Anderson Play, 'Elizabeth the Queen' To Be Presented January 28, 29, 30

Maxwell Anderson's play, Elizabeth the Queen, under the direction of Dr. Blanche Davis, will be seen in the Little Theatre on Jan. 28, 29, and 30.

In the play centering around a tragic pair, Mr. Anderson portrays the craftiness of the Queen (Carol Nalberg) pitted against the outspoken frankness of Lord Essex (Mike Dodge).

Lord Cecil, a court politician (Jerry Johnson), is a conspirator against Essex, along with Sir Walter Raleigh, Sir Francis Bacon, and Lord Burghley. Sir Walter, who hates and envies Lord Essex, is played by Mike Fleming. Bill Hagestad plays the part of Sir Francis Bacon, a former friend of Essex's, who has joined the court politicians in an attempt to get Essex out of power. Lord Burghley is played by Bill Clark.

Although he is unsuccessful in his attempts, the Fool is a pathetic little man who tries to save Essex by warning him of his danger. The Fool is played by Al Phillips.

Penelope Gray (Delores Anderson) is in love with Essex and also tries to warn him.

The desire for power of Essex and the Queen is ever rising to thwart the great love they bear for each other, only to end by Essex going to the block leaving Elizabeth a saddened old woman.

Mr. Anderson shows the historical background of England in

Snow Activities at Ski-Mac To Highlight Winter Carnival

Highlight of this year's annual Winter Carnival will be the snow-fun activities on Friday, Jan. 20, at Ski-Mac resort from 1 to 5 p.m. Reserved especially for River Falls outdoor enthusiasts, the afternoon is filled with features for the skier or non-skier.

The slopes will be open free of charge for tobogganing and skiing and the price of rental fees for skis, boots, and poles has been reduced for this day. The chalet will be open for the entire afternoon for observers. Under consideration is a snowman building contest for mixed couples, depending on whether Ol' Man Winter provides snow for the weekend. Ski races for beginners and experienced skiers are also tentatively planned.

Following the outdoor activities, a supper consisting of barbecues, hot dogs, potato chips, and beverage will be served at the chalet from 5:30 to 7 p.m. An informal record dance in ski or outdoor clothes will entertain Carnival-goers until midnight.

If there is enough interest among students to warrant renting a bus, the Winter Carnival Chairwomen will plan to arrange bus transportation.

Registration for the beard growing contest took place today from 8 to 4 p.m. Beards will be judged at the FFA Talent Show on Thursday, Feb. 19. Prizes will be awarded for the heaviest, most unusual, and longest beards.

Organizations who wish to sponsor booths for the midway to be on Saturday afternoon, Jan. 21, must sign up on the Winter Carnival Bulletin Board by Wednesday, Feb. 11. Each booth must be okayed by one of the three chairwomen — Phyllis Anderson, Carol Korsmo or Gwen Schlough. This will eliminate duplication and also assure the committee that a certain number of booths will be in operation at the midway.

In addition to the beard judging, the FFA Talent Show will feature the coronation of the king, and the appearance of some well-known entertainer.

A card and chess tournament, sponsored by the Chess Club, will begin Friday, Jan. 20, and continue on until Saturday. In addition, the North Hall pool will be

Four Faculty Members Give Viewson 'Alumnus'

The subject of the "alumnus," what he is and what he can do, was related this morning by four River Falls faculty members.

Speaking on the "Loyalty of an Alumnus," Dr. Edward Peterson of the social science department told the all-school assembly that an alumnus is one whose loyalty to an institution does not stop the moment the president hands him a diploma. "His interest in education is not limited by what education can do for him personally," he said.

"The true alumnus," Dr. Peterson said, "is one who sees all his college memories as the life-sustaining embodiments of an ideal worth believing in."

What will be going on at River Falls in 1970 was revealed by Wayne Wolfe of the journalism department. In making his prophesies, Mr. Wolfe said that in 1970 the enrollment should be pushing 2500, that we will be watching games in the new gymnasium, that many of us will have returned to the campus again as students, to work on Master's degrees, and that students who are good college material, but who lack financial resources, will have many opportunities for scholarships and loans at River Falls.

Mr. Wolfe also said that there is an if involved in this rosy picture of the future and that the if hinges on the activities of the alumni. "If you believe that the education you got at college was worthwhile — if you're willing to take time to let others know you believe in education — if you're willing to see that your state government spends half as much for education as it does for highways, then the picture I have drawn for River Falls is not overly optimistic."

