City Pledges Support to Maintain Skating Rink

Council Appropriates Fifty Dollars To Help Community Rink Fund

ACTION TAKEN IN RESPONSE TO PETITION SIGNED BY SOCIAL COMMITTEE

Ice Is In Good Condition

WARMING SHED IS BEING BUILT IN EAST END OF MACHINE SHED

In a joint meeting of the Student Social Committee and the City Council last Monday evening, the council pledged the co-operation and support of the city in maintaining the ice skating rink which was constructed under the auspices of the Student Social Committee.

City Appropriates Fifty Dollars

An appropriation of fifty dollars by the city plus twenty-five dollars furnished by the school, added to the fund obtained by the Social Committee, will be used in keeping the rink clear of snow, the ice in good condition, and for the construction of warming sheds adjoining the rink.

The action thus taken by the Council is in response to a petition drawn up and circulated by members of the Social Committee. The petition met with favor from citizens and business men throughout the city. Some signatures were secured before the petition was presented to the city council.

Rink In Good Condition

The rink itself is in excellent condition at present. The unceasing efforts of Professor Spriggs, who supervised the construction of the rink, and of "Babe" Wigen, who has been chosen as Student Manager, has resulted in a square expanse, over a square acre in extent, of smooth ice in excellent condition for skating. Several dozens of skaters daily take advantage of the opportunity offered.

Warming Shed Constructed

The east end of the machine shed adjoining the rink is being built over into a warming shed. It is being boarded up, windows are being put in, benches constructed, and a stove is to be moved in. The rink is well lighted. It is planned that the warming shed will be heated three or four nights of each week, although nothing definite has been decided as yet.

As soon as the present preparations are completed, it is planned that an opening night program will be given in which the band will be out in full strength.

Plans are being made to organize some hockey teams. Pull-a-way and other games are, of course, prevailing at present.

A Community Rink

"This is a community rink," explained a member of the Social Committee. "Towns people, Normal students, high school students, children—all the people of the community are welcome to use the rink. Certain hours of the day are to be set aside in which only children are allowed on the rink. The children skaters will be supervised at all times.

The Social Committee is at present formulating a set of rules, such as: restrictions on tag games, group skating, pertaining to use of the warming shed, and others.

The Student Social Committee have expressed their appreciation of the help and co-operation shown by the city council and townspeople in making this rink a success.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Edwardson left Wednesday for New Mexico, where Mr. Edwardson has a position to teach school.

PROF. HATCH ADDED TO FACULTY

Professor E. C. Hatch of St. Louis Park, Minn., has been appointed to a temporary position on the faculty, having charge of courses in Education formerly conducted by Senator Hunt.

Professor Hatch is a graduate of the University of Minnesota, having the A. B. and A. M. degrees from that institution. Until recently he was Superintendent of Schools at St. Louis Park.

Faculty Votes To Enforce Eng. Standards

UNIFORM PENALTY WILL INDUCE CAREFUL USE OF ENGLISH

It is a notable fact that every college and university in the country requires of its students in the freshman year a course in English Composition. If we stop to inquire why such a requirement is made, the answer would probably be that such a course has as its primary purpose the preparation of the student to do adequately his college work. In other words, the course in composition is given for the purpose of preparing the student to do more satisfactorily his work in geography, botany, history and chemistry, as well as in all other subjects where he is obliged to use the English language.

Many faculty members have long recognized the facts as stated above and have required of their students a reasonable degree of accuracy in their use of English. Believing that a greater degree of uniformity in requirement and in penalty would bring about more satisfactory results, the faculty voted at their last meeting to try for the rest of this term a scheme in which each student will be required in all his classes to apply a reasonable standard of minimum essentials in English for which his course in composition has prepared him.

The scheme is a simple one and simply stated. The principal points are as follows: Any piece of written work will be given a grade of point lower than it would otherwise merit if it violates any of the principles of the minimum essentials. That is an "A" will become a "B," "B" will become a "C" and so on.

There are three main points included in the minimum essentials.

1. Adequate structure, which includes adequate organization and adequate sentence structure.
2. A reasonable degree of accuracy in punctuation, spelling and grammar.
3. An observance of proper manuscript form, legibility, neatness, proper endorsement, and proper margins and spacing.

The purpose of this uniform penalty is to induce students to solve their English problems. Students who find themselves too poorly prepared to do creditable work in all their classes will be required to take additional courses in English if they are reported deficient by two or more faculty members.

It is hoped that this requirement will materially affect the level of English usage in the school as a whole.

