Bill Wisdom Plays Title Role In 'Hamlet' Scheduled February 22-23

"Hamlet" comes to River Falls February 22 and 23. On those dates it will be presented at 8 p.m. in North Hall auditorium by student actors under the direction of Dr. Blanche Davis. Cast in the title role is Bill Wisdom.

Written by Dr. Francis P. Chisholm, a synopsis of the play follows:

As the play opens, Hamlet (who is crown prince, as we would say, of Denmark) has suspected that his uncle Claudius, now king, has murdered Hamlet's father and usurped the throne. The horror of this situation for Hamlet is intensified by the fact that his mother has married the usurper-murderer, with what to Hamlet seems indecent eagerness and haste. His suspicions are confirmed by the appearance of his father's Ghost (a recognized Elizabethan dramatic convention), who lays upon Hamlet the duty of revenge. At this crisis, the other woman he loves, Ophelia, also falls him, since she does not have the strength to resist family pressure to spy upon him. Hamlet feels terribly alone in his attempt to restore a just situation, and doubts his ability to carry through his vow to the Ghost. In his search for justice, he tests the Ghost's revelation by tricking Claudius into revealing his guilt (the "play within a play" scene).

Hamlet has one clear opportunity to kill Claudius (the prayer scene), but is restrained, he says, because he feels that, under the circumstances, his revenge would be imperfect. This delay gives Claudius a chance to exile Hamlet and plot his death. But, by a combination of good luck and good management, Hamlet succeeds in returning to Denmark. The tangled motives of the

RF Certified For Music Major

Students of music at River Falls will have an opportunity to receive the degree B.S. in Music Education following action of the Board of Regents last week.

Students heretofore have been able to get only a double minor in music. With this they can teach music in the schools on a certificate renewable each year. Under the new system, with a music major, they will receive a license to teach music.

This will mean that students who have obtained music minors here in the past and others with music minors may do work here this summer toward a major. There is a possibility, B. J. Rozehnal, chairman of the music department reported, that some students may be graduated this June with the music major.

In addition to Mr. Rozehnal, other members of the music department are C. B. King, vocal music; Nicholas Jadinak, instrumental music, and Miss Cara Wharton, piano and organ music. With the present arrangement whereby a student in music may get a double minor, there will not need to be a great many courses added for the music department, Mr. Rozehnal said.

The major at River Falls will differ from that at a music conservatory, Mr. Rozehnal said, in that the emphasis here will not be on solo performance.

"River Falls will emphasize the teaching of music and will be able to turn out teachers who can handle the music program in any grade," he said.

Band Concert Slated For February 18

Under the direction of B. J. Rozehnal the River Falls State Teachers College Band will present its Winter Concert Sunday, February 18, at 3 p.m. in the College Auditorium. The program composed of music from Bach to Gershwin is a benefit concert for the Falcon Fieldhouse Fund. Robert Weber, a senior from Viroqua, will be featured as clarinet soloist. The following program is being presented:

The Black Rose—Overture—Lester Brockton
Arioso—J. S. Bach
Sleeping Beauty Waltz—P. I. Tchaikowsky
One Beautiful Day—R. E. Hil-dreth

George Gershwin Selection—D. Bennett

There will be no admission charge. However, a collection will be taken for the Falcon Fieldhouse Fund in accordance with a pledge made three years ago that the band would donate proceeds from one concert a year.

$336.73 Collected In March of Dimes Campaign

Miss Catherine Lieneman, chairman of the "March of Dimes" campaign on campus, reports a total of $336.73 collected in the drive.

Of this amount $101.94 came as receipts from the benefit game, $66.17 came from the training school, and $168.62 was contributed by college students, employees and faculty.

Participants in the River Falls "B" tournament were: First row—Herbert Tauchen, Margaret Helmer, John Muelemans, and Reuben Kaiser.

Debaters Prepare for Eau Claire Tournament February 16 and 17

Competing with 36 schools from eight states, River Falls debaters will participate February 16 and 17 in the Seventh Annual Speech Tournament at Eau Claire State Teachers College.

