Governor Zimmerman Calls For Recess Session of Legislature To Discuss Appropriation Bill

Long Looked for Measure Drawn up by Joint Committee on State Finances is to be Voted on by Legislators at Special Meeting January Twenty-fourth

Governor Zimmerman has issued call for a special legislative session January 24th. A number of important items are listed in the call, including an appropriation bill for institutions under the charge of the State Board of Control, and the normal school appropriation bill.

It will be recalled that the normal school appropriation bill passed at the regular session of the legislature was vetoed by Governor Zimmerman near the close of the session last summer. The reason given by the Governor for his veto was that the bill carried larger appropriations for new buildings than his judgment approved. An amendment to the bill was made by the legislature which provided for new buildings at Oshkosh, Milwaukee, La Crosse, Superior and Platteville. As a result of the veto, no appropriation bill was passed. The schools have been running on what are known as "continuing appropriations" up until the present time. The continuing appropriations provided only for operation accounts. Nothing under capital or maintenance, except unexpended balances, have been available. The continuing appropriations under operation are inadequate to carry the schools to the end of the year.

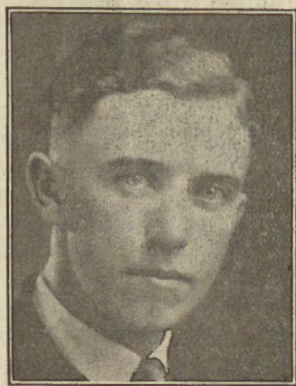

The appropriation bill which has been drawn by the Joint Finance Committee for the special session, makes provision for the several schools under miscellaneous capital, maintenance and operation. The bill, in these respects, is almost identical with that vetoed by the Governor. It is expected that if the bill goes through the legislature as now prepared, it will receive the Governor's approval, inasmuch as the major building items referred to above, have not been included in the bill. It is not anticipated that the bill will be amended in the legislature to include such buildings.

The capital appropriation for the River Falls Teacher's College provides for the remodeling in North Hall necessary to connect up properly with the new addition. It includes the appropriation for lockers, window shades, and the new equipment for the training school addition. There is also included in this item, funds for laboratory equipment for science and agriculture. A considerable amount of remodeling in South Hall, in order to provide social rooms and locker rooms, is also included in the proposed appropriations. The general equipment of the school, including reference and text books, will be taken care of.

It is hoped that the bill will be put through the legislature in such shape as to receive the Governor's approval so that funds will be available in the immediate future in order to meet the necessary needs of the schools.

"Our Orator"

John Burke

John Burke Repeats Former Victory in Oratorical Contest

"Patriots of Peace" Is Title of Oration Delivered by "The Irish" Orator

John Burke, giving "Patriots of Peace", won first place. Second place was awarded John Davison, who delivered "Receding Democracy".

The other two orators were Donald Olson, who gave "The Inequalities of War", and Thomas Barry, with "The Recognition of Russia".

Probably one of the best, if not the best, assembly programs was given last Thursday morning, January 11, when the orators competed for first honors, the winner of which would represent the school.

These four young men showed unusual ability in the field of oratory. In fact the contest was so close that even the judge had a hard time deciding.

Professor Cochran, forensic coach at Carleton College, was the judge. However, the students were given an opportunity to vote. The student vote coincided with Professor Cochran's division.

Mr. Burke will represent the River Falls State Teacher's College at Oshkosh, March 16. The school has much confidence in Jack and knows that he will do his best.

The Beldenville Community Club, with their play, "Thursday Evening" carried off first honors at the County Drama Contest Finals which were held at the College auditorium Friday evening, and incidentally, earned the right to represent Pierce County at the State Drama Contest to be held in Madison sometime in February.

In the final contest between South Fork and Beldenville Community Clubs, the players of "Thursday Evening" triumphed over the aggregation who presented as their offering, "The Florist Shop".

Community Clubs From Twenty- Two Sections and Leaders of 4-H Clubs Meet in Auditorium

Many of State's Prominent Leaders Are Present To Take Part In Instruction of Rural Leaders-To-Be in Series of Interesting Two-Day School Session

The Rural Leadership School held in this school last Friday and Saturday under the direction of the extension service of this state, proved to be a success with twenty-two rural clubs represented.

County Agent, H. G. Seyforth, of Pierce county took charge of the two-day program drawn up by very capable leaders from the Agricultural Extension Bureau of Wisconsin for the instruction of rural club leaders.

The director, J. H. Kolb, gave instructions on debating. Mrs. H. P. Greeley led the singing in the opening exercises and had charge of the recreation periods, in addition to her classes in recreation and music. Miss Stillman, from the Economics Department, held classes in home economics. Mr. McNeal, Superintendent of the Boys' and Girls' Club Work, held some very interesting discussions for those interested in that kind of work. A. F. Wilden, another of our friends from Madison, gave some very helpful suggestions in the organization and planning of clubs and meetings, and how to keep them going after once started.

From these twenty-two different community clubs and 4-H clubs of Pierce and St. Croix counties, there were about forty delegates present. Besides these were a number of Ag-students who attended some of the meetings.

Dinner was served both days at the Gladstone Hotel.