WILL ROGERS COWBOY DELUXE, SPILLS THE BEANS, OPENS THE FLOOD GATES OF MEMORY, WHEN HE HANDS OUT A COPY OF SCHOOL PAPER.

An out-of-town person, homesick, mabe, or at least with memories of the Falls, writes a letter to the editor of The Student Voice. Here it is: Beside the Bonnie Brier Bush,

Jan. 17, 1927.

To the Editor of the Student Voice—Since I last saw you I have been looking round quite a bit for a place in which to continue my education and incidentally hook up with some organization in which I could give my talents free play. The other day Will Rogers, who used to be some kind of a cow-boy (I don't know whether he was a davenport cow-boy or an ice-cream pusher) handed me a copy of your college paper, and that settled it for me. I'm going to River Falls. I was there once—in fact I was there several times, and now I want to be there again.

You see I am something of a joke. Anyway that it what some people always thought I was—not one of those Scotch jokes Mr. Mitchell talks about, but one of those jokes where everybody buys his own matches and minds his own business. That's me all over, so when I read that ad about wanting some talent for your Meletean Vaudeville I decided to apply. I see that the final selection was made last week, so that ought to give me a chance.

Ads. Are Looked Over

I've been looking over your ads: (Beg pardon, I mean I have been looking your ads. over.) By eracky, I like 'em! Take that, for instance, which says, "Make yourselves entirely at home, and do as you please." I like that one. That's appealing. Or that other one by "G. M. R." Smart, representative of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., and that other one from the company that invented "Total Disability and Double Accidents." Or that one from the Wrecks-all store where "Everyone is in a sanitary individual container." I like those, too. Then I see that the Monument Company says it "Plants at Richland Center and River Falls, Wisconsin." That's tough on guys like me. But I turn the page and read more cheering news, such as "98c Silk Bloomers" (Who wouldn't wear 'em at that price?) and "You may want Peanut Butter Kisses." Want 'em? Man, I'll take 'em whether they are lubricated with peanut

Posters, Slogans, Feature Rural Life Club Campaign

Hold Hot Election Campaign
The Rural Life Club has been holding an animated campaign which terminated in the election Thursday, Jan. 20, at four o'clock.

Campaign posters and slogans have held a prominent position about the Normal during the past two weeks.

The Radical Rural Reformers' ballot is as follows:

President, Elva Van Blaricom.
Vice President, Anna Mondor.
Secretary, Irma Wentland.
Treasurer, Beryl Cornelison.
Chairman Social Committee, Thelma Stayberg.
Chairman of Program Committee, Ruth Fenske.

First Debate Squad Picked By Coach After Two Months Of Drill

AFFIRMATIVE TEAM TO TAKE TOUR FOR PRACTICE DEBATES SOON

Coach Mitchell has picked ten men out of the total number of debaters, who have been competing for places on the first squad. The affirmative team is already composed of Bernard Morton, Marshall Norseng and Robert Smith. Feb. 7, Mr. Mitchell will choose three people from the following group which will make up the negative team: John Davidson, Thomas Barry, Donald Olson, Harold Walton, Burton Karges, Leroy Lumberg and Lewis Troyer.

Affirmative to Tour

The affirmative team will take a trip probably during the week of Feb. 21, to fulfill a schedule of practice debates with Stevens Point, Oshkosh, Lawrence and St. Norbert's college at De Pere. The dates for these debates are rather indefinite as yet.

A practice debate with St. Thomas college has been scheduled for Jan. 29. The contest will be held in Mr. Mitchell's room. Another practice debate with Hamline University will be held in Mr. Mitchell's room; but the date has not been set.

The girls' teams are to make their first appearance versus La Crosse. The date is indefinite.

The conference debates are not definitely settled. At the time of the contests, the Falls negative team will journey to Eau Claire, and the Superior negative team will come here.

Everybody is invited to attend the practice debates which will be held in Mr. Mitchell's room. Watch for the dates!

HENRY KNOLL, '26, SUCCESSFUL AS COACH

Henry Knoll, who graduated from the Ag. course here last year, is having a successful season as basketball coach of Onalaska, (Wis.) High.

Ray Peacock, Sports Editor of the La Crosse Tribune, sends the following letter to the sports editor of "The Student Voice":

Dear Sir:
Henry Knoll, formerly of River Falls, Normal, is coaching the Onalaska, (Wis.) high school team this year and is enjoying a successful season. Onalaska, through Knoll's efforts, is the leading team in the Coulee Conference, and is rated one of the strongest teams in the district, and stands a good chance to enter the state tournament.