In addition to four debate rounds, the tournament will include extemporaneous speaking, discussion, oratory, after-dinner speaking and folk-tale relating. Jack Hanson, Dick Vilstrup, Jim Vantatenhove, Ernie Gay, Earl Johnson, Margaret Helmer, Heather Dopkins, Reuben Kaiser and Bill Amundson are entering discussion; Ernie Gay, extemporaneous speaking; Dick Vilstrup, original oration; Jack Hanson, folk-tale telling, and John Muelemans, winner of after-dinner speaking at the River Falls annual "B" tourney, will enter that event at Eau Claire.

Debate teams entering the speech event are Jack Hanson and Ernie Gay, Dick Vilstrup and Jim Vantatenhove, Margaret Helmer and Heather Dopkins, Reuben Kaiser and John Muelemans and the three man team of Bill Amundson, Earl Johnson and Herbert Tauchen.

Teams will argue both affirmatively and negatively on the national collegiate debate topic, "Resolved: That the non-Communist nations form a new international organization." "What should be the responsibility of the federal government to the people of the United States?" will be the discussion topic and extemporaneous topics will be selected from problems of current importance during January and February. The last two events consist of three rounds each.

In addition to the events, highlights of the tourney include a banquet Friday evening with after-dinner finalists competing for top awards, the President's reception at 9 p.m. for speech meet guests, and the final announcement of the awards after the noon luncheon. Trophies will be awarded for first, second, and third place in each individual event and a "Bronze Bull" sweep-stake trophy will be awarded to the school with the highest total individual points.

Judges from River Falls at the tournament will be Walter Engler of the English department, Louis Daniels and Jerome Finn, former campus debaters. On March 1 most of the debate squad will compete in the Northwest Tournament held at St. Thomas college in St. Paul. This also is a major tournament that precedes the nationals, held the latter part of March.

Education Competes with Welfare, Garrison State, President Says

Warning that "education is in competition for financial support with the Welfare State on one hand and the Defense or Garrison State on the other," President E. H. Kleinpell Friday told southern Wisconsin teachers that enemies of education may succeed in "losing it overboard."

Peabody Gives Poem Dramatic Touch

Full permission of the author has assured presentation here February 28 of "The Double Edged Axe" by Robinson Jeffers.

The play, in seven scenes, adapted by Alan Peabody from Jeffers' poem, will have its premiere performance in the North Hall auditorium. Directed by Mr. Peabody, the play has a cast of six.

"The Double Edged Axe" is one of Jeffers' latest poems, having been published in 1948.

Commenting on his choice of this poem, Mr. Peabody said, "I have liked the poem since I first read it. It seems to me it contains a message that is timely."

Expressing some doubt as to the possibility of adapting the poem to dramatic form, Mr. Jeffers wrote from Tor House, in California, giving permission to "do what you can with it."

The cast includes Bill Bittner as the father; Glenn Hansen as the young lover; Paul Radtke, the farmhand; Alan Peabody, the soldier; Mary Jane Haessly, the hired girl, and Marie Ernenputsch, the mother.

Stone Attends Student Teaching Convention

Dr. L. Gordon Stone, chairman of the education division, attended an area convention of the Association for Student Teaching. The convention was held February 9 and 10th at Wayne University in Detroit. Dr. Stone is president of the Wisconsin District of the association.

Tests Start March 1

River Falls students will pre-register Tuesday, February 27, from noon to 5 p.m. for the spring quarter. Fees will be payable Monday or Tuesday, March 5 or 6, with the spring quarter beginning at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning, March 7. Final examinations for the winter quarter are scheduled from 1 p.m. Thursday, March 1, to Tuesday, March 6, at 5 p.m.

Dr. Kleinpell was principal speaker at the annual convention of the Southern Wisconsin Education Association. His subject was "Education for the Present Crisis."

"There is no reason in this time of crisis for suspension of the support of education," Dr. Kleinpell said. "Certainly arms are not an adequate defense. A nation can spend billions for armaments, build atom bomb plants and Maginot lines, but if the morale of its people is not based on understanding, its security is weak. Education is insurance that the human equation will not be unbalanced... The future of free institutions in our world cannot be won solely by military victory. The ultimate aim is to win the minds and hearts of men. Communism and totalitarianism are ideas. Democracy and freedom are ideas. Ideas are not destroyed by guns alone."

Predicting an "unavoidable tendency toward more and more totalitarianism" in the nation, with a concurrent rise of "men and women who like to plan and control the lives of other men," President Kleinpell said, "To some of our citizens the planners might be less objectionable if their attitude was a little less like Chanticleer who thought he caused the sun to rise." "Despite this," he said, "If teachers, and the friends of education will meet the issues, not only of the classroom, but of the crisis of our time, public education will contribute to our survival and it will grow in stature."