Miss Marion Hawkins of the English department told students of the various important contributions made by alumni to educational institutions. Getting down to specifics, Miss Hawkins related to the audience the history of the foundation her at River Falls.

Defining an alumnus, Dr. B. H. Kettelkamp, chairman of the biology department, told the assembly that it is generally thought that four years of college automatically makes an alumnus. "An alumnus is one who has been fostered by the faculty for four years. The only thing we ask in return is that the alumnus give evidence of his appreciation of this fostering and feeding process with his loyalty and love," he said.

Dr. Kettelkamp said that four years in college brings about a great metamorphosis in a student — often not realized for many years. "It takes a bull frog only three years," he said, "but the additional year is worth it."

Rodney Madison Wins $50 Ag Scholarship

Rodney Madison, freshman from Chetek, has been awarded a $50 agricultural scholarship.

The award was made by the Barron County Farm Bureau as they wish to encourage farm youths to stay in agriculture or its affiliated fields. Mr. Madison is majoring in agriculture in the college.

RF Girl Rates 'Superior' In 'B' Debate Tournament

Judith Harmon, freshman from Clear Lake, was one of nine superior debaters at the annual River Falls "B" Debate Tourney Saturday, Jan. 17.

Miss Harmon was the only woman awarded a superior debate rating. The nine debaters were chosen on the basis of individual speaker ratings and each received a copy of Aristotle's Rhetorics and Poetics.

The remaining eight superior debaters were Stan Esterly of Macalester College, John Lambers of the University of Minnesota, James Gruba of St. John's University, Denis Nutzling of St. John's University, Don Rex of Wisconsin State College at Oshkosh, Tom Mennenga of College of St. Thomas, Jack MacNamara of Wisconsin State College at Eau Claire, and Robert Mouthel of St. Olaf College.

A total of 120 students from 15 colleges participated in the tournament, one of the largest on the River Falls campus. The 28 teams debated the question "Resolved: That nuclear weapon tests be banned by international agreement."

Three colleges with 7-1 records tied for first place in the tournament. They were Macalester College of St. Paul, Minn., Northwestern Bible Institute of Minneapolis, Minn., and St. Olaf College of Northfield, Minn. Tied for fourth place with 6-2 records were St. John's University of Collegeville, Minn., and College of St. Thomas of St. Paul, Minn.

The River Falls squad won 9 of their 16 debates. Students debating were Jean McMillan, Anita Munson, John Rice, Tom Hinke, Roger Schaller, Carol Jennings, Judith Harmon and Judith Gilbertson.

First place in the after dinner speaking contest went to Clyde Thomas of Bethel College in St. Paul. Harry Munn of Wisconsin State College at Eau Claire and Roxanne Beihl of Macalester College in St. Paul placed second and third respectively. Topic of the speeches was The New Congress.

The Editor Speaks . . .

Dr. Francis Chisholm, speaking to debaters who attended the annual River Falls 'B' Debate Tournament last Saturday, saw the art of communication as a vital factor in solving world problems.

The national debate topic for this year is "Resolved: That nuclear weapon tests be banned by international agreement." In referring to this, Dr. Chisholm remarked that the United States is doing quite well in its scientific research and technological advancements, but that in the realm of communication, the country is not doing so well. He commended the debaters, as we do, for participating in an activity of this sort, which is certainly good practice in communication. Talking about world problems such as this will be of benefit to these students as individuals as well as to the world.

A debate is not an argument nor a game. It involves conceiving an idea, pursuing it through research and finally expressing it clearly and logically. Through their work with this topic, these student debaters will gain a deeper insight into this current world problem. They will investigate it not only from what it means in terms of politics, but also from a medical standpoint.

GAD BOOKS!

by William Hagestad

HAGESTAD

— A Salute to T. S. E. —
Those of us who heard Archibald McLeish speak at the University of Minnesota in November will recall a reference he made to T. S. Eliot, a poet like himself. Mr. Eliot, said Mr. McLeish, had spoken two years before on the same subject he himself proposed to discuss, and that Mr. Eliot had then all but retreated from it.