The instructions received from this very capable group of leaders are going to make our rural communities bigger and better place to live in.

PROF. GEERE URGES SONG CONTRIBUTIONS

Because Prof. Geere has not as yet received any contributions to the song writing contest, he urges all those with school spirit to contribute at once.

The purpose of the contest is to find a song with dignity and school spirit which can be used at any time. The winner's name will always be used whenever the song is printed.

Large Crowd Attends Basketball Pep Fest

Football Sweaters Awarded To 1927 Gridiron Squad

The first mass meeting of the basketball season showed the team that the student body is behind it every inch of the way. The football sweaters were awarded to the 1927 squad by Mr. Ames.

Prof. Junkman was the principal speaker of the evening. He proved to the frosh and others who hadn't heard him speak before, that he knows something about basketball and can deliver a good peppy talk. The other talks by Ariel Towers and Miss Chapman, also, showed the team that the school is supporting it. Captain Bliss made a short snappy speech.

A stunt put on by the Agrifallians gave the student body a few side lights on some of the troubles that the team encountered while on their holiday practice trip.

The rest of the period was given over to the presentation of the sweaters to the football team by President Ames.

President Ames mentioned some special incident in the career of each man or told of their general ability and the kind of game they played when he presented the sweaters.

Four men received sweaters having three stripes on them. They are:

Captain Wennerberg
Earl Weber
Leonard Collins
Oren Rodewald

These are the men who have played their last games for the Red and White.

The others that received sweaters are:

Cochran Entertains Falls Student Body

Noted Carleton Reader Scores Big Hit With Students

For the fifth time in as many years Professor Cochran, head of the forensics department of Carleton College honored and delighted the students and townspeople of River Falls with a reading program in a special assembly called for the purpose last Thursday afternoon.

At no time during the school year has any person received the hearty welcome of the student body, except at a mass meeting, that this noted reader was awarded. His reputation, known to the old students, had preceded him so that every freshman and many of the citizens of the town were eagerly awaiting him.

Upon being introduced to his audience he expressed his delight upon being once more able to judge the oratorical contest and to give his readings before the student body.

The program that he had prepared differed from last year's one-act play in that he offered several selections.

The first numbers on his program were readings of poems. The first group of three poems written by J. Whitcomb Riley was composed of two pathetic poems entitled "Out to Old Aunt Mary's" and "There, Little Girl, Don't Cry" and a humorous poem entitled "Tradin' Joe," which kept the audience engulfed in laughter throughout.

His next rendition of "Burlesque of an Old New England Debating Society" brought out to the nth degree the unusual ability of Mr. Cochran as an impersonator. The students doubled up in their merriment when he imitated a man stuttering.

"The Highwayman" was the title of his next poem. Not a sound was heard in the auditorium during the delivery, but a tremendous applause was awarded him upon its completion.

Mr. Cochran next gave three prose readings entitled "The Parson's Horse Race," by Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe, "Gap Seeds," and a selection from "Ben Hur" by Wallace. The last reading, "Ben Hur," was delivered in such a realistic style that one student said after an ovation had been given for Mr. Cochran, "Boy, those horses were going, weren't they?"

Mr. Cochran's program was sponsored by the Student Social Committee.

Rugh Departs After Series of Lectures

Campus Speaker Brought by Y. M. Takes Leave of School

By B. A. J.

Arthur Rugh has come and gone. He spent three days with us on the campus and they were days of rich experience for us. He delivered four public addresses in the auditorium and spent the rest of his time in interviews with individual students and smaller groups. The Men's Union room was assigned to him as his headquarters and many students found their way to this room during these three wonderful days.

Mr. Rugh's message in the main rang out with three great challenges. First, he inspired us with a fresh vision of the possibilities of religious experience and a vital, motivating, ever-present consciousness of God; secondly, he opened our eyes to some of the phases of the present world situation and pointed out some of our responsibilities and opportunities in connection with that; thirdly, he gave at least some of us a new appreciation of the value of an intelligently conducted Bible study.

Perhaps the most unforgettable feature about his message was Arthur Rugh, himself. One could not meet that man without being overwhelmed by his enthusiasm and frankness and sincerity and kindness and radiant Christian personality. He repeatedly said during these days with us that he was conscious of being with friends here. It could not have been other wise when one came in contact with Arthur Rugh. His love of children was a delight to see. He even admitted that for him the biggest event one day here was meeting Mary Louise, who is five years old. In being invited to take his noon meal in one home, his main

Coach Diebold Here Assumes New Duties

University Man Returns After Joining Team at Game

President Ames announced at the Thursday assembly that he had secured the services of Marshall Diebold as basketball coach.

Marshall Diebold played basketball at the University of Wisconsin during the years of '23 '24, and '25. Besides winning three letters in basketball, he also won his "W" in baseball.

When Mr. Diebold was at Wisconsin, he played on the conference championship team of '23. During the seasons of '24 and '25 he was the unanimous choice as all conference guard.

Mr. Diebold was at present attending the University of Wisconsin, taking post graduate work. At the same time he was assisting Coach Walter Meanwell. Coach Diebold joined the victorious Red and White basketballers at La Crosse and returned with them.

Many students attended the Wisconsin-Minnesota game Saturday.