Girls Attend Conference At Milwaukee State TC

The C.W.A. conference at Milwaukee State Teachers College February 2 and 3 was attended by Helen Peterson, Susan La-Brashe, Eleanor Thompson, Jean Allie, and Miss Mitchell, C.W.A. advisor.

"Why isn't there more to do in River Falls on week-ends?" "How's come there aren't more parties and dances?"

All of you have heard these questions asked a million times if you've heard them once. Yet, when some class or organization decides to put on a party or dance, nobody comes. That is, according to the percentage of students in school.

Would you call fifty students a good crowd for a college sponsored dance? Well, that was about the extent of the attendance for the junior class Masquerade party last February 2. I realize that the Winter Carnival was the week before and the suitcase students had to get out of River Falls for the week-end, but surely there must have been more than fifty students left in town.

With all the crying about the social life in this school, you'd think that these doings would have more men and women around to see what's going on. The ones that don't go are the ones that do all the crying. Maybe if they'd grace some of the goings-on with their presence, they would see that sometimes there are things going on in school other than the rush after Friday's last class to catch that ride home.

The next time you hear some people griping about the lack of social life in River Falls ask them if they were at the last dance. Find out if they ever stay around on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday. I agree there isn't a blasted lot to do in a small town such as this except sop beer or go to a movie, but the next time something is going on the least we can do is attend. By greater attendance at the activities available, more activities will be offered and more fun will be had by all.

So, the next time you see a sign advertising a dance or party or assembly program, let's get a gang together and go. O.K.?

U.S. Needs More U.S. Senators and Fewer Party Members in Government

by Jack Hanson

"There are too many Democratic and Republican senators and too few United States senators." This statement appeared in a recent publication and is supposed to be humorous. It typifies the dissension in Washington.

The Republicans versus the Democrats is the game of the year. If the Democrats are for something the Republicans are against it. If the Republicans want to remedy a situation one way the Democrats want to do it another way and vice versa.

Partisan politics may have their place, but that place is not in the picture today. Our solons seem to be so shortsighted that they can see no further ahead than yesterday and even then their vision is blurred.

Cutting off one's nose to spite his face is about as good a summing up of today's political policies as one could find.

Taft has been at loggerheads with Acheson for some time and no better reason has been put forth than the fact that they are on opposite sides of the political fence.

Taft condemned the Acheson plan last fall and now is hollering loudest for a unified defense which sounds like a plagiarized version of the Acheson plan.

One camp wants armaments and men in Europe and Asia and they want to tack a "Make the world safe for democracy" slogan on it. Another group wants to do the same thing, but they are "isolationists." And still another group wants to keep the arms in this country in case they need them for squirrel hunting.

You might divide your basketball team for scrimmage but when you meet your arch rivals you all work together. You don't have three men playing man to man and the other two playing zone. You must have teamwork—or you lose.

International politics is no game to be taken jokingly. We have too much to lose. Ben Franklin once said, "United we stand and divided we fall." How can we expect to work with other nations when we can't outline our own goals and agree on programs to meet them?

Solution to World Situation - Keep 'em Talking 'til We Get Ready to Fight

by Ernie Gay

We all know the aftermath of war is never beautiful. The present post war period that the peoples of the world live in is harder to bear than that which followed the first World War, for the destruction and the losses in human lives are more terrible. Famine and poverty have come to stay in many parts of the world. The seeds of suspicion among countries and hatred among men, that were planted in the inter-war period, have grown.

This is the world in which the young United Nations—the idea which was born during and because of the war—had to take its first groping steps.

From the day the United Nations came into being, it was constantly faced with emergencies resulting from events that had happened before it was created. Instead of being able to undertake the gigantic task of building a peaceful world, in the atmosphere of calm and confidence indispensable to long range planning, the U.N. inherited all the conflicting problems which victory did not solve. Cordell Hull, as early as 1943, counted thirty areas of conflict, and this number has since increased. If we add to these all the ideological and economic conflicts, and the unavoidable clashes of temperament between peoples whose nerves have been strained by long years of war, we get a clearer image of the complex situation facing the United Nations.