Mr. MacLeish was referring to Eliot's lecture, "The Frontiers of Criticism," in which, according to Mr. MacLeish, he skirted around the hard problem of the difference between poetry and journalism, seemed unwilling to discuss it, and instead contented himself with being clever and witty. This sort of talk about Mr. Eliot is a cliché and a tradition; often, when his name is mentioned, visions of a bitter, obscure and tedious man and conjured up, and people shrug and frown in annoyance. This is especially true of Americans for a number of reasons, the most prominent being the fact that Mr. Eliot was born in America, left this country when he was about 40-years-old and became a British citizen.

The man's personality is indeed a rather crusty one; he himself recognizes this, and has put the whole thing down in a bit of doggerel verse:

How unpleasant to meet Mr. Eliot!
With his features of clerical cut,
And his brow so grim
And his mouth so prim
And his conversation so nicely
Restricted to What Precisely
And If and Perhaps and But.
How unpleasant to meet Mr. Eliot!

T. S. Eliot got his "bad" reputation (along with his fame as a poet and critic) during the twenties. In this period he looked with great pessimism at the world and where he thought it was going. "The Hollow Men," one of Eliot's poems of the twenties, carries a rather startling prediction of the imminent doom of an approaching faithless age:

This is the way the world ends,
Not with a bang but a whimper.

Many people were behaving that way then: Ezra Pound, Wyndham Lewis, and even George Bernard Shaw (in Back to Methuselah) said similar things. T. S. Eliot's "bad" reputation probably consists in his having said these things too well. He comes out of the twenties a clever but darkling prophet of doom.

Now this has become sort of a legend: T. S. Eliot, the unpleasant, difficult literary critic who likes to be clever and pessimistic. It seems the legend has covered him up, for there is a great deal more to T. S. Eliot than this. He was 70-years-old about 3 months ago; this, and the occasion of the opening of his latest play, "The Elder Statesman," in Edinburgh, have inspired some reflections on him that are quite unlike those which Mr. MacLeish made last month. These reveal another side of Eliot's character, and they have a great deal to recommend him. Few people know this "other T. S. Eliot."

In recent years there has arisen a theory of children's literature which says pure silliness is as repulsive to children as it is to anyone else. A perfectly silly child's book is as much an insult to his intelligence as it is to an adult's. Some sort of intelligent plan must be behind the writing of children's books, and this must be put down in an intriguing and even difficult manner.

Writing for the amusement of the children of some of his friends, T. S. Eliot embodied the precepts of this idea (without intending overmuch to do so) in an entirely delightful book, Old Possum's Book of Practical Cats. In it, a bevy of impossible felines are described; of these, the best of all is the matchless Macavity.

MACAVITY'S A MYSTERY CAT;
he's called the Hidden Paw —
For he's the master criminal who can defy the law.
He's the bafflement of Scotland Yard, the flying squad's despair;
For when they reach the scene of crime —
MACAVITY'S NOT THERE!

Obviously, this rather contradicts the tradition mentioned above. And in a book newly issued in his honor, T. S. Eliot: A Symposium for His Seventieth Birthday, edited by Neville Braybrooke, ample testimony is given on his unfoiling courtesy in public and private life.

Writing in The Milwaukee Journal, Leslie Cross says T. S. Eliot is always ready to help bolster the sagging subscription list of a struggling literary magazine with a poem or article; and, in the production of his play, he is not at all adverse to rewrite. Creating quite a stir in not only the literary world but in the social world as well, T. S. Eliot last year married his secretary, a 31-year-old Yorkshire woman. In this regard, a friend of Eliot's is quoted (interestingly): "He's got this mad thing about love now . . ."

Student Senate Minutes

January 12, 1959

The meeting was called to order by President Clarence Dulek. After the secretary's report was approved as read, the treasurer reported balances of $903.85 in the Student Senate account, $525.32 in the vending machine account and $51.47 in the River Falls account.

Members of the Winter Carnival Committee presented the schedule of activities for the big winter weekend. They noted that forms for sponsorship of king candidates may be obtained from the Deans' Office. Ski Mac at Somerset has definitely been reserved for use by the College Friday afternoon and evening, Feb. 20.

Ed Pronchinske was elected to join Pat Lind and Chuck Norelius on the Board of Governors for the new Student Union.

Weather providing, the skating rink will be constructed this week on the tennis courts.

President Dulek noted that the Budget Committee will meet during the spring quarter. It is expected that approximately $750 of unallofted reserve funds will be available at that time.

A television set permanently tuned to the educational TV channel will be installed in the visual aids room in the library soon.

