STALWARTS" IN PARTY

Urging Wisconsin citizens to elect progressive delegates to the Republican nominating convention in Kansas City this spring and scoring the "stalwarts" as betrayers of a public trust, United States Senator La Follette spoke to a packed auditorium at the State Teachers college last week. The senator discussed such political issues as the McNary-Haugen bill, the Teapot Dome scandal, Muscle Shoals and tariff and transportation problems.

Burke, Davidson and Norseng Will Meet Several Southern College Debate Teams

Western Trip Will be Made by Tom Barry and Bob Smith To Meet Other Schools

Burke

Coach Mitchell and three prominent debaters of River Falls will start on an extended southern debating trip on Saturday, April 8.

John Burke, John Davidson, and Marshall Norseng all have outstanding records in the forensic field in this school. Burke was active in intercollegiate debates in 1925, 1926, and 1928, and once the state oratorical contests in 1926 and 1928.

Davidson has been well known in debating circles since 1926, and has made a creditable record in extempore speaking.

Norseng has debated since 1926, represented River Falls in the state and interstate extempore speech contests in 1928, and won high recognition in the state and interstate oratorical contests in 1927.

With this enviable record back of these three young men, the school is confident that River Falls will be especially well represented in the south.

The questions which are to be debated are: Resolved that the United States should cease to protect by force of arms American property invested in foreign lands except after formal declaration of war; resolved that congress should enact into law the essential features of the McNary-Haugen bill; and resolved that the United States should enter the World Court.

The schedule of the southern trip is: April 10, Blackburn College, Carlinville, Illinois; April 11, State Teachers College, Cape Girardeau, Missouri; April 13, Arkansas College, Batesville, Arkansas; April 16, Texas Christian University, Fort Worth, Texas; April 17, Texas State College for Women and College of Industrial Arts, Denton, Texas; April 18, North Texas State Teachers College, Denton, Texas; April 19, Simmons University, Abilene, Texas; April 20, Abilene Christian College, Abilene, Texas; April 23, Northwestern State Teachers College, Iahlequah, Oklahoma; April 25, Washburn College, Topeka, Kansas; April 26, Carthage College, Carthage, Illinois.

While these young men are debating in the south, River Falls will be represented in the west by Robert Smith and Thomas Barry.

They will debate the question that the United States should cease to protect by force of arms American

H. S. MUSIC CONTEST
HERE APRIL 26-27

Registration of the high schools which will participate in the annual high school music contest at the River Falls State Teacher's College on April 26 and 27 is being completed in ready order according to reports received from Prof. Marvin D. Geere's office. According to Prof. Geere the contest this year will be better than ever because of the keen competition expected among the schools participating. The high school students will have a fine program of entertainment offered them during the spring days they are here.

Texas Debaters Tie With Locals

About 100 townspeople and a few students listened to a very enjoyable debate in the college auditorium last Saturday evening.

The question had to do with the protection of our property in foreign lands. The case for protection was upheld by John Davidson and Marshall Norseng of River Falls while the protection was ably decryed by Mr. Streakley and Mr. Fitzgerald of Abilene, Texas.

The debate was characterized by sparkling humor, keen wit, and forcefulness of direct attack on the part of the four debaters. The gentlemen from the South were very effective speakers, pleasing in manner, and friendly as debaters.

The decision was rendered by the audience. Each person voted before the debate, and after the debate a second ballot was cast. On the first ballot 54 were in favor of the proposition, 20 against, and 20 undecided. After the debate the audience voted 56 in favor, 22 against, and 8 undecided. This gave each side a gain of two votes with a total change of four—thus a tie.

After the debate President Ames, Coach Mitchell, the Texas debaters, and the six home team debaters were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hill at an exquisite dinner.

property invested in foreign lands except after formal declaration of war.

One debate will take place at Moorehead, Minn., and the other at Mayville, North Dakota. Barry and Smith will take the affirmative side of the question in both debates.

The school wishes these debaters the best of luck and know that they will represent the Falls honorably and ably.

"Viv" Vassau went to Spooner Friday to make a personal application, and came back with a contract.