Sincerely,
Ray Peacock,
Sports Editor.

COUNSEL FOR THE DEFENSE WITH BETTY COMPSON HERE

The movie show next Monday evening is a brand new type of photoplay entitled "Counsel for the Defense." Betty Compson, star of the "Miracle Man" and the "Pony Express", headlines the cast with a supporting list which includes House Peters, Jay Hunt and Emmet King.

The story, which is taken from a novel by Leroy Scott, is replete with thrills and action beyond anything which its name suggests. It is the tale of a girl lawyer who defends her father in court, and failing to clear him of a crime which he has not committed, wins his freedom and proves his innocence by a series of daring adventures.

A Pathe news-reel completes the program for the evening. The show begins at eight, and the admission is the customary quarter.

Meletean Pre-Sales Campaign Successful

THREE HUNDRED AND FIFTY SUBSCRIPTION PLEDGES SIGNED TUESDAY

The initial sales campaign for the 1927 Meletean, which was made at assembly Tuesday, yielded over three hundred and fifty subscription pledges, which seems to indicate a big year for the annual.

Work on the Meletean is now in full swing. A battery of staff artists and cartoonists engaged in making the feature sections seem confident that the book this year will be the "best ever." According to their reports, the introductory and feature sections are replete with novel and colorful creations of the pen and camera.

The Bureau of Engraving of Minneapolis has the engraving contract again this year, while the McGill Warner company of St. Paul has been awarded the printing of the book.

The resignation of Lawrence Dawson upon his withdrawal from school has placed the business-managership in the hands of Alfred Baker, former assistant business manager. The rest of the staff functions as follows: Sid Scoville, Editor-in-Chief, Bernice Sheldrew, Associate editor, Harriet Beebe, art editor, John Haasch, photographic editor, Arthur Webster, athletic editor, Bessy Moe, feature editor, Irene Berg, organization editor, Evelyn Walker, class editor, and Frances Squires, editor on campus life.

RURAL PRACTICE TEACHERS IN NORMAL TRAINING DEPARTMENT

Since it has not been possible to place all of the Rural teachers in rural practice schools, students have been practicing in the Normal Training Department.

Students in this department will practice half a day for twelve weeks instead of six weeks as in the rural schools.

Those taking practice in the training school are Alice Swenson, Anne Jensen, Marion Austin, Anna Mondor, Ethel Retrum and Harriette Larson.

At the Princess Theatre next Tuesday and Wednesday, Jan. 25 and 26, Mary Pickford in "Sparrows." Also a two reel Collegian "The Fighting Spirit" Matinee Tuesday at 4:00. Two shows each night, first show starting at 7:30. Admission, matinee 20c and 25c; nights, 15c and 35c.

Local Advertisers To Offer Bargains For 'Student Shopping Day'

PLAN WILL BENEFIT BOTH MERCHANTS AND HALF-BROKE STUDENTS

Shops Display 1927 Styles

SPRING AND WINTER GOODS IN WINDOWS CATCH EYE OF SHOPPERS

"Saturday Specials for Students" is becoming a reality as the result of the interest taken by local merchants in the buying needs of students of the city. Each week readers of the Student Voice will find displayed in the advertising column of the Normal weekly a list of special bargains offered students for Saturday only.

Such a service is expected to be mutually beneficial. It will be a money-making opportunity for students; it will give the merchants the chance to again prove their interest in the welfare of half-broke students.

Henceforth, Saturday will be generally considered student "shopping day," and at this time up-to-the-minute merchants will offer their nationally advertised products and latest styles to the juvenile buyers of the community.

Both Parties Benefit

Both parties will benefit: "It ought to work out in good shape, for it certainly has advantages for both parties," one merchant commented. "Gosh! It sure will fit my pocket-book," chuckled one of the students when informed of the plan.

Save Money.

Save Time.

Buy nationally advertised products at cost.

Get acquainted with the merchants.

Become loyal to "home town."

It is expected that the students will take advantage of the opportunity to do some good buying on Saturdays, for it is a benefit of both financial and social worth.

Shops Display 1927 Styles

With the spring season near at hand, local merchants are stocking their shops with the latest in 1927 style and quality. Even at this date the anxious as well as the casual shopper may see displayed in the attractive windows of our city shops all varieties of new styles, colors and materials.

Both student and merchant should look forward to a season of "good shopping." Saturday and "good bargains" should become synonymous terms. A new friendliness should develop between the local merchants and the local student. The community should benefit.

Winter Carnival Planned By Girls' Athletic Assn.

Keep your eyes open for the date. Something new! Something big! Loads of fun!