Unless those eating lunch in the Knotty Pine Room leave the room clean and in order, it will be closed all during the day except for special meetings.

Curt Larson, Arnie Kaluzny and Patty Ross were named to a committee to investigate the possibility of setting up Wednesday evenings as dress-up night in the cafeteria.

The Senate voted to pay Dorothy Braun to fill the vending machines in Hathorn Hall.

Advisory Council Answers Needs Of R F Students

by Jim Laue

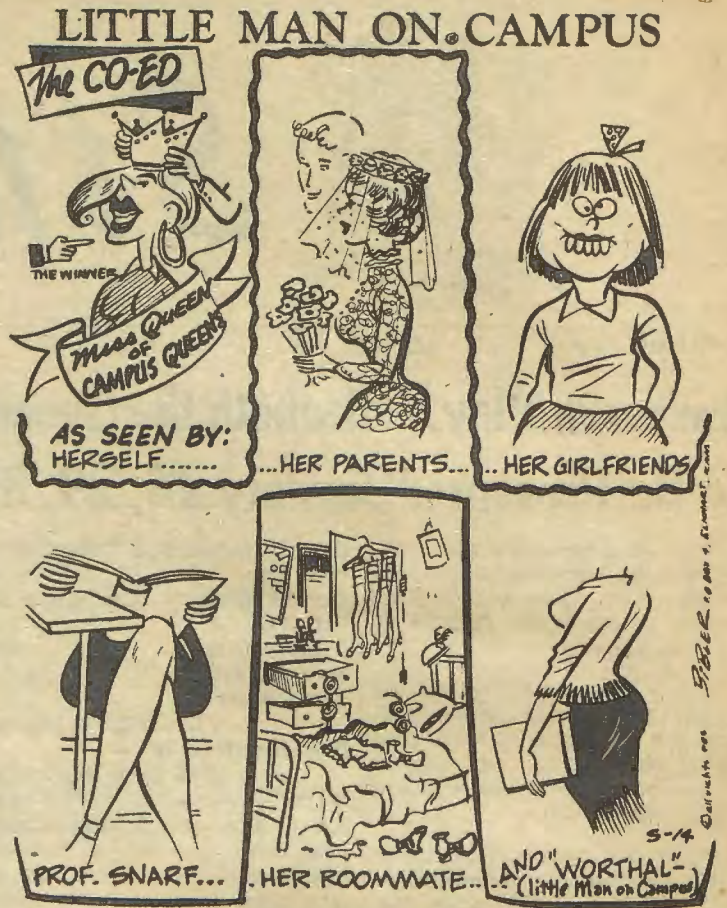

"The most important organization on campus" will meet this Thursday at 10 a.m. in 121 South.

This organization, given the title by the Student Senate and Deans, is SAC — the Student Advisory Council. It deserves the honor as the most vital group on campus, they say, because through it every student in school may present his views to the Student Senate via representatives of the various campus classes, clubs and societies.

This main purpose — to bring the needs of the students to the student governing body — is a necessity for the appropriate functioning of the Student Senate, according to Senate President Clarence Dulek, who also presides over SAC meetings. "Without gaining a clear picture of the students' needs, criticisms, complaints and suggestions," President Dulek concludes, "the Senate can do little more than function in a vacuum."

In recent meetings, the Student Senators have discussed the feasibility of having such campus organization select a representative to SAC other than the president, who usually represents his club at SAC. It is generally felt by the Senate that such an elected representative would have more time of fathom the ideas among the members of his group. The Senior Class has taken the lead in this move, last week selecting Larry Peterson to represent the class at SAC.

Further discussion of this plan, as well as organization of Winter Carnival activities and other business, will take place at the meeting Thursday.

Trip to TV Station Brings Home Ties to Hawaiian Girl

A field trip to the WCCO television studios in Minneapolis brought a closer tie with home and a better understanding of "communications" for Hawaiian student Marcella "Marcy" Campos. The studio visit was made on Thursday, Jan. 15, by Dr. Engler's Communications 12 class as part of a study of the mass media.

Marcy was interviewed by Randy Merriman on his daily 30 minute "Randy Merriman Show." After filling out a guest card she was chosen to appear on the program. "I was scared," commented Marcy. "I had never been on TV before." During the interview Mr. Merriman took Marcy's home address and phone number. He is leaving March 1 for a trip to her home country and will visit her family.