Peg. Fox, Evelyn Riel, and Velma Dunn spent the week end in the cities.

Falls Ties For Third In State Teacher Placing

Mr. Johnston of Training Dept. Talked In Thursday Assembly on Status of Peds.

Gave Illustrations of What Is Expected of Graduate Students When Out Teaching

Mr. R. M. Johnston gave an interesting and enlightening talk before the assembly Thursday morning, March 28.

Mr. Johnston talked about the recommendations which he receives concerning the people who graduated the previous year.

It is surprising to note the changes from year to year concerning the basis upon which teachers are judged. One year principals may object to the disciplinary stand of the teacher; another year a group of teachers are criticized for their lack of general knowledge.

Mr. Johnston very effectively brings before the students every year a realization of what is expected of teachers and upon what standards supervisors judge their teachers. Everyone was very favorably impressed by Mr. Johnston's clever, yet judicious, remarks.

Last year River Falls ranked first in placement of graduates for positions, but this year their ranking is a tie for first place. The number of graduates placed by the various schools of the state when the data was gathered in November is as follows: Whitewater, 91%; Milwaukee, 87%; River Falls, 84%; Platteville, 84%; Superior, 83%; La Crosse, 77%; Stevens Point, 76%, and Oshkosh, 76%.

The calls for teachers for next year is unusually large for this time of year. A large number of students have already signed contracts, or have contracts in their possession to sign if they so desire. Those signed up are: Lillian Clark, primary department at Amery; Josephine Anderson, Moore Montana, (contract unsigned), primary and orchestra; Evelyn Jensen, intermediate dept., Deer Park; Winifred Gilman, intermediate dept., Cochran; Ruby Solum, eighth grade, Cameron; Carl Briggson, principal of grades, Amery, (contract unsigned); Edna Erickson, English and library, Amery; Charlotte Gibbons, eighth grade and library, Woodville; Emma Larson, English and history, Holcomb; Meric Overman, high school, Granton; Robert Smith, high school, Cameron; Vivian Vassau, Spooner; Orwin Rodewald, Prentice, and Curt Wenneberg, Amery.

Operetta Pleases Good Sized Crowd

The training school operetta, "Love Pirates of Hawaii", under the direction of Miss Arnold was held in the college auditorium last Friday evening at eight o'clock before a fairly large crowd.

The elaborate and picturesque costumes of the children participating drew much favorable comment from the crowd. The execution of all the parts was considered by everyone to be of the finest calibre. With such a large cast as there was needed for the program, and to get them through an entire operetta without a slip was considered by all of those present to be an unusually hard task exceptionally done.

Miss Arnold has been working with the members of the cast for a long period of time and satisfied everyone with the type of production that she staged.

HOW ABOUT THIS?

Every once in a while we get together and cheer our heads off for some athletic aggregation of ours and hope that the doing of such will be such an inspiration to them that they will go out and wipe the earth with their opponents, and there is no doubt but that it does help a great deal.

The athletes go out on the field or into the gym five or six days a week, and when they get through they have very little to show for their labor. They enjoy this strenuous exercise no doubt and probably would like to do it whether they were fighting for River Falls or not. Still, however, we realize that they are going to a great deal of inconvenience for the sake of the school. There is no getting around that fact.

For this reason we give to those participating in these athletic activities sweaters as rewards for their work. These sweaters have more than a sentimental value, too. Some of our stars could wear a different sweater every day in the week and still not wear the same one twice during that week. Yet, there is no doubt but what they have earned them.

The athletes, however, are not the only ones who spend a great deal of their time on school activities. There are the debaters who toil hour after hour on a subject, that must become monotonous, just for a couple of debates with other conference teams. They put in an immense amount of time for the little competition that they get out of it, and there is probably no real pleasure in debating without some real competition.

What reward do they get for their work? If there is any, it certainly can't be much for you never hear of it. It would seem that when someone puts in just as much or more time on something for the school than do the athletes that he should receive some kind of token of thanks. The debater gets credit for his work, but the athlete gets that and his sweater, too. Perhaps, the debater does not earn a sweater, but he certainly earns something. What should that something be? If they do not earn a sweater, the next best thing would be to give them an "R". They could buy their own sweater and sew the "R" on, thus showing that they have done something for their school. Is a sweater more than they deserve though? That is a big question.