Although the conflicts existed between all the major powers and many smaller nations, they soon aligned themselves into two divergent groups—Communist vs. Non-Communist. It can be truthfully said that the former forced the U.N. into this position.

By the excessive use of the veto power in the Security Council, boycotts, non-cooperation and | or non-participation in major programs or issues, the Russians have partially succeeded in attaining their goal—the reducing of the U.N. to a mere debating society. They have stopped all disarmament moves, establishment of effective police force, atomic energy control, and large scale economic developments through U.N. agencies. Their last contribution to the U.N. cause is the final testing of any world organization—the stopping of an aggressor with effective power to negotiate the peace terms, both diplomatically and militarily.

While their well-known methods were being employed in the U.N., while they forced the major part of the globe to use parallel methods for economic and military developments like the Atlantic Pact, Marshall Plan, Point-4 program, European Recovery Program, and others; while they continued talking peace to be attained by the Russian method, they were building their military potentials into the strongest armada of strength ever to challenge the free world.

The next few months probably will be the most crucial period ever to face the world since the last major conflict to end all wars and preserve the inherent freedoms of all mankind. It will determine whether or not the United Nations can meet the greatest challenge ever to face the organization—the stopping of one country's endeavors to control the major part of the world by every means of trickery known to man and used all at one time in history. If the U.N. fails in its role of preserving peace, if it fails to enforce the major portion of the world's desires, we can only guess as to how long peace can be maintained.

One ray of hope does exist, best expressed by the words of West Germany's Chancellor Adenauer, "If we can keep the Russians talking, we may be able to stop them from fighting and while we press for time, we may also prepare and maneuver for the fight—if it comes!"

Falcon Figures

by Bob Potosnak

Last Thursday night while figuring out the statistics for the team I thought it might prove interesting to do a little analyzing. I came up with a few facts which might help to explain our current two won, twelve lost record.

As we all know, Rog Kuss is the big scorer on the team; therefore I subtracted his field goals made and field goals attempted from their respective columns and figured the shooting percentage for the remainder of the team. Here is a very significant fact, the shooting percentage dropped from a respectable .328 to a subpar .263, a decided lack of scoring punch from the rest of the squad.

Looking farther over the records I discovered that the starting forwards are hitting on only .260 per cent of their shots and the starting guards on an even lower .238 per cent, or an average of .248 per cent for four members of the starting five. More baskets from medium and long range would have won some of these close games.

Going down to the bottom of the statistics and looking over the totals I discovered the Falcons were shooting only 10 per cent poorer than their opponents, .328 per cent to .338 per cent, and were leading in free throw shooting by seven percentage points. Evidently, then, there must be some other factor besides shooting percentage that accounts for our poor record in the win column.

Here it is in very simple form. I divided the field goals attempted by the number of games played for both the Falcons and their opponents with the result we averaged 64.8 shots per game and our opponents averaged 79.5 shots per game. In other words we shoot just as well as our opponents, but we take an average of 14.7 less shots per game so they have consistently outscored us, game after game.

Falcons Lose 104-92 But Kuss Breaks Record

River Falls' own Roger Kuss hit the buckets with 21 field goals and 10 free throws for a grand total of 52 points to set a new Wisconsin State Teachers College Conference scoring record at the Eau Claire Senior High School gymnasium when the Falcons met the Eau Claire Blugolds February 6.

The efforts of Kuss, who hit on 62% of his shots from the floor, together with good shooting from his teammates were not enough to subdue the hot Eau Claire peds.

The total points for the game, 196, beat any record set in that gym. It also topped a record of 192 set here in River Falls by Nate DeLong and his teammates last year when River Falls was on the long end, 110-82. That time Eau Claire was the victim.

In the closing seconds of the game, Eau Claire fans stood up and took their hats off to the brilliant Kuss as he topped the 50 mark.

Seconds before this they rose to a near panic as Eau Claire's Dick Emanuel dropped in a free throw to place the score at 100-88. Kuss had 48 points at that time.

River Falls was in the game all the way although they led only by a 3-2 score. They trailed by as many as 19 points midway in the second half.

When River Falls' Coach George Schlagenhauf chatted with the Eau Claire mentor, Bill Zorn, after the game, Zorn declared he was worried all the way through. "As long as Kuss was in the game I was worried," he said. He praised the entire River Falls team for terrific ball playing.