For her part in the program Marcy received a compact and perfume. As winner of the program's guest card drawing for a door prize, Carol Wenner, freshman from Rice Lake, received an orchid. Joan Gilbertson, freshman from Barron, participated in the program after being chosen to guess the contents of a mystery box. She failed to come up with the correct answer.

"He is one of the best informed persons on the problems of disarmament and world peace in the country," said John Mecartney, secretary-treasurer of the Committee on Human Survival. Rev. Mecartney has known Dr. Sibley for over 10 years. "All who are interested in the full implications of the world negotiations and what the United States can do for peace will find this presentation stimulating," he said.

Her topic "Looking Toward Marriage," will include references to some of the problems causing the most difficulty before marriage—dating, the engagement, the "right" partner.

Wednesday night's panel will discuss the problems often encountered during the first year of marriage. Speaking from the viewpoint of their professional experiences will be Jack Davison, River Falls attorney; Dr. F. O. Grassl, physician; Rev. Ramon Runkel, associate pastor at the Lutheran House of Worship, and Rev. Joseph Higgins, pastor at St. Bridget's Catholic church. The program will begin at 7 p.m.

Noted Composer, Conductor, Critic To Visit College for Convocation

Nicholas Slonimsky, noted musicologist, will speak at an all-school assembly on Tuesday, Feb. 3, at 10 a.m. in North Hall Auditorium.

Mr. Slonimsky was once described by a critic as "a one-man conservatory—he plays the music, he writes it, he lectures on it, and he conducts it."

Born in Russia, Mr. Slonimsky studied at the St. Petersburg Conservatory. He soon developed his own system of composition, based on an ingenious theory, but resulting in products entirely pleasing to the ear. As a conductor he led major European and American orchestras in programs of modern American music.

An author, he has published a number of books on various subjects such as Music Since 1900, The Road to Music, and Music of Latin America.

Among his musical compositions is an orchestra piece entitled My Toy Balloon, which includes a hundred colored balloons to be exploded at the final climax.

Mr. Slonimsky is editor-in-chief of the International Encyclopedia of Music and Musicians and also of the Fifth Edition of Baker's Biographical Dictionary of Musicians. In 1958 he was appointed a member of the Advisory Editorial Board of the Encyclopedia Britannica.

WISCONSIN EDUCATION FORWARD

"Danny has an I.Q. of 119," boasts a proud parent, seated at a bridge table.

Equally proud parents of youngsters with lower I.Q.'s are shamed into silence but a mother whose offspring has a "121" lays down her cards, smiles smugly, and prepares to put Danny, his 119, and his boastful parent in their proper place.

Strange indeed is the American respect for a number. Once assigned, it can be added to others and divided by groups. The statistician can determine the average I.Q. of a group and can "place" a child in his relative position nationally.

If one child has an I.Q. of 140 and two other children have I.Q.'s of 80 each, the group has an average of 100 — it is an average group nationally and should be able to handle average work. If an average teacher presents average length lessons from an average textbook, surprisingly, one child is bored and two children may fall miserably.

On the basis of number someone will predict either success or failure for Danny. No one may bother to tell Danny or his parents that the prediction is only a little more accurate than flipping a coin. As the result of a mathematical formula, it is trusted.

A statistician can determine how long it will take Danny to dig his way to China if he hits bottom in the school sandbox in 15 seconds. A thoughtful parent may wonder how to motivate Danny into a subterranean trip to the Orient — or even how to make him wash his ears.

Out On A Limb

by Dick Enstad

Eau Claire's Bugolds seem to be headed for another season characterized by streaks of brilliance sandwiched between spells of also-ran-ness. The Zornmen were crushed by St. Thomas in holiday play only to bounce back against Macalester and return home to drop a good Lincoln University five. Lincoln, incidentally, turned around and drubbed Stevens Point the following evening. In their last two outings, the Bugolds lost a 94-84 decision to St. Cloud State and a 76-72 encounter with St. Norberts.

In the process of this boom-to-bust cycle, Bill Born has been under fire for his choice of starters. There have been rumblings among the student body over his reluctance to go along with sophomore standouts Jim Bade of Cochrane and Dick Bautch of Alma. Instead Zorn has started two veteran cagers and former Eau Claire Senior High stars, Duff Erickson and Jet Johnson, along with his other regular trio of Al Urness, Len Van De Hay, and John Wenzel. Whether Zorn will have quelled the rebellion or not, we will see when the Falcons travel to Bugoldland on February 7.