Some of the students who do not take part in any of these activities, because of inability, (and that is most of the students in the school) some of these people who attain high scholarship, thus raising the standard of the reputation of the college, are of as much benefit to the school as those who are mentioned before. They plug away at their studies, boost the teams of the college, and help out in generally everything but are never conspicuous. These students are really the foundation of the school and still they get no recognition for their endeavors outside of a diploma, showing that they have attended River Falls Teachers College.

Seeing as how we are giving sweaters to the athletes, why not be fair about it and give to some others who have earned a reward, something to show for their work. Why not establish in this school a scholarship "R", to be awarded to all students who receive an average of two honor points for every hour of a subject. It would seem that this would raise standards or averages of the students, thus bettering the reputation of the school. If the awarding of scholarship "R"s would cause the students to aspire to higher marks, and if it would improve the reputation of the school, which is already quite high, it certainly is worth the experiment of finding out. How about this?

WHAT TO DO?

I don't know what to do. That is about as foolish assertion as anyone can make. What does it matter if there aren't any contests to attend; is there nothing to do in this world besides watching a Falls team in action?

At this time of year there are two things to do which can use all of the student's time. The first of course is working and the second, naturally, is enjoying one's self.

Working with the weather so good is hard work in itself. If we can make ourselves study when we would rather be out of doors, we can be proud of ourselves. If we have enough will-power to study when everyone else is having a good time, we need not worry about making a success of our work after we get through with college. It is the person who can stick to a job when every odd is against him who is going to win out finally.

The trouble with school is that it requires so much time that we don't get around to do much of anything else except sleep without slighting our studies or our sleep. There is, however, some time that we can spend on good wholesome pleasure, and at the present time the best place to find that is in the out-of-doors. Nature hands out a permanent invitation to us to come out and enjoy ourselves.

Next Sunday or any time that you think that you have nothing to do, just take a hike out to the park and down the creek, and when you come back you will be refreshed in mind if probably not in body and after a good, solid night's rest you can go back to your work with a greater zest and aptitude. Try nature and her invitation and see for yourself whether or not she can rid you of "nothing-to-do" time.

Alumni Officer Writes To Falls

Of what value to our school is the Alumni Association? Consideration of this question, if you are an Alumnus, should make you a stronger booster for your Alma Mater. If you are an undergraduate, it should make you resolve to give the same hearty support to the school's Alumni Association after graduation, that you are giving to its athletic and debating teams at the present time.

An Alumni Association encourages the growth and success of a school in the same way that rooters on the sidelines at a football game encourage their team on to greater efforts to win a victory for their school. In the years to come, if the River Falls Teachers' College is to occupy the position which we hope it will hold, second to none in Wisconsin, it must have the support of a numerous and active Alumni.

It is through the efforts of the Alumni Association that the efforts of the members of the various graduating classes are united. True, the only public display of activity by our Alumni Association is the annual banquet during Commencement week, but it is working for the old school 365 days in every year. A casual word here, a question answered there, and reputation of River Falls Teachers' College is spread by its Alumni through the state and nation.

With the increased talk throughout the state of abandoning one or more of the state teacher's colleges, the interest of our school must be guarded as never before. The Alumni banquet this spring will give an opportunity for our Alumni to work out a plan of united effort. Let's make the 1928 meeting the largest and peppiest that our Alumni Association has ever known!

—Kenneth S. White, Class of 1916.

Who's everybody's friend? Whose sympathy is always available? Whose smile just naturally creates a genial atmosphere anywhere? It's Mary, of course.

Mary Cotone came to R. F. T. C. from Cumberland, leaving a worthy high school record behind her. During her senior year she was a member of the state championship debate squad and represented the Nema-kogan League at the district oratorical contest. Her editorial work during high school aided much in making her an invaluable member of the Student Voice staff here. She graduated with honors, being salutatorian of her class.