Outstanding Eau Claire player was Dick Emanuel, forward, who gained a total of 33 points. He was particularly deadly on his shots from the floor.

The Falcons stayed in the game due to their brilliant free throw shooting of 24 out of 30 or 80%. Eau Claire made 24 charity shots also but they had 35 tries.

Shooting from the floor was sensational on the part of both teams. The Blugolds hit 23 out of 50 tries in the first half but cooled down slightly and ended with a percentage of 40.4 on 99 shots.

The Falcons topped this by hitting 44.2% of 77 tries at the hoops.

Nelson And Resel Take Carnival Alley Tourney

Approximately twenty-five men participated in the Winter Carnival bowling tournament held at the C & S Recreation Saturday morning, January 27.

High series of 503 went to Harlan Nelson with games of 155-163-185. High single went to Glen Resel with a 202. Things were reversed for second place with Resel getting a 500 series and Nelson a 185 single. Third high series went to the chairman of the Winter Carnival, Bennie Greene, with a 468 and third single to Ardell Linnerud with a 175.

Richard Nelson had the distinction of getting both the low single and low series. His scores were 76 and 293.

Auggies Win In Overtime

A spirit that never says die was not quite enough to overcome the height advantage and superior shooting ability of the Augsburg freshman team, as they registered a 73-71 victory over the River Falls freshman cagers in a double overtime played here February 7.

Ray Czech was the outstanding man on the floor as he dribbled and shot his way to a 24 point total for the game. It was the same mighty "mite" who tied the game up 69-69 with a free throw a few seconds before regular play ended.

Trailing in the five minute overtime 71-68 with 45 seconds left to play, the freshman cagers staged another rally in which Ray Czech scored on a drive under the basket and a back-hand flip and Joe Nelson's free throw. Nelson was fouled just as the final whistle blew. With the ease and finesse of a veteran he stepped to the foul line and calmly sank the free throw to knot the score once more at 71-71.

At this stage the two opposing coaches decided to play a sudden death version of completion in which the first team to score two points wins. Augsburg tallied two free throws on two separate occasions while River Falls missed one chance at a basket, thereby, winning a very thrill-packed game that featured fine shooting, and rebounding by both teams.

Falcons Lose 84-78 to Superior; Rog Tallies 45

by Bob Potosnak

River Falls' Falcons are still under the influence of the Christmas season. Last Saturday night they "gave" Superior a 84-78 gift in a Wisconsin Teachers College conference game.

At times Superior had to work for a basket but some of them were made rather easily.

River Falls led in the opening minute of play 2-0 on a layup by Rog Kuss, then the Yellowjacket onslaught began. Derrick Walker and "Doc" West paced Superior in the opening half, running up leads of 10-4 at the five minute mark, 28-22 at 12 minutes 10 seconds, and 51-36 at halftime.

Remarkable shooting by Walker and company enabled Superior to increase their lead throughout the half. The Yellowjackets made 20 out of 31 attempts in the first half for the most amazing shooting percentage ever staged in the River Falls gym. Derrick Walker dumped in 22 of his 27 point total during the Superior first half marathon.

Rog Kuss kept the Falcons in the game with a 24 point total at the halfway mark.

Fine passing and fast, driving basketball by Ray Czech sparked a second half Falcon rally which saw them take the lead at 71-70 with eight minutes left to play. Sam Erickson and Rog Kuss did the scoring while Czech fed the ball to them.

Superior retaliated with a lay-up by Whittier and four consecutive free throws, while the Falcons' Sam Erickson was adding a gift toss to make the count read 76-72, Superior. A jump shot by Kuss and a corner shot by Erickson knotted the game at 76-76 with four minutes left to play.

Loose defensive play by the Falcons enabled Superior to get four quick baskets and sew up the game.

With four men ganged on Kuss the Falcons tried unsuccessfully to work the ball in to him. Superior stalled the final two minutes of play, taking the ball out of bounds every time they received a foul shot due to the Falcons' pressing attack.

Superiors' second half attack didn't match that of the first half but they did end the game with a remarkable .525 shooting percentage on 31 baskets in 59 attempts. Meanwhile the Falcons did their best shooting of the year, making 32 shots out of 70 tries for a .457 shooting percentage. Rog Kuss made 18 baskets in 26 shots to bring his season total to 381 points for a 25.4 average. In the conference Rog has a 32.8 average.