Ivan Grim, Carleton's hope for national scoring honors, bounced back after two mediocre nights against Augsburg and River Falls to score 23 points against Cornell Friday night and 33 against Coe on Saturday night.

Coaches Don Page and Einar Anderson of the Auggies used a sagging man-to-man defense to stop the big boy, but it now looks like he will burst into the headlines in the relatively weak Midwest Conference.

Jake Lauber, freshman guard, scoring at 17.1 per game rate is leading the Falcons scoring departments. Jake, in seven games has rifled the nets with 120 points. Mick Lauber has combined 40 field goals and 19 free throws for 99 points, to give the Lauber brothers a monopoly on the scoring honors.

Percentage-wise from the field, Mick Collins has hit on 21 of his 51 attempts from his forward spot for a 41.2 percentage. Guard Bob Brunette is hitting at a 38.6 clip, sinking 17 of 44 field goal attempts.

Sophomore Mick Collins is also topping the percentage figures from the free throw line, missing only 2 of 12 attempts and Jake Lauber has a fine record hitting on 46 of 57 gift attempts.

The backboard statistics show Manley Olson grabbing 76 and Mick Lauber 74.

In compiling their 3-5 record, prior to the weekend's road trip, the "big red" are averaging 66.9 points a game in contrast to the opposition's 68.5 average. The Falcons average 31 points the first half and 36 in the final 20 minutes.

Hitting only 199 buckets in 596 attempts, Coach Page's boys have a low 33.4 percentage. The consistency from the foul line is a very respectable 68.1 per cent. Listed below are team statistics for the first eight games.

High Rated Foes Threaten Falcons This Week at R F

A high-scoring non-conference foe and a title-contending league team will furnish the opposition in two home games for Don Page's RFSC Falcons this week. St. Cloud will be here Wednesday for the non-loop tilt and La Crosse comes to town Saturday for a conference game.

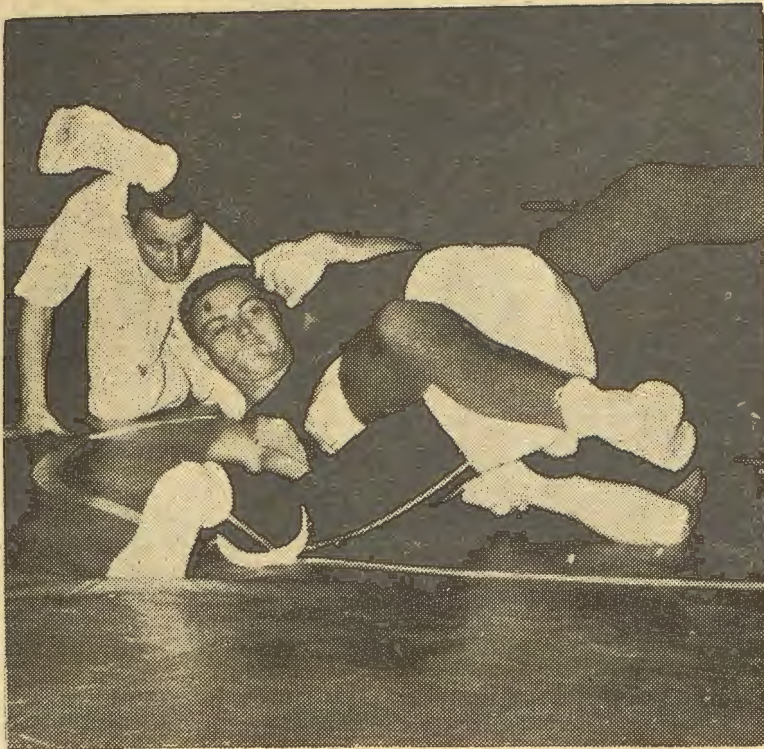

Little All-American Vern Beggenstoss will head a powerful St. Cloud quint which invades North Hall gym Wednesday. The big 6'4" forward was one of the leading rebounders in the nation last year and has plagued the Falcons with his scoring, as well, for the last two seasons. The Falcons split with the Minnesota school last season losing at St. Cloud and winning in a game played at the Amery High School gym.