Mary's two years here have been spent in various ways. Her efficiency on the Student Voice staff could hardly be surpassed. She is an active worker both in N. C. A. and G. O. P., presiding as president of the former in 1927 and as treasurer of the latter at present.

Without mention of her accordion, Mary's place in Who's Who would hardly be complete. The strains of that accordion and Mary's beaming face make a combination that will long be remembered in R. F. T. C.

The Question Mark?

Do you believe in ghosts?

Mildred Thomson: Of course—not.

Evelyn Rhiel: If hearing is believing, I certainly do.

Zenas Beers: Of course I do. How else could I account for the unbelievable things I see on a dark night?

Donald Ingli: An' that's a lot of balogna.

Esther Bailey: Sure I do at night—not in the daytime though.

Instructor: "Why don't you sit down?"

Pupil: "I called the old man a liar, and I guess he didn't like the name."

"I tell you, I am right."
"Pardon me, but you are wrong."

"Say, didn't I go to college, stupid?"

"Yes, and came back stupid too."

Baseballites Out For Hard Practise

In spite of the fact that the athletic council cannot finance a baseball team sufficiently it looks as though River Falls will be appropriately represented in the great national game.

Diebold has been conducting practice out of doors for the past week and seems very well satisfied with the material he has to work with. Although there is almost a full team of veterans back it will not be for some time yet before a regular lineup is picked. The old men are being given a hard run for their positions. A tentative schedule has been drawn up for the season as follows:

- April 21, Stout—there
- April 24 St. Olaf there
- April 27 Open
- April 28 Luther—here
- May 5 St. Olaf—here
- May 11 Open
- May 12 Stout—here
- May 18 St. Marys—here
- May 19 Open
- May 25 Open
- May 26 St. Marys—there

Besides the above schedule Diebold is almost certain of getting one game with Stillwater Prison team and another with the U. of M.

Agrifallian

The Agrifallian held its regular Thursday evening meeting in Mr. Prucha's room in North Hall last week. A call was made by President Ford Thurston for all Ag. men to be sure that they get a suitable picture to be used by the Meletean. Afterwards, everyone signed their names showing that they wished to buy an Agrifallian pin. Up to this time the Agrifallian society has had no pin or insigna at any time and steps were taken at the beginning of the year to bring about the securing of pins by each society member.

After the short business meeting Allen Weber, chairman of the program committee, took charge. The first number on the program was a cornet solo by Albert Johnson, who was accompanied by his sister at the piano. Mr. Weber gave a talk on the value of organic matter to the soil, after which Marvin Hanson and Wroe Wolfe sang two simple numbers. They were accompanied by Miss Johnson, who was given a vote of thanks from the club for helping out in the program. Albert Johnson talked upon the necessity of liming in Wisconsin agriculture, and Wroe Wolfe summarized a good soil program by showing the benefits that would be received from the application of phosphorous fertilizers to the soil.

About thirty men turned out for the meeting and seemed to learn a great deal and enjoyed the program very much.

N. C. A.

The N. C. A. met for a very profitable and enjoyable meeting Tuesday evening, March 25.

Irwin Taylor sang two solos, "In the Garden of My Heart" and "Deep River," which were appreciated very much. He was accompanied on the piano by Eleanor Borner.

A reading, "When the Folks is Gone," was effectively given by Lorene Witwen.

A violin solo was played by Virginia Hagg. She played The Rosary very beautifully. She was accompanied by Genievieve Hagg at the piano.

The last part of the program was given over to the discussion, which was led by John Burke. Questions pertaining to the Catholic church were discussed, while John offered much to the worth of the discussions.

Tonight at the N. C. A. meeting part of the discussion will pertain to the work of the church during the Dark Ages. A lively meeting is expected.

Y. M. C. A.

By means of a very impressive service the new Y. M. C. A. cabinet was installed last Tuesday evening. The following men make up the new group of leaders: Lyle Lanphere, Clarence Night, Martin Abrahamson, Zenas Beers, Carl Briggson, Glen Lund, Leroy Luberg, Irwin Taylor, Harold Segerstrom, Clayton Case, Arno Dittbranner, Floyd Miller, Adolph Salquist, Leonard Madison, Philip Merrill, Arthur Warner, Leonard Warner, and Carl Anderson.