Plans are being made for a big winter carnival. This is a huge undertaking for one organization. We need the co-operation of the entire student body as well as the townspeople to put it across. Are you willing? Talk it up. If you have any suggestions, the chairman of the events, Esther Long, will be glad to receive them.

There will be good races coming, so haul out the old skates and practice up. Ski jumping for the experts and some bumps for those not so expert. Don't worry! We're taking care of the faculty too—and the boys' organizations. We have a real hair-raising thriller for them, but we musn't tell it all now. Watch the paper next week.

SUPPORT OUR ADVERTISERS

This oft repeated plea is not used merely to fill space. Our advertisers make it possible for us to finance "The Student Voice"; so it is to our mutual benefit that students and faculty patronize first our advertisers. Read the ads. to see what your merchants have to offer and why they advertise it. Watch the Student's Saturday Specials.

GOOD WORK SOCIAL COMMITTEE

The Social Committee has accomplished a splendid feat in getting the skating rink in fine condition. As the rink stands at present, the students are enjoying a fine season of skating. The committee has excellent plans in view. They are thinking of putting in a warming house and also arranging facilities so that the band will be able to appear. The Social Committee has made great strides in its efforts to complete the skating rink in a short length of time. The student body is grateful to the committee for this opportunity to enjoy wholesome, out-of-door exercise.

"GIGGLING GIRLS"

(By Tony)

What is the "giggling girl" going to do when she is confronted with a serious problem? Is she going to giggle? A few days ago I overheard a young man make some scathing remarks in regard to a group of girls who were snickering over nothing in particular. It set me to thinking. The same gentleman said that all girls were giddy-headed and sympathized with each other when these laughing spells overcame them. It plainly shows that that particular young man knows very little about girls. He may know and dislike the girl who giggles, but she is far from the level-headed, sensible girl. However, from my observation in school, I have noticed that the majority of the "giggling vamps" date several times a week. That plainly shows that the men enjoy the society of the girls of this type. Just what justification has this type of nonsense girl to offer for her silliness? I wonder how many men in this institution really appreciate the girl who does her own substantial, individual thinking?

EAU CLAIRE COMMENTS ON THE STUDENT VOICE

Miss A. E. Poirier, Exchange Editor of the staff of the Eau Claire Normal Spectator, made some complimentary remarks in respect to the Student Voice in a recent letter to the editor. Miss Poirier expressed herself as being "too humble to comment on it." She went on further to say, "It even has a Chapin confusion in it. All it lacks is a Dorothy Dix column, and the Weather Reports." Miss Poirier made many other favorable comments concerning the paper. Th Student Voice is glad to exchange publications with as many schools as possible, and is especially interested in the activities and affairs of the other Normal schools in the state.

TOO MANY ACTIVITIES

Too many activities—that was one of the topics under discussion in the meeting of the Christian organizations of the school last Tuesday evening.

Too many activities is not the problem; it is the lack of equalization of responsibility in connection with these activities that presents the problem. There are too few students who are the leaders. A student who shows ability and a willingness to work soon becomes involved in several activities that not only demand all his spare time but also encroach upon the time he should give to his studies. Not only that, but so varied and great are the demands upon his time that in trying to serve in several capacities at once he gives none the full benefit of his ability.

The result is that that particular student is overworked. He cannot do justice to himself, nor to his studies, nor to his outside work. Also, it often happens that because he is recognized as having some ability, he is called upon to do something that could be done as well by any number of students who are not "up to their neck" in work.

It would seem as though some sort of a system could be worked out whereby any one student shall be restricted to not more than two interests outside his school work. Such a scheme would not only insure better work in student activities, but would also tend to divide responsibility and bring out undiscovered talent from the student body.

CHOICE OF NOTABLE BOOKS OF 1925 IS MADE BY A. L. A.

The American Library Association today announced its selection of the 37 outstanding books in 1925, exclusive of fiction or children's books. The list was furnished to, and at the request of the American national committee on international intellectual co-operation of the League of Nations.