Game time will again be 8 p.m. with the Falcon Frosh meeting the Minnesota Mining team in a 6:15 p.m. preliminary.

Something that has bothered the Falcons all season, namely high-scoring guards, will lead the La Crosse crew in Saturday's game. Gary Parker and Gar Ammerman, two little deadeyes from the field, have been quite successful thus far in offsetting the Indians' lack of height. Height usually comes in quite handy in the small North Hall gym as the Indians found out last year in losing 70-67. River Falls snared 63 rebounds in that game while the Indians grabbed only 38.

Excluding this past weekend's activity (La Crosse met Stevens Point and Whitewater), the Indians are undefeated in conference play. They dropped Eau Claire and Superior while the Falcons have lost to both clubs and Stout besides.

Due to recent changes a definite starting five cannot be named. It is anticipated however that Coach Page will use as much height as possible in both games this week. That would probably mean 6'8" Manley Olson at center, Griff Howell and Mick Lauber at the forwards, and Bob Brunette and John Lauber at the guards. Fran Polsfoot's Freshman squad meets the River Falls city team in the preliminary event at 6:15 p.m.

ND State Topples Matmen; Meet Stevens Point Next

Piling up points in the lighter weight divisions, North Dakota State defeated the Falcon wrestling team 19-13 Saturday afternoon. The Bisons made good use of a distinct height advantage to race off a 11-0 dead before Pat Mrotek got a first period pin in the 147 weight class.

Jim Drummy gave the grapplers their second fall of the matches, nailing Jim Heising to the mat at 0:40 of the third period. The well-matched pair battled to a scoreless tie through the first two 3-minute sessions.

The Falcons picked up their final points on a 4-3 decision by Larry Julien over Larry Roehl. The one exhibition contest found North Dakota State's Ron Remillong gaining a 5-1 decision over the Falcon's Bob Brett.

The matmen will travel to Stevens Point Feb. 7 and then will play host to Carleton College on Feb. 10, starting time 7:30 p.m.

Titans, Pioneers Win; Cagers Winless in WSC

Oshkosh State, taking advantage of the Falcon's nine-point third quarter, finished strong in the second half to hand River Falls their fourth straight conference loss, 90-71. The Titans held a 39-32 lead at half time, but midway through the final 20 minute period they increased it to 55-41 and from there on in coasted to their first WSC win.

Balanced scoring was the key to the victory as Oshkosh placed five men in double figures being paced by Lee Never, 6-6 freshman, with 15 points. Don Nelson and Howie Collins each collected 13, Jim Letenberger added 12 and Darryl Kaufman 10. John Lauber continued with his accuracy from the foul line as he sank eight straight to lead the Falcons' scoring with 16 points, Mick Collins and Mick Lauber scored 14 and 10 respectively.

Friday and Saturday's invasion of the Southern Division's colleges by River Falls, Superior, Stout, Eau Claire and La Crosse furnished no surprises as they could only salvage two wins in nine games. Friday night's action, besides the Oshkosh-RF tilt, saw Platteville whipping Superior 74-62, Stevens Point turning back La Crosse 68-54 and Whitewater competing the sweep with a victory over Stout 71-65.

La Crosse got some revenge Saturday night by suppressing Whitewater's bid for a contending spot, 77-64. Oshkosh had the wind taken out of their sails, also, with Eau Claire squeaking out a 73-69 victory.

After the weekend's big schedule, Platteville still remains on top with an unblemished 5-0 record and La Crosse, University of Wisconsin at Milwaukee and Eau Claire are sporting 3-1 records. The Falcons have a 0-5 record in conference play and 3-7 overall record.

JOKERS, H-J RETAIN I-M BOWLING LEADS

Leading teams in both Intramural Bowling leagues came through with sweeps in last week's competition to retain their leads.

The Jokers, pacesetters in the "A" League, rolled a fine 1685 team series to run their record to 11-1 and retained their one-game advantage over the Free Loafers and Greenwoodites. Jack Woodbury rolled a 390 series for the league-leaders and took the top spot in Individual Averages with a 176 per game average.

In "B" League action the Happy Jacks were handed a break by winning their sweep on a forfeiture. The Jacks increased their lead as Filkins dropped to third place losing three to the Pinky Panthers on the strength of the handicap. The Alley Sweepers managed to salvage the first game against the Lakers for a second place 8-4 record.