Burton Karges, the retiring president, carried out the very impressive installation ceremony and in a short but very touching talk pointed out the good things which he has received from the Y. M. C. A. Foremost among them he named friendship—fellowship, the very foundation stone of the organization. To a large extent the success attained by the "Y" this year is due directly to the inspiration and diligence with which Burton has occupied the position of president.

The "old regime" is in one sense past. To Lyle Lanphere, the newly elected president, and to the other men who make up the "new regime", falls the task of carrying on. Under Lyle's leadership we hope for an even more successful year to come.

G. A. A.

Many important things were brought up at the G. A. A. meeting. The girls were reminded that the time for the annual G. A. A. house party is nearing. Make plans for it now.

Also, kittenball practise will begin soon. The first meeting is called for Tuesday, April 3, at four o'clock in the gym.

The association has started plans for archery. The material necessary is to be bought by the society. Practise will begin as soon as the targets are set up.

The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, April 12.

Dittbrenner, Klein and Warner of the poultry class have been operating two of the incubators. The first hatch came off last Sunday morning about 70%. The other machine is due to hatch on Wednesday. The farm is brooding these chicks with 400 other Leghorns recently purchased.

The animal husbandry class judged some purebred Belgian and Percheron horses on Wednesday, and on next Wednesday they have arranged to judge Shorthorns at Mr. Sherman's.

Word has just been received from Hargrave and Arnold that the dam of K. P. O. P. 27th, the sire purchased by Sherman Farms and the State Teachers College, has completed a world record for butter production of 1154.9 lbs. at 16 years of age. This is a remarkable record for an old cow and further convinces us that 27th was a good choice for a Holstein herd sire.

Joint Meeting Of Y. M., Y. W. Tonight

The Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. are meeting in joint session this evening. The service will be given as a dramatic worship service for the Easter season. A group of about fifteen students have prepared and will present a service which ought to do much to get us into the spirit of Easter.

The theme, "The Light of Life," is presented in two parts. Part One has its setting on the first Easter morning. The three Marys and in their grief over the Crucified Lord furnish the occasion for the first appearance of the Angel of Light—who is the medium giving the message, "He—the Light of Life—is not dead—but lives".

Part Two presents the modern altar. Men are coming to it for comfort and strength and hope—in vain, because the altar fires are cold. In their despair, the Angel of Light again appears. At his suggestion, their faith is revived, the altar fires are made to burn again and hope for the future is born again.

The service is partly symbolic and partly realistic. A quartette and two soloists furnish some beautiful numbers and some organ and piano selections help to enrich the musical background.

This service will be given in the auditorium this evening at seven o'clock.

Teachers Come And Teachers Go, Also!

"Practise teaching is over." The diligent practise teacher leaves North Hall with a feeling akin to sadness, mingled with unbounded joy. Freedom is her's at last. No more classes to preside over. No more lesson plans. But there's a tinge of undefinable sadness in her heart as she thinks over the numerous little events that have helped to break the monotony.

Discipline! What a task it had been! No one could expect just a collegé student to keep check on those wild little people. In the first place, it's almost impossible when the supervisor isn't present, and secondly, her sense of humor was much too great. But could any one blame her for her inability to conceal a smile when young Jimmy replied that he was "thinking", when asked if he had nothing to do? When that mischievous little red-haired fellow in a front seat slyly tied Mary's sash into a knot and then discovered, much to his embarrassment, that Miss..... had witnessed the whole scene, the expression on his face was one of never-to-be-forgotten funniness. It's a wonder that she didn't laugh outright. But thank goodness she didn't more than smile and did that only when the supervisor's attention was busily engaged elsewhere. It was impossible to scold Johnny for whispering when he explained that he was merely telling his little friend what the Sunday school lesson was. So innocent did he seem of any offense that again her sense of humor was pricked. Oh, the joys of attempting to discipline!