This country was entitled to name 40 volumes, but officials of the library association said they preferred to make public an incomplete list instead of a "padded one, about which there could be any question." Division of the list was arbitrarily fixed by the International Institute on Intellectual Co-operation, which will publish a world list of 600 titles. Countries publishing 10,000 or more books annually will be represented by 40 books, and the United States comes under that heading. Samuel Gompers' book "Seventy Years of Life and Labor," was among those chosen in the social science group. The full list is:

- History.
  - 1: C. G. Bowers—"Jefferson and Hamilton." (Houghton.)
  - 2: Edward Channing—"History of the United States Vol. VI—The War for Southern Independence." (Macmillan).
- Social Science.
  - 3: Samuel Gompers—"Seventy Years of Life and Labor." (Dutton.)
  - 4: Hughes Mearns—"Creative Youth." (Doubleday.)
  - 5: Charles Warren—"Congress, the Constitution and the Supreme Court." (Little).
- Religion.
  - 6: Lewis Browne—"Stranger Than Fiction." (Macmillan).
  - 7: Kirshopp Lake—"Religion of Yesterday and Tomorrow." (Houghton.)
  - 8: Ludwig Lewisohn—"Israel." (Boni & Ligeright).
- Philosophy.
  - 9: John Dewey—"Experience and Nature." (Open Court).
  - 10: A. L. Gesell—"The Mental Growth of the Pre-School Child." (Macmillan).
  - 11: George Santayana—"Dialogues in Limbo." (Scribner).
- Belles-Lettres and Art.
  - 12: John A. Brashear—"Autobiography of a Man Who Loved the Stars." (Houghton.)
  - 13: Harvey W. Cushing—"The Life of Sir William Osler," 2 vol. (Oxford).
  - 14: Robinson Jeffers—"Roan Stallion, Tamar and Other Poems." (Boni & Liveright).
  - 15: Wm. E. Leonard—"Two Lives." (Viking).
  - 16: James W. Johnson, Ed.—"Book of American Negro Spirituals." (Viking).
  - 17: Amy Lowell—"John Keats," 2

The Old Home Town

The Home Town contest is well under way. Spooner and Roberts, one near and one far, come into the limelight this week.

Ye Olde Home Town Roberts

Roberts, the best little town in seven states, is a neighbor of River Falls, being twelve miles northeast of the good old college town. Perhaps I should not have called it a town, for it is not even incorporated. People on the Omaha train, stopping at the depot, wonder what has happened to the train for there is not much to enlighten one as to the reason for stopping. However, I maintain that it is a wonderful spot for a railroad water tank.

Roberts has a fine high school building, and the school equipment is excellent for a school in a town of its size. The school is always prominent in local athletic affairs, having teams in all kinds of sports. Two of the teachers, Principal L. Heinsohn and H. Lawrenz are graduates of the River Falls Normal and are proving themselves quite able to handle their jobs.

The most prominent characteristic of Roberts is its pretty girls. Not another town in the country can display such beauty. An excellent example of this is attending Normal now. Her name is Ella Mae Jones. She surely is a big hit socially. Look her over, boys.

Don't forget to look out of the window when the brakemen calls out Roberts, and you may see some more of our pretty damsels.

Contributed.

Spooner

Spooner is situated almost midway between Hudson and Superior. It has a population of a little less than three thousand live-wires who well justify the city motto "We never sleep."

With its score or more of lakes within easy hiking distance, its numerous trout streams, and its virgin forests, it is a veritable sportsman's Utopia. Tourists leaving the vicinity are often too awestruck to comment upon the fishing and hunting and then Spooner loses the advertising that it has due. Nothing but the inherent modesty of the native Spoonerites prevents a few true tales of local fishing from eclipsing such classics as "Paul Bunyan."

The only monopoly that the anti-trust law has not tried to break, is a term often applied to Spooner's monopoly on natural scenery. Verdant forests, placid streams, tumultuous rivers, gently rolling hills, broad valleys all vie for the interest of the passer-by.

The city, with its twenty stores, two banks, five billiard parlors, five churches and many other institutions, is a monument to the untiring efforts and lofty ideals of the Spooner populace.

Consult your road maps. There may be a few roads in the state that do not lead to Spooner.

Spoonerite.

LA CROSSE STUDENTS SHOWN GOOD AND BAD DANCE WAYS

La Crosse—A crusade for better social dancing has been launched at La Crosse Normal school by W. J. Wittich, director of physical education, in an address before the Normal school assembly. A social hour at which seniors in the course in physical education demonstrated "good and bad" manners in dancing the modern dances was held following the assembly.

"Every year dancing teachers hold a national convention and concoct some new dance which is given to the public as the latest thing," Mr. Wittich said. "The teachers are forced to this extreme to draw patronage. The modern dance is based upon mere commercialism."

"We of the Normal school, especially those who are going to teach, should assume the responsibility of fostering good dancing and social behavior," the speaker said. "Ethically, morally and socially, we must choose the best to be wholesome. The modern dances are not wrong in themselves but they are so easily vulgarized that they become unwholesome."