The Individual Average leadership changed hands in the "B" League also as Jim Kahl (Happy Jacks) won the title. (Continued on Page 6)

Hitting an unbeatable 70 per cent rate from the field the first half, the Platteville Pioneers, defending WSCC cage champions, swamped the Falcons Saturday night 96-61. The Pioneers sank 23 of 33 field goal attempts and 12 of 13 attempts from the foul line to grasp an unsurmountable 58-27 half-time lead.

The Falcons held the Southern Division powerhouse to a 13-10 lead before the "shooting gallery" opened. Switching from a man-to-man defense to various zone defenses the "big red" still was unable to stop Coach John Barth's scoring machine which is averaging 85 points a game for five conference victories.

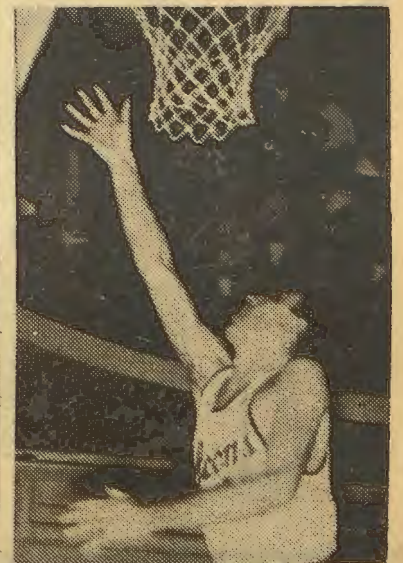

Platteville placed all five starters in double digits with senior forward Schroeder setting the pace with 26 points. Guard Tom Davis added 17, Jerry Kruschke 15, and Milt Bakken and Don Gruber each scored 14 points. Manley Olson was high for the Falcons with 20 and Mick Lauber and Bob Brunette had 13 and 11 points respectively.

Falcon Fanfare

Sportswriters say that an athlete who excels in some particular sport at any level of competition will be a valuable asset to the team. This axiom can be applied to the Falcon's 6'3" senior, Griff Howell.

GRIFF HOWELL

Since the fine showing of Manley Olson as center, Griff has shown his versatility by successfully moving to a forward position. His height has proved to be of value under the bucket.

As a starter for the frosh squad during his first year at River Falls, he is remembered for pouring through 33 points in one preliminary tilt. Looking over other past records, the Waukesha player swished 34 out of 84 shots in his sophomore year, giving him a 40 per cent shooting average from the field. His third year of college brought him a total of 316 points for a 15.8 average to lead the team in scoring. (Continued on Page 6)

Commenting on his college ball days Griff said, "I think playing with a fine group of fellows has been the biggest thrill."

He has also participated in intramural football and softball. A chemistry major, with math and psychology as minors, he plans to teach, then follow psychology in graduate school. On campus he is active as Wesley president, a member of the R Club, and he has worked on the Student Voice and Meletean staffs.

GAD BOOKS—

All of this is not intended to detract from what now stands as the real accomplishment of T. S. Eliot. If men can be said to have contributed to the sanity of this present age, he must be counted among them. It is now becoming clear that we all have good reason to distrust and be cynical about this civilization; twice in this century it has attempted to destroy itself. The voices of poets like Pound, Dylan Thomas, and Eliot have done much to make people believe in themselves and their societies again. This has not been the endeavor of a dilettante or clever cynic, which is the implication of the old tradition surrounding Eliot; rather, it has been the work of a man passionately convinced of the sanctity and inviolability of the human spirit. For this, most certainly, is T. S. Eliot too. He is indeed a clever and sometimes cynical man, but this is not all here is to him; he is quite as human and as involved in things as anyone.

Bees Lead I-M Basketball 'A' League

Dominating both offensive and defensive backboards, the Bumble Bees established themselves as the "team to beat" in the intramural basketball "A" League by decisively beating the previously undefeated Court Martials. The victory enabled the 'Bees to run their own unblemished record to 4-0. The Court Martials dropped to a second-place deadlock with Emma's Boys both sporting 3-1 records.

The Burlies continued to pace the "B" League with a 4-0 record. The Rounders occupy the runner-up spot with a 3-1 record. The first place tie in the "C" League is broken also as the Scholars have raced off to a 4-0 mark.

Games next week are scheduled on Monday and Thursday only as the gym will be used for the Foundation Week Auction Tuesday night and Wednesday night the St. Cloud Huskies will be in town to face the cage team.