The knowledge acquired by a practise teacher is amazing. Perhaps the best of all was to be told that watered stock was "watering cattle on the way to market." Rare opinions and statements were added to the practise teacher's extensive store of knowledge.

Such are a few of the joys of practise teaching.

Haughty Maiden Is April Fooled

"You can't fool me" might have been heard in a boisterous voice from many of our most brilliant students, when they had successfully evaded the first attempt to be April fooled. With all the self-confidence in the world they looked forward to cleverly "cornering" other people; but they, themselves, were, in their own estimation, wholly immune from any such attack.

On walked the boastful personage. There was a sudden shout from the baseball field behind her. She turned her head, only to be met with "April Fool." She reddened slowly and went on past the ball players.

"Look out for that ball" came a shout from one of the players. Of course she jumped. Who wouldn't? And then to be snickeringly told again that it was April Fool's.

It began to try her patience, and she continued to mumble to herself that it wouldn't happen again.

This time she was determined and succeeded in reaching her boarding house without further interruption. But no one was there. Evidently, she was early. Turning slowly around, she began to descend the steps, when a clamorous "April Fool" reached her ears, and a group of hilarious girls presented themselves. She took it good naturedly as a college coed should until she tasted the steaming coffee, that appeared so temptingly delicious. She made a grimace and was about to remark that the beverage was not up to par in taste when "April Fool" again reminded her that she was being made the dupe. She almost lost her temper.

Privacy even in her own room was impaired. Her personal belongings had some how miraculously vanished and were not returned until the unwelcome "April Fool" had again sounded. At the end of the day of trials she crowded into bed almost exhausted only to be called downstairs to answer a fake telephone call.

Finally she was permitted to close her tired eyes; and no doubt her last thought was that on April, at least, her was that on April 1, at least, her mentality was sadly deficient.

Foreign Column is Planned for Voice

When the forensics contest was held at Oskosh on the 17th of, March there was also held a meeting of representatives of all the teachers colleges of Wisconsin to discuss how news of the colleges could best be transferred between the schools so that the news would not be too old when it reached the other schools.

Immediately afterwards there appeared in the Milwaukee weekly a statement of this fact and said that River Falls along with one other school were the only schools that had not responded to the call sent out by the editor of that paper for representatives at Oskosh. The truth of the matter was that River Falls never received any such invitation for such a meeting and naturally, would not attend when the staff of the Student Voice knew nothing about the proposed plans.

However the the other papers are now corresponding with the Student Voice and the staff will be glad to return any news that they feel will be of use to the papers of other schools. With the coming in of timely news from the colleges the staff plans to edit once more a "From Other Schools" column.

Mary Cotone, News Editor of the Student Voice, will handle this column.

Eau Claire To Have New Athletic Field

The Eau Claire finance board has appropriated eight thousand dollars for the purpose of installing a new athletic field to take the place of the old one which they considered to be quite inadequate.

Those who saw the Eau Claire-River Falls football game can fully realize and appreciate what a great boost and benefit to the game at Eau Claire the new gridiron will be. The players played on a field covered by three or four inches of dirt down in a hollow where there was no relief from the sun on what was really an unusually cool afternoon.

With the eight thousand dollars a great deal of improvement will be made. The old field behind the college building will be drained and filled in; a fence, bleachers and a stand and cinder track will be installed.

For a long period of time Eau Claire has been having trouble with their athletic field, but now the problem seems to be permanently settled.

Basketball Letter And Sweater Men Picked

The basketball men of the past team who will receive both sweaters and letters have been selected by the athletic council, who took into consideration the rules that are laid down in regards to the awarding of these emblems of athletic service.

Before any man can receive a sweater in either basketball or in football he must play at least the equivalent of an entire game. The men who meet this requirement in basketball are: Captain Bliss, Harold Segerstrom, William Hunt, Gerald Manion, Norbet Manion, James Landis, Franklin Standish and Clayton Case.

What is a cat doing when he licks his paw and rubs his face? Is he washing his face, or is he washing his feet and wiping them on his face?

You are a problem, fair coed,

And solve you no one can;

A mouse can scare you into fits

But you can bluff a man.