Redskin Coach Lauds DeLong

The following article is an excerpt taken from a column written by the Coach of the Sheboygan Redskins, Kenny Suesens.

"Right now I'd like to talk about one of our fine young players, Nate DeLong, whom I think will develop into a great star in the pro ranks. Nate has a wonderful attitude, toward himself and his team. Since coming to us, he has shown a marked improvement in his ability to move and at the same time retaining his eye for the basket. The time will come when Nate will be capable of playing a fast running game and we can utilize his shooting ability to the utmost.

"In all of his league games, Nate has been averaging better than 9 points per game. You might want to ask, 'What's so sensational about that?' Just remember, Nate seldom sees action in any game for little more than a quarter. So, his 9 points plus per game average takes on just a slightly different tinge when you consider how little he plays."

able apparatus has been arranged. "These supplies," students said, "are of a type which will add a great deal of interest to science classes taught by student teachers."

Next month it is planned to have a mathematics display.

The textbook library is an innovation on campus this year. It was set up by a committee composed of Dr. Manning, Dr. Ray Garnett and Philip Anderson.

Point game, the Falcon freshmen will meet the Amery High School squad. The preliminary game begins at 6:30.

Stevens Point hasn't been doing too well this year and currently ranks sixth in the conference with a two and four record. However, it doesn't pay to underestimate the ability of a foe and Stevens Point will be out to settle a few past accounts. River Falls will have all they can handle if past clashes between these two teams are any indication.

Valentines Need Not Come On February 14 at RF

"Did anyone get a Valentine?" is a familiar question around the campus at the end of each mid-term.

"Valentine" as campus slang for a deficiency started back when Miss Irma Hathorn was Dean of Women. Deficiencies came into her office on St. Valentine's Day. Before she placed the "bad news" in the girls' mailboxes she hurriedly placed a red sticker, the shape of a valentine, on the corner of each envelope. Thus a more favorable name for the deficiencies originated.

Falcons Meet Pointers Here

The Falcons have a tough schedule facing them next weekend when they tangle with Stevens Point Saturday night and unbeaten Whitewater Monday night. Fortunately, both games will be played at home.

University Company To Present Mystery Drama Here This Evening

College students here are promised suspense and chilling excitement at tonight's performance of "Night Must Fall" in North Hall Auditorium. The play will be presented by the University of Minnesota Touring Company.

One of the most thrilling mysteries to come to us from the British stage, Emyln Williams' play has indeed been unusually staged by Dr. Frank M. Whiting, Director of the University Theatre. It is a tale of intrigue, robbery, murder and suspense which makes the average "whodunits" of today seem reasonable and rather mild. A young man who plans the killing of his employer, old Mrs. Bramson, and who through his insane charm makes a young girl fall in love with him, is the leading role which will be played by Leo Hartig.

Many will remember this play when Robert Montgomery starred in the motion picture as Dan. It is a drama of quality which places it way above the average thriller and audiences are promised "an exquisite evening of quiet alarm."

Sigma Sees Hepburn

Members and advisors of Sigma Chi Sigma attended the stage comedy, "As You Like It," starring Kathryn Hepburn, at the St. Paul Auditorium last Friday evening. They left by car at 4:30 and had dinner before attending the theatre.

Juniors' Dance Had Poor Attendance

On the night of February 2 the junior class held its Masquerade Dance. Although it was poorly attended, it opened possibilities for more and bigger of the same.

Prizes for costumes were presented to the most original, the funniest, and the best couple. A prize was also presented to the chaperones. For the most original, Janice Wurtz; for the funniest, Cy Kaster; for the best couple, Jack Quinnell and Evelyn Geraets.

Music was furnished by the Sky Riders and a large assortment of records. The Sky Riders entertained for about an hour. Pop and cup cakes were served for refreshments.

The North Hall gym was simply but interestingly decorated with all shapes and sizes of balloons. The main attraction at the end of the party was to see who could get the biggest and best balloon for his partner. Asked if they minded if the balloons were taken, the committee said, "No, it saves us the trouble of cleaning up the place."

This picture, taken two hours after the Masquerade Dance had begun Friday evening, January 2, is dedicated to those students, suitcase and otherwise, who complain of the social life at RF being nil but refuse to take part in that which is provided.

Lucky Ticket Holder To Reign Over Formal
